CITY MAY SEEK CHARTER CHANGE

BELLBOY HERE GETS BEACH BOYS' TOGS

By Ruby Jean Phillips

VIRGINIA BEACH — Melvin Harris, a bellboy at the Thunderbird Motor Lodge, has a tiger by the tail, so to speak. He has fallen heir to an article of clothing that could well cause a riot among local teen-agers.

The article is a pair of reversible terry cloth bath kilts inadvertently left in the motel room by a departing member of the Beach Boys, the famous rock-and-roll group who appeared at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center in two WGH concerts Saturday night.

The room was occupied by Carl Wilson, a name that undoubtedly means more to the younger set than our adult readers, and Harris assumes the kilts belonged to that particular Beach Boy. Each of the five members had separate rooms.

School Blaze Here Fails To Halt Classes

VIRGINIA BEACH — Students of Country Day School for Girls thought for a while their holiday vacation might be extended after a Saturday night fire severely damaged the school building at 3603 Atlantic Ave.

But classes resumed on schedule Monday morning in the First Presbyterian Church.

The fire of undetermined origin apparently started in the living room of the main building, spread to two offices and then blazed up a stairway to the second floor. Two connecting buildings of the school complex suffered heavy smoke and heat damage.

Local Man Dies By Hanging

THALIA — Cranley A. Power, 50, of 3860 Thalia Drive was found hanged on a tree in a wooded area near the parking lot of the Lynnhaven Fishing Pier late Thursday afternoon.

His car was found in the parking lot. Detectives said a message, "In the Woods," and an arrow pointing to the woods were scratched in the soil.

He was the husband of Mrs. Kathleen W. Hayes Power and a son of the late Timothy and Mrs. Ethel Perry Power. A life-long resident of Tidewater, he was a member of Park Place Methodist Church and the service manager of Perry Buick Co., Norfolk.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Cranley A. Power Jr. of Virginia Beach, and two brothers, Melvin Power of Chicago and Aubrey Power of Richmond.

A funeral service will be held at H. D. Oliver Funeral Apartments, Norfolk, at 2 p.m. Saturday. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

CITY LOSES UTILITY SUIT

NORFOLK — Kempville Utilities Co. has won its fight against Virginia Beach to keep from signing an agreement that would mean giving up its sewage treatment facilities in the future.

Judge Walter E. Hoffman ruled in U.S. District Court here Thursday that Virginia Beach officials had acted improperly in stopping work on a plant expansion to force the company to sign.

If the company had signed the agreement, it would have had to give up its plant, serving three residential subdivisions near Kempville, as soon as the Hampton Roads Sanitation District is ready to offer sewer services in the area.

When the company refused to sign, the city posted stop work orders in the current plant expansion, and the company turned to the federal court for an injunction.

Work has continued on the plant under a temporary restraining order, and an order for an injunction is now being prepared that will allow the construction to be completed without further interference.

BIRDNECK LEAGUE MEETS THURSDAY

BIRDNECK POINT — The annual meeting of the Birdneck Point Community League will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club.

A report on progress and a summary of the present situation will precede the election of new officers.

Nominated to serve the coming year are Capt. (ret.) C. B. Arrington for president, W. R. Huck for vice president, G. B. Deal for secretary, and J. C. Bradburne for treasurer. The Directors proposed are Capt. (ret.) J. A. Eady, Arthur Perego, James E. Lee, and Col. J. W. Viner (ex-officio).

Annual dues of $5 per family will be accepted by the treasurer at the meeting.

FLYER SEARCH ENDS

OCEANA — The search for the navy flyers involved in the crash of a Navy plane near Chesapeake lightship last week was called off at dusk New Year's Eve with the recovery of a few pieces of wreckage identified as parts of the F4B Phantom II jet fighter interceptor, the Navy has presumed the men perished.

Bids Asked On Rte. 64

RICHMOND — Bids on that section of Interstate 64 which runs through Norfolk and Virginia Beach are expected to go to the contractors within the next six months, according to the State Highway Department.

This will be just one of 30 projects in Virginia's arterial highway system tentatively scheduled to come up for bids. They will be called on Jan. 6, Feb. 3, Mar. 3 and 31, April 28 and May 26. Bids will be opened for the same advertisements on Feb. 17, Mar. 10 and 31, May 5, June 2 and July 7.

Interstate 64 will enter the Virginia Beach city limits from the south across the Chesapeake city line just southwest of Centerville Turnpike, extend north across Indian River Road through Avalon Hills, will cross Providence Road and enter the Norfolk city limits at the Elizabeth River.

Shore Drive Motor Lodge Get Assist

BAYSIDE — The 100-unit Hornes Motor Lodge at Shore Drive and the bridge-tunnel approach road, long delayed by lack of sewage connections, is expected to mushroom into being now that the Navy has offered part of its Little Creek Amphibious Base sewage treatment plant for temporary civilian use.

Bayside Councilman Larry Marshall said Monday that the plant will take care of about 400,000 gallons of sewage daily and this capacity will be used mostly for commercial development in Bayside.

Marshall said the Navy has also donated a land site in Bayside to the Hampton Roads Sanitation District Commission for the erection of a larger sewage treatment plant to serve the residential areas.

Approval for use of the Navy facility came last week from Navy Secretary Paul H. Nitze.

Commercial development along the bridge-tunnel route has been stymied since the span opened by lack of sewage connections. The Navy's generosity came as "wonderful news," Marshall said.

Customers Are Asked To Help

VIRGINIA BEACH — Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr. today appealed to postal customers on rural routes to help their rural carriers make mail deliveries during bad winter weather.

The Virginia Beach post office has five rural routes, covering a large portion of the Southern area of Virginia Beach.

Mr. Crosswhite said that at the same time he hopes all authorities concerned with rural routes where snow and other bad weather hampers the carriers will continue to cooperate to help the mailmen get through.

The Postmaster listed these points of particular concern:

1. Approaches to rural mail boxes must be kept open by customers.

2. Obstructions to delivery of mail on rural routes should be removed or minimized to the fullest extent possible.

Where rural boxes pose a problem, the carrier may leave form 4056, "Your Mailbox Needs Attention," a notice to keep both approaches clear by promptly removing all obstructions, including snow, which may make mail delivery difficult or impossible.

Unless approaches are cleared, it may be necessary to temporarily withhold delivery of mail, the Postmaster pointed out.

Rural carriers are not required to perform service on foot when roads cannot be traveled with the vehicles normally used, but they are expected to make every reasonable effort to serve as many of their patrons as possible without physical exertion or added financial cost, he explained.

Council Vote Might Result If Approved

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach delegates P. B. White and William P. Kellam, apparently with the support of city council, announced Saturday they plan to ask the 1966 General Assembly to change the city charter so that council may be reappointed before 1967.

This latest development in the city's reapportionment battle came on the heels of a second suit filed by four residents seeking a forced redistricting.

The second suit was filed last Tuesday in U.S. District Court by Del. Henry E. Howell Jr. on behalf of J. E. Clayton Davis and Cornelius D. Scully of Lynnhaven Borough, Roland D. Winter of Bayside and Howard N. Martin of Kempville.

It asks for a 3-judge federal court to force the city to redistrict on the basis that the existing apportionment denies equal protection guaranteed by the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

A similar suit was filed earlier by the same plaintiffs in the State Supreme Court of Appeals but was dismissed. Defendants in both suits were the city's 11 councilmen, members of the electoral board, the city treasurer and the commissioner of revenue.

White and Kellam said in their statement:

"The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia in its recent opinion on the question of the representation of the Council of the City of Virginia Beach pointed out that the state legislature has provided in the city charter provisions for a method of reapportioning councilmanic representation."

"We have conferred with several members of the council and they have pointed out to us that the merger of the two political subdivisions has progressed beyond their expectations, and they feel that a change in the representation should take place and be effective for the next councilmanic election."

"For that reason, if we are members of the General Assembly at its next session, we will, by and with the consent of the council, offer an amendment to

Whether or not council would be made up of one representative from each of the seven boroughs or be elected at-large would apparently be determined by council itself.

Although a few councilmen have said they favor allowing the voters to decide the system of representation, most of them seem to prefer a seven-man council with one from each borough.

Zida Speaks To Gardeners

POINT O' WOODS — Zida of the Nautilus Gift Shop was the guest speaker at the recent Christmas coffee of the Point O' Woods Garden Club hosted by Mrs. J. A. Ralph.

The holiday theme was carried out with a small green Christmas tree decorated with colorful ornaments and surrounded by red candles. Members exchanged gifts and were served freshly baked cookies.

"The Legend of the Sand Dollar" was presented by Zida, and she pointed out that the Keyhole Urchin, better known as the Sand Dollar is found on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. It is a small round flat sea shell which tells of the birth and death of Jesus. Each one has four nail holes and a fifth one made by a Roman's spear. The Christmas poinsettia, etched on one side reminds us of His Birthday; on the other side is the Easter Lily; and the center is a Star. When the center is broken open, "five white doves" are released to spread good will and peace.

Colgate 100, an oral antiseptic for breath control and germs that kills mouth odor instantly, is the most modern solution to a problem that has worried people for centuries. Undoubtedly, mouthwash was used much earlier, but the first recorded use was by Roman actors, gargling before performances to project their voices properly, not only when one considers a Roman amphitheater and the distance between actors and audiences. Two thousand years later, Lord Chesterfield, that famous arbiter of mores and manners, wrote his son, "I hope you take great care of your mouth and teeth and that you clean them every morning with... cold water, with a few drops of arquesade water dropped into it." Today, the Colgate-Palmolive Company has perfected a mouthwash that is a decided improvement on Chesterfield's arquesade water; Colgate 100 which has an exclusive formula containing benzethonium chloride, a powerful antiseptic compound that kills germs and mouth odor instantly. It is said to give the breath feel clean even after eating, drinking and smoking.

This is but one more effect on the part of Oceana to provide full and adequate sports recreational facilities for Navy men and their families.

Muskrat Furs Top Selling

RICHMOND — A total of 351,029 furs and hides were purchased from hunters and trappers in Virginia during the 1963-64 fiscal year, according to fur dealers' reports submitted to the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

Muskrat pelts accounted for 275,359 of this total followed by 36,098 raccoon pelts and 13,322 deer hides. Other segments of the total fur harvest included 7,314 opossum pelts, 5,041 mink, 4,901 beaver, 4,134 skunk and 1,942 fox pelts.

The fur take even included 1,237 nutria pelts from the Back Bay Area where these undesirable animals have become established. A total of 63 dealers reported handling Virginia hides and furs at the wholesale or retail level during the year.

Robert Bray, Corey Stuart on "Lassie," has worked in the Northwest as a lumberjack and cownpuncher.

October Fish Catch Good

WEEMS — The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries of the U. S. Department of the Interior, from its statistical office at Weems, announced yesterday that the catch of fish, (except menhaden by purse seine) and shellfish by Virginia commercial fishermen during October totaled 11,142,000 pounds and brought them $2,450,000. This bettered the September record by 342,000 pounds and $1,596,000. The disproportionate value increase was accounted for principally by oysters coming into seasonal demand: 2,670,000 pounds (of shucked meats) worth $1,873,000. This item showed gains over the previous October of 797,000 pounds and $421,000.

The catch of seed oysters for replanting is an important source of income for oyster tongs. In October, 1964 it was 50,000 bushels (state measure) as compared with 180,900 bushels in the same month of 1963. The respective values were $74,800 and $259,700. The decline was not due to scarcity but rather to the presence, in the beds, of oysters mature enough for shucking. The tongs naturally favored these because of their greater value.

The largest catch to appear, aside from menhaden taken by purse seines, was hard crabs: 5,357,800 pounds worth $322,100. This represented a loss in volume under the previous October of 1,402,000 pounds but an increase in value of $9,800.

End-of-season catches of Chesapeake Bay and tributary fish were along about average in the cases of spot, 206,400 pounds, striped bass, 131,100 pounds, and sea-trout 133,000 pounds. Other catches from these waters, except catfish at 184,000 pounds, were much smaller and comparatively negligible. The total fin-fish income from all waters except the Atlantic Ocean was $149,200.

The Atlantic Ocean yielded 507,500 pounds of finfish worth $45,200 and 1,262,700 pounds of shellfish worth $354,700. Leaders among the former were porgy 210,200 pounds, fluke 81,500 pounds, sea-trout 66,400 pounds and swellfish 47,600 pounds. Shellfish shaped up as follows: hard crabs 813,000 pounds, oysters 357,600 pounds (of meats) and hard clams 64,000 pounds (of meats). Also from the ocean were 18,300 pounds of cut scallops.

Ten-month cumulatives for 1964 and 1963 were: finfish 93,464,800 pounds and $5,627,100 pounds respectively, with values for each running almost equal: $3,874,100 and $3,793,500. Similarly shellfish totted up 56,650,000 pounds worth $10,923,500. (1964) and 49,111,600 pounds worth $8,449,900. (1963). Again, purse-seine menhaden are not included.

Accounting for the current landings were 5038 men in 2974 boats of all types from small to large.

City Council Reapportionment Seems To Be Favored By Many

Although the Virginia Beach City Charter does not permit reapportionment of the city council before 1967 the latest developments would indicate that such a change may come much sooner. It would take an act of the Virginia General Assembly to permit an earlier reapportionment.

Just last Saturday the city's two representatives in the House of Delegates issued a statement in which they said they would ask the General Assembly for a charter amendment to permit reapportionment of the City Council before June 1967, when the next council is to be elected.

According to the city charter no new plan for the election of councilmen may be considered before January 1, 1968, or later than September 1, 1971.

There are various plans of just how to elect members of the city council. Some favor councilmen elected at-large while still others feel that each of the present seven boroughs should have a single representative on the city's governing body.

One thing is certain the reapportionment of the City Council apparently will be a prime subject for the new year. Meanwhile, the system of canals and other projects seem to be shoved into the background, at least, for the present.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Friends of Tangier Island: It was a tense Christmas on Tangier Island this year. The 915 residents dreaded any kind of a holiday accident. For the third time since 1957 they are seeking a physician. Luckily, their 8 emergency cases were taken off by Coast Guard helicopter... but their question is, how long can they go without a physician, isolated on an island in the Chesapeake Bay. They have appealed to the Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care for assistance, just as they have twice before.

In 1954 the Council instituted a 3-year search... and Dr. Mikio Kato came from Japan in 1957. Dr. Kato later married an island girl, and moved his practice to Maryland. Another search was begun, and in 1961 Dr. John E. Parks, Jr. took up the practice. But Dr. Parks has recently been hospitalized in Tennessee and will not be able to return.

Conditions for practice on the island are ideal for a particular type of physician. He should be along in years, and devoid of slowing down. The recommended physician-patient ratio is 1/1500, although in these times 1/2500 is more the norm. On Tangier, it will be 1/915. There is a guaranteed income. There is a clinic, equipped for a well-rounded general practice. Housing will be made available. There is fishing, crabbing, oystering and boating. There are no super-highways, super-markets or much of the pressure of the world. There is fresh, clean salt air.

Most of all, there are the sturdy people. The island was settled in 1686 by John Crockett, an Englishman from Cornwall. About one-third of the present residents bear the name Crockett, and all of them retain traces of an Elizabethan accent. They are proud, thrifty and deeply religious. Life on the island centers around wrestling a living from the sea and the Methodist church.

The clinic is a model of the type of cooperative effort generated by the Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care. When the Old Dominion Foundation of Washington offered $3000 in matching funds for equipment, the island residents raised $6000 themselves. When the Golden Cross of the Virginia Methodist Conference pledged $6000 for the clinic building, the Tangier Town Council matched it to the dollar. Richmond Surgical Supply saved $3000 on equipment, electrical fixtures were given and installed by the Chesapeake Electric Cooperative, and the Old Dominion Foundation gave $2000 for a new well.

There is a nurse on the island now, working part-time. But the nearest hospital is 18 miles away, over sometimes choppy water. The normal transportation is afforded by a small boat... one round trip a day.

If you are a physician and think a practice on Tangier would appeal to you, or if you know of anyone who might be contacted and challenged, write directly to Mr. Edgar J. Fisher, Jr., the Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care, 100 East Franklin Street, Richmond, Virginia.

Sincerely,
Harry Mitchell,
Administrative Asst.
Va. Council on Health and Medical Care

VA ADVISES BENEFICIARIES

(By: Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Building, Norfolk, Virginia, at 142 West York Street.)

A VA benefit check arriving on or after the last day of the period covered by the payment should be returned to the VA in event of the payee's death. In fact, any government check which has not been cashed should be returned if the payee dies.

A veteran's monthly compensation or pension payment is stopped effective the last day of the month prior to the month in which he dies. If the widow is eligible for benefits, she will be paid such benefits effective the first day of the month in which the veteran dies, and she will receive for the month of the veteran's death an amount not less than what the veteran would have received.

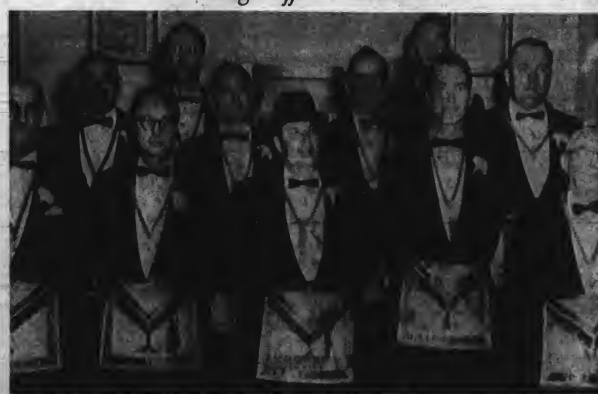

In case of a widow's death, payments to her are also stopped the last day of the month prior to her death.

Insurance checks received or unnegotiated after the payee has died should be returned. If they are cashed a refund will be required by the federal government. Additional amounts payable to any other person under the insurance contract will be authorized in accordance with the provisions of the policy and designation by insured.

Social Security checks received after the payee's death must be returned to the proper office, because these payments are also discontinued the first of the month preceding the beneficiary's death.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

Teacher Education

Education colleges in the past few years have been harshly criticized for the quality of their training programs.

Critics argue that the education curriculum, as opposed to a liberal arts program, is "too easy." The courses, referred to as "methods courses," are dull, repetitive, and shallow, they say.

Educators defend what they term "professional courses" by pointing out that these courses are not only necessary for classroom preparation but they also are required by the state certification boards.

Although the critics and educators have been battling back and forth, both groups agree that teaching the teachers is one of the most important duties of institutions of higher learning.

For no matter to what areas a student directs his attention, he is first exposed to the necessary fundamentals by his elementary and secondary teachers.

In answer to the critics and because teacher education is so important, the University of Virginia School of Education treats the matter as academically as possible, while at the same time maintaining certification requirements.

While there is no education major as such at the University, certain professional requirements must be fulfilled by the student who intends to teach.

Student teaching is among five courses involving only 18 hours out of the 108 hours necessary to obtain a bachelor of arts degree. All students, whether secondary or elementary majors, must take 60 semester hours of general academic courses offered in the College of Arts and Sciences.

These courses include English, speech, social science, mathematics, natural science, general psychology, health and physical education, two years of a foreign language, and philosophy.

In addition, the student in secondary education must complete 30 semester hours in a teaching field as history or English.

As an alternative, he may take 20 hours in one field and 12 hours in another.

Elementary majors must complete 12 semester hours in a concentrated field and 18 semester hours in various other academic courses.

"This broad education enables our students to meet certification and to teach with a strong background of liberal arts courses," said Dr. Ralph Cherry, dean of the School of Education.

He points out that students are not admitted to the school until their third year of college.

Students then are accepted into the school on the basis of their records for two years of college work plus their sincerity of intent to teach.

Science Briefs

Two scientific and technological advances announced by General Electric Company scientists and engineers:

A strip of plastic full of tiny holes may be a new weapon in the fight against cancer. A plastic film that can separate cancer cells from blood has been developed and may prove valuable in the diagnosis of the disease.

Plug-in electrical power for spacecrafts a million miles from earth is provided by a new way of creating electricity — magnetizing a superheated gas. G.E. space scientists expect that the new process could answer the need for relatively large amounts of electrical current required by spacecrafts.

"Superprocessors" first used by the General Electric Research Laboratory to make diamonds have also made it possible to produce more than 100 new forms of matter never found in nature.

Small electronic equipment which causes the earth to reverberate are revolutionizing oil exploration. Using electronic equipment, a system has been developed which records these reverberations and translates them into meaningful definitions of underground conditions.

At least seven telescopes will soon be searching the heavens for a new comet on the outskirts of space directed by the University of Pennsylvania and General Electric Company. They will scan the depths of space from New Zealand to New York in 100 seconds to spot old comets and the planets, the sun and the moon.

Caterina Valente of "The Entertainers" on the CBS Television Network also has her own show on German and Italian television.

Studio Set Makes Men Look Strong

On a studio set in the CBS Broadcast Center in New York, before the show starts, a stagehand walks over to a lamp post. He lifts it easily and walks across the stage with it. A moment later another stagehand hurries by, carrying a large section of brick wall. This is not to suggest that these stagehands are all men of incredible muscle. The lamp post and the brick wall are actually nothing more than lightweight plastic.

Along with many other amazingly realistic counterfeits, they are products of the largest plastic vacuum-forming machine in the industry, one of the remarkable production aids available at the CBS Broadcast Center.

The vacuum press, designed to CBS specifications, can take a panel of plastic 7 x 14 feet, and up to 1/4-inch thick, and mold it into an apparent duplicate of practically anything: brick walls, shingled roofs, doors, stoves, statues, friezes, columns, tiles or what have you.

Plastic is easily painted, sprayed, tacked, moved and stored. In the space that would normally be required to store a single real wall, half a dozen or more plastic duplicates can be stacked, and moving them from set to set is no problem at all. A worker can put a heavy-looking hydrant on a storage shelf that would never be able to hold the weight of a real fire plug—assuming he could lift the real article by himself in the first place.

The people who operate the plastic molding machine have accumulated a constantly growing stock of master molds—all kinds of stone, brick and wood wall effects, sculptures and the like, plus a complete line of stoves, refrigerators, lamp posts, hydrants and other everyday items. While the vacuum press is huge, it can also be used for small jobs, such as six-inch medallions and Aladdin-type lamps.

The machine that accomplishes these miracles is a prosaic looking press on which a sheet of 1/4-inch plastic is placed in its raw, flat state. An electric heating unit of high temperature moves forward, remaining in place just long enough to soften the plastic, and quickly retreats. Then the air is pumped out through the bottom of the machine and the sheet plastic is forced, under atmospheric pressure, against the mold; where it is bent into precisely the desired shape. When the machine is used to make something round, such as the fire hydrant, two pressings produce two halves of a hydrant. These are then cemented together to make the final product. Then the painters take over to produce whatever finish is required, from aluminum to brass to even a touch of iron rust.

The items produced by the plastic machine are so real looking that every now and then a visitor to a set has to be warned, for example, not to lean against a lamp post. In fact, the visitor is often told the only things he can safely assume not to be made of plastic are the actors.

While struggling as a beginning actor in Hollywood, Paul Brinegar of "Rawhide" made his living by repairing radios.

Dartmouth '32 graduate Robert Ryan, who narrates WORLD WAR I, was undefeated in four years of intercollegiate heavyweight boxing.

Elinor Donahue of "Many Happy Returns" began acting at the age of 5, appearing with Donald O'Connor in a number of movie comedies.

Before going to Hollywood to star in "The Munsters," Fred Gwynne enjoyed a long Broadway run last season in "Here's Love."

Jeanne Arnold of "The Cara Williams Show" met her husband, actor-director Lee Henry, while they were acting in summer stock.

HATCHETT LISTS BOND PROJECTS

Maryland Men Face Kidnap Charge Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — The two Maryland men charged with the December 28 kidnapping of Virginia Beach Patrolman J. W. Lamm are scheduled to appear in Virginia Beach Municipal Court for a preliminary hearing Monday morning on one count of abduction and two counts of armed robbery.

Walter Joseph Smith, 29, and Roger Thomas Howard, 25, of Baltimore, who are presently being held in Norfolk City Jail on the charges, were brought to Virginia Beach Monday so that the court might appoint an attorney to represent them.

COLONA APPOINTED
Named to this appointment was Virginia Beach attorney William H. Colona Jr.

Smith, who told police he escaped from the Maryland State Penitentiary last October where he was serving a sentence for armed robbery, and Howard, who was paroled last March from a sentence for the same offense, are accused of forcing Officer Lamm at gunpoint to take them to Norfolk after they fled an accident scene Lamm was investigating.

During the drive to Norfolk in Lamm's patrol car, Smith reportedly fired a .45-caliber automatic at Lamm but the shot missed the patrolman and lodged in a spare tire in the trunk of the car.

They bound and gagged Lamm and tied him to a fence.

Welding Firm Broken Into
KEMPSVILLE — The Hampton Roads Welding Supply at 5055 Holland Road was broken into sometime Saturday night and over $170 worth of equipment and supplies was taken, police reported Tuesday.

The burglars apparently broke a front window to enter the building and left by the front door, police said.

Det. Lt. W. W. Davis said that a leather jacket and a black rubber boot was found outside the front door.

The case is being investigated by Detective C. O. Lambert.

Air Medal Awarded To MP

Specialist Four James D. Barnett, a member of the 222nd Military Police Detachment at Ft. Story, was recently awarded the Air Medal's third through clusters for meritorious service while engaging in aerial combat missions in the Republic of Vietnam. Barnett participated as a crew member of an Army aircraft in more than 25 combat operational and aerial reconnaissance missions in the combat zone in support of counterinsurgency operations. He was cited as "Displaying the highest order of air discipline and acting in accordance with the best traditions of the service." Barnett, a native of Bellevue, Ohio, entered the Army in February of 1963 and completed Basic Training at Ft. Gordon, Ga., and was stationed there before reporting to Vietnam in December, 1963. ### 13 Seniors Already Accepted

VIRGINIA BEACH — Thirteen Virginia Beach High School seniors have already been accepted by colleges for the 1965-66 session, according to Mrs. Margaret Jeter, assistant principal.

Many colleges offer the early decision plan. Under this plan the college admits only a limited number of freshman students. This is a special plan designed to reduce the burden of the admissions process for those applicants who are considered highly desirable for admission by the college, and therefore students applying for early decisions must possess strong academic qualifications. Mrs. Jeter explained.

The following have been accepted by the College of William and Mary: Paul deWitt Jr., Margaret Ellen Kenley, Margaret Marston Prestor, Sam Jones Sykes, Norman Bartlett Theberge Jr., Leslie Ray Watson and Dale Wilson.

The remaining six who have been accepted by the colleges of their choice are: Wanda Crutchfield, Radford; Ann Hubbard, University of Denver; Joseph Park Mooter Jr., Washington and Lee; Nancy Carol Rucker, Marjorie Webster; Charlotte Sproles, East Carolina; and Max Wylie, Old Dominion.

NETWORK SHOW PLUGS BRIDGE TUNNEL SPAN

CAPE CHARLES — Virginia's new Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel made an appearance with Bonanza on the NBC national television network Sunday night (Jan. 3). The Bridge-Tunnel shared feature billing with the new 1965 Chevrolet Impala Sports Sedan in a four-minute commercial, in color.

Exciting camera angles showed the Impala crossing the 17.6-mile span that is rated as one of the modern engineering wonders of the world. Shots from helicopters above and boats below presented views that travelers never see while crossing the tremendous structure.

The commercial will be repeated on future Chevrolet sponsored network shows at dates not yet determined.

Confession Solves Crime

VIRGINIA BEACH — A juvenile being held in the detention home on burglary charges has confessed to an unsolved theft in Virginia Beach Borough, police said Wednesday.

The boy asked last week to speak to a Virginia Beach police officer and told him he was responsible for taking over $2,000 from the Beach Travel Service on Atlantic Avenue last November.

He said he broke a rear window to enter the building and made off with a cash box filled with checks, papers and some cash. He kept the cash, he said, and threw the remainder of the contents and the box in the ocean.

'65 DIMES KICK-OFF LUNCHEON SATURDAY

VIRGINIA BEACH — Volunteers for the 1965 Virginia Beach March of Dimes campaign will meet Saturday for a special kickoff luncheon in the Normandie Restaurant, according to C. B. "Neal" Owens, general chairman of the annual drive which officially gets underway this week and continues until January 31.

Owens said Mrs. E. A. Hudson will be named Mothers March Chairman; Woody Seams, Chairman for Candy Sales; John Strickland, Mailers; and Bob Chesna, Publicity. Other chairmen to be named include A. A. Booth, Jr., Coin Box Distribution; Mrs. B. Y. Porter, Private Schools; Mrs. Robert Sofield, Special Events; Richard Absolon, Clubs and Organizations; Jefferson Davis, Teenage Division; William Rice, Military Division; William Robertson, Business Division; James R. McKenny, Professional Division and Aron Parsons, Special Area Chairman.

Also attending the luncheon will be Mrs. Wallace Clark, state woman's advisor for the March of Dimes; Mrs. J. D. W. Casada, secretary-treasurer of the local chapter and Rhae W. Adams, advisor and coordinator of the Mothers March.

Owens said the purpose of the 1965 March of Dimes is to fight birth defects.

"Since entering this field in 1958, after the March of Dimes victory over Polio," he said, "the National Foundation initiated the most promising attack ever made against this ancient scourge through medical care, research and public and professional education."

Land was arrested by police after 11 p.m. when Land reportedly approached Wilson's wife, Margaret, and made an offensive remark to her, police said.

Wilson reported to police he told Land he didn't like the comment and started to leave the market when Land ran to his car, grabbed a revolver and shot him in the right leg and left thumb. The victim reported that Land said "I ought to kill you" then drove away in the car.

Land was arrested by police about 1 a.m. Sunday. He listed his occupation as a concrete finisher.

Wilson was treated at Virginia Beach Hospital and has since been released.

Land is scheduled to appear in Virginia Beach Municipal Court on January 28 for a preliminary hearing.

Investigating officers were Sgt. C. W. Simmons and Detective G. F. Roberts.

KING'S GRANT — The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church revived an age-old Christmas tradition Wednesday night with an Epiphany Fire to culminate the holiday season.

Christmas trees and decorations from the church were used for the fire which was lighted about 8 p.m. at the rear of the church site in King's Grant.

The Epiphany Fire symbolizes the end of the Twelve Days of Christmas as passed down through the ages through the Bible in the sixtieth chapter of Isaiah.

The fire was incorporated into a religious service heralding the end of the Christmas season, the Rev. Elmer Medley, pastor of the church, explained.

Local Man Charged In Shooting

The incident took place shortly after 11 p.m. when Land reportedly approached Wilson's wife, Margaret, and made an offensive remark to her, police said.

The victim reported that Land said "I ought to kill you" then drove away in the car.

Land was arrested by police about 1 a.m. Sunday. He listed his occupation as a concrete finisher.

City Manager Outlines Six Major Points

By Ruby Jean Phillips

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Manager W. Russell Hatchett made public for the first time Tuesday night the six major projects to be included in the proposed $8-million bond referendum scheduled to come before City Council next Monday.

In speaking to the Princess Anne Ruritan Club at Aragona School, Hatchett outlined such projects as schools, roads, inlets, buildings, canal and water and sewage lines.

"If the city is to progress," Hatchett said, "it cannot fail in its support of all these measures as presented. In fact, our city and county's acceptance of most of these projects was assured long before the consolidation."

In outlining the projects, Hatchett had these things to say:

CANALS

"The farmers, the old County of Princess Anne and the federal government have spent over $3-million for draining and reclaiming thousands of acres of land. Now, with the fantastic growth the city is enjoying, the run-off is three times greater than had been anticipated in the old program and we must widen and deepen these drainage canals in order to properly drain our city."

The bond issue includes $350,000 for two canals to carry the run-off water, one beginning just west of Highway 170 and the West Neck Creek and ending over three miles away near the Bridge and the second starting at the head of North Bay and ending five miles away at Fresh Pond near Dam Neck.

INLETS

"The old Board of Supervisors agreed to appropriate $250,000 toward this improvement and in this bond issue we are asking $250,000 for easements, rights of way and spoilage areas. The city has accomplished certain work as required, the federal government will take Lynnhaven Inlet over and maintain the channel and light."

He pointed out that during the development of Lynnhaven Inlet, the city anticipate that over 400,000 cubic yards of sand will replenish the beaches at Lynnhaven.

The Rudee Inlet project will be developed according to an economic study authorized by the Rudee Inlet Commission which derived its findings through "information ascertained by studying various similar projects."

ROADS

The $500,000 highway construction fund will finance two major highways: one connecting Virginia Beach Borough with Princess Anne Court House, which will include a high level bridge at Rudee Inlet, and the second the building of Independence Boulevard to connect Shore Drive with Virginia Beach Boulevard.

"A trade center complex second to none in the south has already been planned along Independence Boulevard and it is anticipated that it will open by spring of 1966. It is our hope that these two highways will be completed by that time."

BUILDING

The bond issue will earmark $600,000 for a building program that will cover additions to buildings such as the city jail, the health department, a new library, new police precinct, a police court in Virginia Beach Borough, expansion of the Farmer's Market and new administration buildings at City Hall at Princess Anne.

"We are ready to start a new Home Demonstration building near Seateack Elementary School which should come out of the bond issue funds. I want the Negro members of the community to see that some of the improvements are especially for them."

WATER AND SEWAGE

"The water and sewage lines are being put in the bond issue on the full faith of the city's credit with careful accounting to be kept so that when the city goes into the water business on its own, the return of bonds and interest will be made from the water department. With funds spent in the interest of service, the debt will be repaid into the general fund so that no area not enjoying these services will be taxed for same."

SCHOOLS

"The $5-million for schools will be spent as outlined by Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Cox." It has been reported that the allocation will build two secondary schools and one elementary school and an addition to Union-Kempsville High School.

YOUR DRUGGIST SAYS

COST: 1 ICE CREAM SODA A DAY

If your doctor prescribed an ice cream soda a day for 10 days to get you out of a sick bed, you'd take your "medicine" gladly... with little thought to its cost. When figured on the basis of the quantity of medicine the doctor asks you to take every 24 hours, today's prescription rarely costs you more than a daily ice cream soda. But it does something no ice cream soda can do. It cures disease.

As I See It

by Betty Deal

Whew! I'm still soaking my feet! Are you? If you were one who took part in the recent assault on the town in an operation called Half-Price Sale, you are.

I had planned a nice quiet visit to friends over the Christmas weekend. December is not only the month for joy and Christmas; it is the time of an Extension workers annual report, installing officers of clubs, making plans for new classes, "doing" news articles, etc. When one leaves the office on Christmas Eve, she hopes for some rest as well as fun. I did have these until my friend, who wants to keep me solvent, decided we should take advantage of the bargains. So I think O.K. I'll take along my crocheting.

We approached the parking lot and what "to my wondering eyes should appear" but hundreds of cars, several already involved in a parking jam. We find a slot and drive in, get out and head for the place supposed to have the most for the money.

When I entered I thought surely it was a riot on the scene from Shakespeare's play where the forest moves. People were grabbing Christmas glasses marked half-price after running their finger around the edge to be sure it was not nicked. Several people walked forward with boxes of Christmas cards so that only feet were visible. Decorations of all kinds, artificial (permanent?) wreaths, holly, fruit, and candles, candle holders were being put into sacks. The most fun was watching the long packages of Christmas paper being carried and poking those ahead and behind the person carrying.

One person wanted the top to a salt shaker found, another set a candle holder down; while she picked up other purchases another person bought it.

By this time I had gotten to where I could see one of the cashier's faces above the counter. She looked like she would like to run—if she could find running space.

After lunch and a few more saving stops, I made a firm announcement that I would not drag in and out of any more stores. That's a hard way to save money!

EDITORIALS SPEAKING

City's Traffic Safety Record On Boulevard Has Improved

A recent news article dealing with the traffic accidents and traffic fatalities for the year on Virginia Beach Boulevard in the City of Virginia Beach was most encouraging.

Figures for the year revealed that there were half as many deaths from traffic accidents on the boulevard in 1964 as against the 1963 record. This is a tremendous improvement to the few short miles of highway that has ranked as the number two killer among Virginia's highways.

The month of December has always been a particularly bad month for traffic accidents on Virginia Beach boulevard, but not during the month just ended. According to the news release, the boulevard claimed five lives in 1963 during the month of December. No deaths from traffic accidents on this road were recorded the past December.

All of this improvement is a credit to the city's police department and to the city's bureau of traffic safety. The police have been most energetic in their patrol of Virginia Beach boulevard and the use of radar control has helped.

Another factor that has contributed greatly to the improved safety of travel on the boulevard is the many improvements in markings, the elimination of several crossover points, and the constant study by the traffic safety bureau to eliminate hazards and improve the smooth flow of traffic.

The police department and traffic safety bureau are to be commended for this fine record.

The Bond Issue Embraces Many City Improvements

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett has outlined in detail the proposed $8-million bond referendum which the city council is expected to vote Monday. A month or six weeks later the voters are expected to voice their approval or disapproval.

As expected the largest single item is for school construction. The $5-million for schools would build two secondary and one elementary and would include an addition to an existing school plant.

The second largest segment in the bond issue would be $1-million for public utilities to be spent principally for new water lines.

Other items, as outlined by the City

Manager, include a municipal building fund covering the cost, among other things, of a new police precinct building in Bay-side, a library in that area, a court building for Virginia Beach Borough, and a start on a main administrative building at City Hall.

Also included are projects such as new highway construction, drainage canals and work at Rudee Inlet.

It is true that first things first is a sound policy and it appears that the city leaders have taken this theory to heart.

All of the work projected is needed and it appears that they have been placed in the order of "first things first."

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

City Planning

Visionaries in an ivory tower? Not the city planning students in the University of Virginia's School of Architecture.

Each semester several groups of city planning students go out into Charlottesville and other communities around the state to study their subject at first hand.

Armed with maps, statistics and tape pads, they look for such things as traffic patterns, land use, population density, prospects for future growth, and residents' attitudes toward their neighborhood and city.

One recent survey in a residential section of Charlottesville revealed a variety of opinions as to the neighborhood boundaries and whether or not there was any kind of neighborhood unity.

The students conducting the survey, most of whom were unfamiliar with the neighborhood, were particularly struck with the need for planning to route heavy traffic around the residential area, rather than through it.

Surveys along more economic lines have been conducted in several Virginia towns in the past few years. Teams of city planning students have gone to South Boston, Manassas and Amherst to study the central business districts there.

After consultation with local officials, conversations with town residents, and personal observations, the students wrote up their recommendations for the town's future development. In many cases the local officials were just as interested in the reports as the students' professors were.

The most comprehensive planning studies are those done each year by fifth year students—students in which one student prepares a master plan for an entire city of between 10,000-20,000 persons. Master plans were prepared last year for Fredericksburg, Hopewell, Vienna and Harrisonburg. This year, only one student is working on such a study, which is of Lexington.

Considerable time is allotted for the students to visit the city he is studying. He is expected to make his own contacts with local officials to get whatever information he will need for his report.

When finished, the master plan should resemble as closely as possible a professional master plan prepared by a practicing city planner.

The School of Architecture offers two degrees in city planning—master of city planning and master of planning and urban design—and in both instances students are given ample opportunity to apply the theories they learn to actual situations.

Tests To Be Given By School Board

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach City School Board is making plans to administer the General Educational Development Test to interested persons in this area on February 3, 1965.

The State Department of Education supplies these tests for each local school board. The persons who pass the test successfully are given a certificate. The certificate is in lieu of the High School diploma. Some colleges and industry accept this certificate in place of the High School Diploma.

In order to take the examination the applicant must satisfy certain requirements. The minimum requirements are:

(1) The applicant must be 20 years of age. Under no conditions may the applicant be permitted to take the test prior to the time that he would have graduated had he remained in school.

(2) The applicant shall have earned at least 8 units of High School credit (grades 9 thru 12, exclusive of Physical Education). Applicants who have obtained their 26th birthday may not be required to present the above units.

(3) The applicant shall have resided in Virginia one year prior to applying for the battery of tests and must reside in the school division through which he makes application.

(4) The applicant must attain a passing score on the complete battery of tests provided by the State Department of Education. Persons who desire to take this test should make application to F. E. Taylor, High School Supervisor, Virginia Beach City Schools, Princess Anne Station. The deadline for submission of applications is January 22, 1965. The test will be administered at the School Administration Building, Princess Anne Station, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

HERZKE RETIRES FROM ARMY

FORT STORY — Major William J. Herzke, Fort Story's S2, S3 and Executive Officer, retired from active duty on December 31. Upon his retirement he became a Lieutenant Colonel in the Army Reserve. He resides with his wife, Marie, and three children at 2237 Red Tide Road.

Herzke entered the Army in March of 1942 from New York City and was subsequently assigned to the 77th Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, S. C.

In November of the same year, he entered Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga., and upon its completion was commissioned a Second Lieutenant with the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, S. C.

It was as a platoon leader with the 101st that he saw most of his action during World War II. In September of 1942, the 101st left for England where they trained in preparation for D-Day.

Then in June of 1944, Herzke participated in the Normandy invasion on the shores of France following which, in September his unit launched the Holland Invasion.

Perhaps the highest point in Herzke's career came while serving under General Anthony C. McAuliffe at Bastogne, Austria during the Battle of the Bulge. Herzke, then a Second Lieutenant, was the first American Officer to receive word of the General's immortal reply, "NUTS," to the German demands for surrender.

Following the war, Herzke took a well-earned "vacation" and entered civilian life for three years.

Then in September of 1948, he re-enlisted and was assigned to the 36th Infantry at Fort Dix as a First Lieutenant. From March to November of 1949 he was with the 33rd Infantry Regimental Combat Team in Panama.

Beach Office Aids Sales

VIRGINIA BEACH — Opening this past Fall of a new, larger and more modern Virginia Beach office at 3259 Virginia Beach Boulevard by Goodman-Segar-Hogan, realtors, has contributed to increased sales by the firm according to Oscar B. Forebee, Jr., vice president of residential sales for the firm.

December sales of 128 residential properties by its three offices brought their 1964 total to 826 residential sales, he pointed out, while the December volume of $1,504,440 boosted the annual sales total to $10,693,937. In addition, the totals for December 1964 are more than double those of any other December in the firm's history, while the annual sales volume for 1964 is over $1 million greater than the 1963 figure.

Forebee attributed his company's sales rise both to the growing population and prosperity of the Tidewater area, and to increased efforts and facilities in his organization.

"Although the population growth and prosperity of this area are a factor in these increases," he stated, "they are tempered somewhat by the increased competition from the growing number of real estate firms in Tidewater. To offset this, we have stepped up our sales efforts and the efficiency of our own operations."

"The addition of our ASK Home Selection Computer to our operation has been a factor in bringing us increased listings. Because the computer assures a prospect that every home meeting his requirements will be submitted, the home seller can have the same assurance that his property will be offered to every likely prospect."

"The opening this past Fall of a new, larger and more modern office in Virginia Beach also has added to the services which we can offer through our three offices in this city and Norfolk. Our sales staff in these three offices totaled 45 men and women before the end of the year, and we intend to increase our sales complement by about 20 per cent in the first few months of 1965."

Forebee also revealed that he has set a sales goal for his organization in 1965 of $15,000,000 in residential property sales, with a proportionate increase in number of units to be sold.

Fish, Wildlife Service Seeks Data For '65

RICHMOND — Soon the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries will be asked to advise the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as to the desirability of a controlled whistling swan and snow goose season in Virginia in the fall of 1965. Commission Executive Director Chester F. Phelps has announced.

The final decision as to whether this option is included in the Federal framework for next year's waterfowl season will hinge on recommendation of the Atlantic Flyway Council and U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service officials at meetings next summer. An affirmative indication from the states involved at this time would mean that Fish and Wildlife Service personnel would accumulate, analyze and prepare the information upon which the final decision will be based.

Winter waterfowl counts show an average of about 50,000 whistling swans and a like number of Greater Snow Geese in the Atlantic Flyway. Except for sporadic fluctuations, these populations have been neither increasing nor decreasing under the complete protection of recent years.

Due to their rooting feeding habits, snow geese feeding on the heavily shot duck marshes on the wintering grounds in the Back Bay-Currituck Sound Area have been particularly subject to lead poisoning with dieoffs claiming hundreds of birds. Flyway biologists feel that the limited shooting being considered would pose no threat to the populations of these birds. Suggested quotas for Virginia were 1,000 permits each for swans and snows. In addition to Virginia, states considering snow goose shooting are North Carolina, New Jersey and Maryland. Only Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland, New Jersey and Maryland, but would give interested hunters a chance to bag a unique trophy.

Permits would likely be issued as tags on a one to the hunter basis and allocated by means of a drawing. The limited shooting of these birds would add little to the quantity of waterfowl bagged annually in the Old Dominion, but would give interested hunters a chance to bag a unique trophy.

Hanson Signs With Wofford

VIRGINIA BEACH — Chris Hanson of Virginia Beach High School, the leading scorer in the Eastern District last fall, signed a grant-in-aid with Wofford College Tuesday.

The 175-pound halfback scored 78 points in eight games and rushed for 1,274 yards.

Sought after by a number of colleges, Hanson elected Wofford, a small school with a strong athletic program in Spartanburg, S.C. and officials there called him an outstanding prospect.

They were merely echoing his high school coach Carlton Bowyer who has called Hanson the best halfback in the state.

As a junior Chris led District One, Group Two in scoring. He played on a District One championship eleven as a sophomore.

A strong runner with excellent speed, Hanson played both ways for the Seahawks and had very little relief on a small squad.

BRIDGE-TUNNEL TRAFFIC KEEPS BOOTH BUSY

BAYSIDE — According to Mrs. Eleanor Cosby, who helps man the "Information Booth" sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, cars are still coming through at a rate of from 35 to 50 a day. Many take advantage of the information booth and stop to inquire as to whether Virginia Beach proper, or the resort area, is still open about fishing; about the Naval installations; places of historic interest. Mrs. Cosby said they all seemed so grateful for the help given them.

Many Naval officers and enlisted men came through Sunday and inquired directions to the different Naval Bases, it being a time of change of duty for some of the men.

Tourists also stop and inquire the directions to some of the new residential areas which keeps the ladies hopping. So many are springing up all the time. People on their way to Florida stop for directions what with the new roads—one never knows if a super-highway is lurking around the corner! And if it is—"How do you get on it?" The "Booth" has residential maps of the whole area, information on road conditions, and maps to just about anyplace you can name. Their job is to help the motorist—which they do cheerfully.

Believe it or not, truck drivers stop for information. They want information on the most direct way to the Norfolk business district, Naval Bases, Army Base, Lambert Point, etc. I always think of truck drivers being a "fountain of information" on roads and have on many occasions asked them direction—which they always give accurately and with good grace.

CARBON MONOXIDE WINTER HAZARD FOR MOTORISTS

A song about winter contains the line: "And the Great White Winter walks abroad." In winter there is another great force walking abroad; carbon monoxide. It is seeking the careless winter motorist.

Odorless and tasteless, this gas produced by the incomplete burning of fuel kills by entering the lungs and cutting off the supply of oxygen needed to maintain life.

Death from carbon monoxide poisoning comes like the fog in Carl Sandburg's poem—"on little cat feet. Silently and swiftly it overcomes its victim as he sits unwittingly in his tightly closed car. Five minutes is all it takes in some instances to kill.

Most of us are not aware that with the simple turn of a key in today's automobile we are initiating the operation of a complete chemical plant. The motor capable of mixing air and gasoline in proper proportions to propel an auto also produces deadly acids and gases in the process.

Even if you don't die from the CO poisoning, you may suffer serious illness and even permanent brain damage from lack of oxygen. After a traffic crash, the driver may report dizziness or a drowsy feeling before the crash. Safety officials often suspect the driver slowly was being overcome by carbon monoxide gas.

CO's danger signals are a tightness across the forehead, throbbing in the temples, headaches, tiredness, weakness, dizziness, nausea, loss of muscle control and speeded up pulse and breathing.

To guard against becoming a victim of this killer, the Allstate Safety Crusade urges motorists to follow these rules:

1. Keep your car's exhaust system in good repair.
2. Never start your car's engine in a closed garage.
3. Never sit in a closed, parked car with the motor running.
4. Always keep a window open when the engine is running.
5. Keep the air intakes in the front of your car closed in slow moving traffic to guard against exhaust fumes from other cars.
6. If you or anyone else feels drowsy while driving, stop and get some fresh air.

View Of Virginia Beach

By Doris Patrick

Has your name been in the Sun-News lately? If not, it may be your own fault!

Many individuals make up a city, and to each individual something interesting happens sometime.

Your comings and goings and doings are newsworthy. Personal Mention items are not restricted to a favored few. The names of your guests, or the destination of your trip could be there. Your birthday party or anniversary celebration could be duly noted. All you have to do is pick up the phone or drop us a line . . .

Have you become engaged, been to a wedding, or had a baby? If it happened in Virginia Beach, or if you live here (even if it happens somewhere else) you can save the news of the treasured event for many years, or mail copies of the paper to friends and relatives. If you take the time to send it in, The News department has special forms which may be filled in with all the proper spelling of names, dates, etc. You don't have to write it; just furnish the facts.

Many worthy club projects and organizational meetings are not known to others simply because someone has neglected to call or send in the necessary releases. Every effort is made to print all community news that is received.

Pictures are always acceptable and will be considered. If you have a camera and you think a picture should go with a story, or if the picture tells a story by itself, don't hesitate to get it to the News department. The only requirements are that it must be clear, black and white, and no larger than 5 x 7. It may be a snapshot, a Polaroid print, or a studio photograph.

Do you know someone or something that you feel should be spotlighted in a feature story? Interviews for features are given on Thursdays and Fridays. You don't have to make an appointment—just drop in.

No weekend nor night coverage of events is possible except for extremely important news . . . but that doesn't mean it can't be put in the paper. You don't have to be a writer to contribute news. The facts will be properly presented by the news staff, if you want to take the time to write them down.

The Sun-News is also made up of individuals who constantly fight the battle of time and space. If sometimes your item does not appear, don't be discouraged . . . it will probably appear in the next issue. Up-to-the-minute news always takes precedence over personal items, club news, or feature stories.

Remember the deadlines—Friday afternoon for Tuesday's issue . . . Monday at noon for Thursday's edition.

There are three ways you may submit your news for consideration: Phone 428-2401, come in to the news office (upstairs) at 3108 Pacific Ave., or mail your items to P. O. Box 657.

'Show Boat' Getting Underway

GREAT NECK — Preparations will get under way for the spring production of "Show Boat" by the Virginia Beach Civic Chorus on Tuesday, January 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the chorus room of Frank Cox High School on Great Neck Road, when the Chorus will gather for their first meeting of the year and a briefing by director Charles Oliver.

This year's production, to be presented in five performances in late April at the Princess Anne High School, is being sponsored again by the Rotary Club of Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Mason Will Host Heart Drive

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Mary B. Mason of Goodspeed Road, Virginia Beach, will be chairman of the Virginia Beach Heart Fund Campaign, it was announced today by William P. Kellam, General Chairman of the Tidewater Heart Fund Committee. Proceeds of the campaign will be used to fight the heart and circulatory diseases, responsible for 41 per cent of all deaths in Virginia Beach last year. These diseases include heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever and in-born heart defects.

Mrs. Kellam's expressed his pleasure at Mrs. Mason's acceptance as he is convinced that the drive will have its most successful year because of her vitality, resourcefulness and because of her sincere dedication to the Heart Cause.

Already organizing for the Heart campaign, Mrs. Mason stated that "We will endeavor to raise $18,000."

"The contributions received are for such a worthy cause—research, education and community service—that I feel that the citizens of Virginia Beach will back us fully in attaining our goal. Let's remember that heart disease is our community's Number 1 Killer and we must do our utmost in combating it."

The annual campaign which supports the research, education and community service programs of the Tidewater Heart Association and the American Heart Association, begins with the opening of Heart Month, February 1. It continues through February 29.

Mrs. Mason is a former officer and a present member of the Virginia Beach Junior Woman's Club.

BEACH FARMERS ALERTED TO FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

PRINCESS ANNE — The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office at Princess Anne Court House has alerted farmers in the Virginia Beach area of the major provisions of the voluntary 1965 feed grain program announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The new provisions include a decision to keep total price-support levels for cooperators the same as 1964 and the diversion payment rate will also remain the same. But within total price-support rates, loan levels were decreased with corresponding increases in payment rates.

Department officials said 1965 program designed to maintain participants' incomes at least as high as current levels. They also stressed that program will help maintain overall feed grain income for producers at near current levels, or about billion dollars a year higher than with previous feed grain programs.

Changes within total price support rate were made to encourage greater participation in the program by farmers. Department officials noted success of program depends on level of participation sufficiently high to offset program costs by reduction in public investment in government feed grain inventories.

For 1965 program, a larger proportion of price support will be in payment form with some reduction in average loan rate for all three feed grains.

Feed grain programs will acreage substitution feature for wheat and feed grain acreage which is new to program for 1965 gives producers more flexible range of cropping opportunities and income possibilities.

Participation in both wheat and feed grain programs will

Rates Cut On Tunnel

CAPE CHARLES — Here's good news for many motorists who own or rent utility, camp, boat or horse trailers. Now they can cross the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel with a saving of $5.00 to $7.00.

Effective January 1, the big span across the Chesapeake reduced its rates for small trailers towed by commercially registered station wagons, carry-alls, pickup trucks, panel-trucks and delivery vans.

Station wagons and carry-alls were reclassified as passenger cars, even if registered as commercial vehicles. This cut their basic toll for the 17.6-mile crossing from $5.00 down to $4.00. If pulling a trailer less than 21 feet long, they now cross for $5.00 if the trailer has one axle or for $6.00 if it has two. Pickups, panel trucks and delivery vans pay $1.00 more.

Previously the charge was $10.00 if the trailer had one axle, $13.00 if it had two.

The new rate is expected to be especially pleasing to sportsmen crossing the bay to go pleasure boating or fishing along the famous Eastern Shore or along the rivers and inlets of Tidewater, Virginia.

Opened last April, the Bridge-Tunnel is a link in the Ocean Highway on U.S. 13 and U.S. 17, a main north-south travel route along the east coast.

Reclassification of commercially registered station wagons and carry-alls also makes them eligible for the $4.25 combination toll with the Hampton Roads Bridge-Tunnel. The combination rate does not apply to vehicles towing trailers.

Education Center At Fort Story Ranks High

FORT STORY — "Out audio-visual materials, which are vitally important in teaching, are as good as anywhere, and our teachers are tops."

This is the manner in which Sherrell V. Colley, Fort Story's Director of Education, summed up the calibre and efficiency of the post's modern Education Center.

The Center, which has been under the direction of Colley since 1958, presently has approximately 3,500 men participating in its programs; far more than at any time since its institution several years ago.

There are currently seven on-duty and six off-duty classes operating at the Center. They include courses in Typing, Algebra II, English Composition and Literature, Principles of Economics, English I, Spanish I, French I, and Remedial Reading.

The Center's language laboratory facilitates the remedial reading and foreign language classes for both the student and teacher. Installed less than a year ago, the lab is one of the latest electronic teaching aids available in education today.

The versatile unit consists of 20 student booths and a teacher-monitor station complete with a control board for guiding activities in the classroom. Four separate programs from an electronic tape and record combination may be employed simultaneously in the lab. The laboratory allows for individual pupil-teacher communication; the teacher can speak with or listen to a single student, a select group of students, or the class as a whole simply by manipulating the controls.

"We believe the new lab should be used by the Army in this area so that personnel can be more efficient in a second language," stated Mr. Colley. He supported this statement by saying too many men serve on foreign soil without having at least a working knowledge of the native language. "This deficiency can be and is being eliminated by proper use of the language lab," he added.

One of the most popular classes at the Center is the Spanish-English Class conducted by Mrs. Josephine Spampinato. The objective of the class is to instruct the Puerto Rican personnel in the English language, one with which they must work while serving in the Army, but one which few know how to speak with any degree of efficiency. Through the competent guidance of Mrs. Spampinato, the Latin American soldiers at Fort Story have found their associations here much more rewarding because they could communicate effectively with the people around them.

In addition to classes held on post, the Center makes it possible for interested soldiers to attend night sessions at almost any one of the many colleges and universities in the Tidewater area.

Everything from entrance procedures to tuition fees is handled by the local staff. The only thing the student is required to do is be present at the classes. These on-campus classes are very effective in that they enable one to study in an atmosphere conducive to learning, and at the same time provide valuable associations with others with similar interests.

Colleges participating in the military education program include: Old Dominion College, the University of Virginia, George Washington University, Virginia State College, and William and Mary.

Colley, the only professional military education adviser in the vicinity, co-ordinates his program with that at the Oceana Naval Air Station, thus instituting inter-service activities. In actuality, the Fort Story Education Center serves practically all Army installations in the Virginia area. It has more than 20 "satellite" units under its control including the Supreme Allied Command, the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, The Naval Amphibious Base at Little Creek and the 9th Missile Unit in the Norfolk area.

Also on the local staff are Mrs. Eva Hudnall, a 6-year veteran of service at Ft. Story; Mrs. Joel Childers, Typing and MOS coordination instructor; Mrs. Imogene Brown, Assistant Director of Education and test proctor; and PFC John J. Walsh, Language Lab Technician.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

WINTER CARE AND OPERATION OF ENGINES

As winter morning temperatures plummet, and your car fails to start, no doubt your temperature takes a corresponding rise! Here are some suggestions that might ease the situation.

Starting problems increase in cold weather because of several factors. These include a thickening of lubricants which makes it harder for engine parts to move, less vaporization of fuel, and less starting power in the battery. At zero degrees Fahrenheit, batteries are only about 40 per cent as efficient as at 80 degrees.

Engines kept in top operating condition give less trouble starting on cold mornings. Follow the engine manufacturer's recommendations for lubrication, spark and engine care and adjustment, cooling system care, and fuel requirements.

Some things which will help you achieve quicker starts in cold weather are:

Lessen the load on the starter by depressing the clutch on manual shifts or placing automatic transmissions in neutral before starting.

Shut off lights, heater, and other accessories before starting. This insures maximum voltage for both the starter motor and the ignition system.

Always close the choke valve before starting. With an automatic choke, set it in the "on" position by depressing the accelerator before starting. Many cold weather starting failures are due entirely to this oversight.

When the starter is energized, the accelerator should be about half way down to get enough air rushing through the manifold to pick up fuel and carry it into the cylinders.

An additional one or two pumps on the accelerator pedal will dump raw gasoline into the intake manifold and help get vaporized fuel into cylinders during very cold weather.

Energize the starter at relatively short intervals. Avoid grinding away or you may over-heat the starter motor and cause an excessive drain on the battery.

Should you flood the engine, push the accelerator all the way down (open) and hold it there while cranking the engine. This allows a full charge of air to enter and pumps out the surplus fuel causing the flooding. Avoid pumping the accelerator when an engine is flooded because this only aggravates the situation.

In unusually cold weather, place the transmission in neutral, and run the engine at fast idle before switch off. When the switch is off, depress the accelerator to "flood" the engine. This insures a supply of gasoline in the cylinders for the next start.

TAXES

About ten per cent of the farm population is over 65 years of age, and another ten per cent will reach 65 within the next ten years.

The 1964 Revenue Act provides some tax relief for those over 65.

A taxpayer 65 or older can exclude from income all gain on the sale of his home if the sale price is $20,000 or less and he has used the property as his principal residence for at least 5 of the last 8 years. When the price exceeds $20,000, only a part of the gain is taxable. It should be noted that this exclusion is a one-time deal.

The new law provides that all payments for medicines and drugs for persons 65 or over are fully deductible. Persons over 65, or blind, are also allowed an additional $100 on their minimum standard deduction.

Since there are a number of changes in the tax law, persons over 65—as well as others—should seek competent help with their tax problems. It may be possible to save a considerable amount by paying a good tax consultant to help you with your tax problems.

BEEF CATTLE

Because of the large increase in slaughter this year, the inventory of cattle and calves on farms on January 1, 1965 will be up only slightly from the 106.3 million at the start of 1964.

During 1963 the inventory increased about 2.7 per cent.

Fed cattle prices in October (choice steers, Chicago) were about $5 per 100 pounds above the May low of $20.52. Important factors in this price level have been reductions in live-weights of slaughter cattle, slight declines in fed cattle marketings since spring; higher consumer incomes, and the USDA beef purchase program.

The decline in liveweight was of particular importance. Last year and in the early months of 1964, liveweights were at record levels; adding to cattleman's price difficulties. Since spring, however, lighter weights have helped soften the price consequences of larger numbers of cattle coming to market.

Cattle slaughter is expected to continue at high levels into the winter. Number of cattle on feed October 1 was down only 2 per cent from the high level of a year earlier, and feedlot operators reported intentions to market only one per cent fewer cattle in the fourth quarter than in the same months of 1963.

In addition, cow slaughter this fall is expected to remain substantially above last fall, and slaughter of other cattle off grass is likely to be up. Nevertheless, beef demand is strong, imports are down, and fed cattle prices into the winter are likely to average near October levels.

Marketing in the first half of 1965 will depend largely on the number and weight of cattle placed on feed during the fourth quarter of this year and the early months of 1965.

Feeder cattle prices have been fairly steady since spring, despite the price rise for fed cattle. Feeder cattle prices will probably remain under considerable pressure the next few months, since there is a plentiful supply available for feeding.

The current price relationship between fed and feeder cattle is probably encouraging large placements during the fourth quarter.

It is expected that the January 1, 1965, beef inventory will be slightly larger than in 1964, and that there will be a further slight increase over 1965 on January 1, 1966.

4-H Activities and Events

Assistant Agent

"Not unless we fill our existence with an aim do we make it life."

Hello folks! During this week and last week you have heard and read capsules of important events that happened in 1964. I would like to review the 1964 4-H year with you with the intent of making 1965 an even bigger and better year for 4-H and the 4-H Club members of Virginia Beach.

In January, 1964, Agents, leaders, and club members were making plans for activities and events such as the 4-H Automotive Project, Council Banquet, and Horse Clinic. 4-H Clubs were also planning their own club programs.

The 4-H Council Banquet was held in February and featured a speech by Hunter Spence, who had just been selected to represent Virginia Beach and the State of Virginia as an International Farm Youth Delegate to Thailand. Six Virginia Beach All Stars attended the Mid-Winter All Star Conference at Natural Bridge.

March was a busy month for 4-Hers as they took part in the annual City-wide Demonstration contests, share-the-fun talent contest, and Dress Review. Members in the 4-H Junior Steer Program were given encouragement by visits from the breeders of their steers, and by taking a trip to visit some prize cattle at Whitehall farms in Gloucester County.

April featured District Contests and four of the six Virginia Beach contestants, placed second in their respective demonstration. Winners—Ruth Anne Oliver, George Lee, Donna Murphy, and Joan Skidmore. The City-Land Judging Team, of Joe Pescek, Jerry Moulton, Jimmy Brickhouse, and Ray Brodeur placed third in the District Contest.

The Virginia Beach—Chesapeake Junior Steer Show held at Frontier City was the highlight of May. Though Chesapeake had the show Grand Champion, Virginia Beach took other top honors with Theresa Pescek having Reserve Grand Champion Angus and Faye Frost taking 1st place in Fitting and Showing. The 4-H Council sold refreshments and earned enough money to provide scholarships for the 4-H camping program. May also featured the Honor Club Hayride and party in the southern part of the City.

June saw nine of the City's outstanding 4-H club members attending the State Short Course at VPI, Ruth Anne Oliver and Joe Pescek were tapped into the Virginia 4-H Chapter of All Stars.

Twenty Virginia Beach Junior 4-H Club members and four Junior Leaders attended the 4-H Camp at 4-H Camp Farrar at 85th Street from June 29th to July 4th.

In July, Mary Bungard represented Virginia Beach at the State 4-H Conservation Camp and 4 senior 4-H Members attended the Senior Camp, both held at Camp Farrar.

August could well be called International Month for the 4-H Club members of the City. We welcomed to the City, Miss Ute Ringeling, International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) from Germany. Miss Ringeling then spend three weeks each with the Paul Creekmore and C. H. Bungard families. She then joined with Thomas L. Coffman (just returned from Uruguay) and Hunter Spence (getting ready to go to Thailand) in an IFYE presentation to the 4-H Club members and their families and friends.

September saw the celebration of National 4-H Club Week, a 4-H trip to the Richmond State Fair, and the beginning of Club reorganization.

During October, club members completed their project records and turned them into the Extension Office.

4-H Achievement Night was the highlight of November, where club members and clubs were recognized for their outstanding accomplishments of the past year. The 4-H Tour of the City Hall also proved to be interesting.

In December, two new 4-H Clubs were organized in the Courthouse and Haven Heights areas. Plans were also made for the organization of a club in the Chinese Corner—Davis Corner area.

1964 was a good year for 4-H Club. Let's make 1965 even better.

The Mixing Bowl

It's Fun To Cook

SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

Glamorous Guest Treats That Take Little Time

Looking for fast but fabulous winter entertaining treats? Then Instant Mocha is your drink! It's made with the youngsters' favorite mix for flavoring milk—a luscious chocolate—quick chocolate-flavored mix. But Instant Mocha is no kiddie beverage. It's loaded with instant coffee and topped with a subtle swirl of almond whipped cream. There's a traditional Viennese cake to serve with it, a chocolate-studded Bishop's Bread, speeded up with the help of a handy mixer and semi-sweet chocolate morsels.

Instant Mocha Drink

For each serving, combine in a cup:
1 heaping teaspoon quick chocolate-flavored mix
Fill cup with hot milk. Top with unsweetened whipped cream flavored with almond flavoring.

Bishop's Bread

1 cup prepared fruit mix
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sifted almond
Combine fruit mix and sugar in bowl. Add egg and orange juice; beat hard 30 seconds. Stir in almonds, cherries, raisins, and semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Turn into a greased and floured 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan or 2-quart mold. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 55 to 60 minutes. Cool before slicing. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Yield: 1 loaf.

In there a January birthday to plan for?

No matter how many candles appear on the birthday cake, none of us ever outgrows the love of a birthday celebration. The high point always when coffee is poured and the candles are lighted—when mingling fragrances of coffee and flaming candles produce an aura of suspenseful anticipation. First a wish, then a huff and a puff as the candles go out and finally a taste of that marvelous birthday cake.

FEATHERY ORANGE CAKE

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
2 teaspoons butter
Sift flour, baking powder and salt, 3 times. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Fold in flour mixture slowly and gently. Have orange juice, rind and melted butter combined and add to flour-egg mixture. Stir gently until smooth. Spoon into lightly greased tube pan 10 inches in diameter and 4 inches deep. Bake at 325 degrees about 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake tests done. Invert pan and let stand until cool—Remove from pan and frost.

Orange Butter Frosting

4 tablespoons butter
4 cups confectioners sugar
2 teaspoons orange peel
4 tablespoons orange juice
Dash salt
Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise. Add sugar and cream. Add peel, orange juice and salt. Beat until of spreading consistency. Add a little more orange juice if needed.

French violinist Christian Ferras will appear with the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra Jan. 18.

FRENCH VIOLINIST TO APPEAR WITH SYMPHONY

NORFOLK — The brilliant young French violinist, Christian Ferras, will appear with the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra in the Center Theatre on Monday, January 18.

Called "the golden tone violinist who plays like an angel," he will be heard in Mozart's "Concerto No. 5 in A Major for Violin and Orchestra" and Chausson's "Poeme for Violin and Orchestra, Op. 25." With Edgar Schenkman conducting, the orchestra also will present Beethoven's "Fidelio" Overture, Wagner's Excerpts from "Die Meistersinger," Act III, and Tchaikovsky's "Fantasia da Rimini" (Fantasia after Dante).

Although just turned thirty-one, Christian Ferras has to his credit a record of achievement that would be the envy of a man twice his age. He has won fame on four continents and toured Europe regularly for more than a decade appearing under the batons of the most eminent maestros of the world.

An attractive young man of athletic ability and grace, Christian Ferras has the usual French attributes. His natural good looks and his irresistible Gallic charm add to his popularity.

An unorthodox violinist, he holds his instrument farther back over the shoulder and higher than most musicians.

Tickets for the Ferras concert may be obtained at the Center Theatre Box Office after 10 a.m. on the day of the concert.

Season ticket sell-outs have occasioned a new system established by the Norfolk Symphony and Choral Association. Season subscribers unable to attend a single concert cooperate in making their tickets available at the Box Office prior to each concert. Thus, newcomers to the area are able to obtain individual concert tickets. Additional funds thereby obtained from the sale of these tickets go into the Symphony Sustaining Fund.

War Movie Featured Wed.

Steve McQueen, Bobby Darin, Fest Parker, and Nick Adams star in "Hell Is for Heroes," a drama of a single action in World War Two, on NBC-TV's "Wednesday Night at the Movies," Jan. 13 (9-11 p.m. EST).

The film tells the story of one squad of American infantrymen who used ingenuity and determination to secure the first breach made by American forces in Germany's formidable Siegfried Line. The squad manages to stave off attack by ruses designed to convince the enemy that there is a large American force facing them. McQueen portrays Reese, a courageous medal winner in previous action but now aullen and bitter after losing his stripes. Darin plays Corby, the "operator" trying to ship home enough "liberated" loot to start a store. Parker (star of NBC-TV's "Daniel Boone" series) plays platoon Sergeant Pike. Adams plays Homer, a young Polish refugee who has attached himself to the outfit. Harry Guardino is cast as Sgt. Larkin. Bob Newhart as Pfc. Driscoll, Joseph Coburn as Capt. Loomis, James Coburn as Henshaw and Mike Kelkin as Kolinski.

"Hell Is for Heroes," a 1962 Paramount release, was produced by Henry Blanke and directed by Don Siegel. Richard Carr wrote the screenplay from an original story by Robert Pirosh.

Milner Guest Star Friday On CBS-TV

Guest star Martin Milner appears as an idealistic legislator who seeks to repeal the state death penalty, in "Question: What Is a Requiem for a Loser?" on "Slattery's People" Friday, Jan. 8 (10-11 p.m. EST) on the CBS Television Network.

Milner, who starred in the "Route 66" television series, is cast as freshman Rep. Scott Fleming, who submits a controversial bill to abolish capital punishment. Television actress Barbara Feldon portrays his wife and office aide, Aurora.

Richard Crenna, starring as State Representative Slattery, supports Fleming's measure, but with reservations. He tries to get Fleming to accept an amended bill, but Fleming refuses to compromise.

At stake in the struggle is the life of a convicted murderer, Eugene Henson (Warren Oates), who has asked Slattery's help. Veteran character actor Carl Benton Reid appears as Clyde Crane, influential committee chairman.

Regular cast members are Paul Geary as Slattery's aide Johnny Ramos and Tol Avery as House Speaker Bert Metcalf.

Others in the cast include Ed Prentiss, Robert Brubaker, Willard Sage, Don Haggerty and Irene Tedrow.

Foreign Stars On 'Hullabaloo'

England's Gerry and the Pacemakers, and France's Jocelyne, have been added as guest stars for the premiere of NBC-TV's musical show, "Hullabaloo," to be colorcast Tuesday, Jan. 12 (8:30-9:30 p.m. EST).

As previously reported, Jack Jones will be host and Woody Allen, the New Christy Minstrels, Joey Heatherton and the Zombies also will be guest stars on the premiere program.

Pop impresario Brian Epstein will introduce Gerry and the Pacemakers, a vocal and instrumental group, for the first "Hullabaloo, London" segment, which will be a regular weekly feature on the program. The youthful group stars Gerry Marsden of Liverpool, England, who sings and plays lead guitar. He is accompanied by an instrumental trio. Gerry will sing his latest recording hit, "I'll Be There" on the program.

Jocelyne is a 14-year-old French singer whom "Hullabaloo" producer Gary Smith describes as a "cross between Edith Piaf and Brenda Lee."

Lawford Stars On NBC Show

Peter Lawford, brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy, stars in the title role of "General Alexander William Doniphan," drama of a man who refused to carry out a military order on grounds of conscience, on NBC-TV's "Profiles in Courage" Sunday, Jan. 17 (6:30, to 7:30 p.m. EST).

Mormons, tired of being persecuted, hold a public meeting on July 4, 1838, in Caldwell County, Mo., and announce that they will fight for their rights, if necessary. General Lucas (Michael Constantine), head of the Missouri State Militia, is charged with preserving order, but Brig. General Doniphan suspects that Lucas plans to precipitate an incident so that Mormon leaders may be captured and executed.

The drama co-stars Tim O'Connor as Sidney Rigdon, Mormon orator who counsels war, if necessary; James Callahan as Major Barnes, Doniphan's unsympathetic subordinate; Paul Stevens as Joseph Smith, Mormonism's founder and prophet; Robert Emhardt as Missouri Governor Boggs, who orders out the militia; and Simon Oakland as Captain Bo-

Paul Stanley directed the drama, written by Don M. Man-kiewicz for Robert Saudek Associates, producers of the series, which is sponsored by Aluminum Limited-Alcan.

WTAR Plans Sports Award

NORFOLK — NEWPORT NEWS — WTAR Radio Vice President Jack E. Prince has announced the awarding each year of a "Cup of Excellence" to the swimmer of the year in sports. The cup will be presented annually to a Tidewater Virginia athlete whose superior ability contributed most to the outstanding sports story connected with Tidewater athletes. The recipient must be in amateur athletics and must reside in Tidewater.

The first Cup has been awarded to Thompson Mann of Chesapeake, winner of the Olympic Gold Medal in swimming in 1964. Mann set world marks in the 100 meter backstroke twice in 1964. The 21-year old Great Neck High School graduate won his gold medal as a member of the 400 meter medley relay team. He broke his own world record during the 100 meter backstroke leg of the relay.

(Opens Wednesday at Beach Theatre)

Therman Woul's full-bodied novel, compressed for the screen, depicts events and characters. The film drama concerns itself with a native Kentuckian who drives a coal-truck by day and writes at night. Acceptance of his first novel brings him to New York, where, under the guidance of his lovely young editor, he becomes a sensation in literary and social circles. But she takes the wrong place when he rushes head-long into a torrid affair with the glamorous wife of a millionaire, who accelerates his glittering career. Riding high with a Pulitzer Prize, a prospective play and numerous business interests, he is exploited by greedy promoters and deliberately misled by the disenchanted husband of his mistress. Suddenly in a series of rapid setbacks his dream collapses. Brought down to reality, he returns to the hills of Kentucky, where he can work without the distractions of his shattering life and business affairs, and find himself again. The dramatic story is told by a long roster of high caliber performers. Heading the cast, James Franciscus is earnest and sincere as the author. Jeanette is attractively sophisticated as his mentor. Page strikingly effective as the man-eating socialite. The film adds to the interest of a look at the top crust of the Kentucky theatre world.

Ocean Hiway Issues New Guide Map

VIRGINIA BEACH — Coastal areas of the Atlantic Seaboard from New York to Florida are represented in a new Map-Folder and Motorists Guide published by the Ocean Hiway Association.

The color folder includes a strip map that unfolds the entire length of the north-south Ocean Hiway. The route traverses the coastal sections of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georgia. The Florida peninsula is also included on the map.

The folder shows color views of some of the scenic, recreational and historic attractions along the Ocean Hiway. Also featured are the $200 million Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel and other new facilities.

Former Motel Bellhop Faces Theft Charge

VIRGINIA BEACH — A former motel bellhop was returned to Virginia Beach Sunday to face grand larceny charges stemming from an auto theft here in 1963.

Police identified the man as Gilbert Lowther, 23, of South Birdneck road, a former bellhop at the Gay Vacationer Motel. Lowther is accused of stealing an automobile, valued at $3,500, from Charles P. Colishiel of Toronto, Canada, while he was visiting at the Gay Vacationer in May, 1963.

Police said that Lowther fled to Indiana where he was arrested by federal authorities and charged with transporting a stolen vehicle across the state line.

He was sentenced to 15 months in the U. S. Penitentiary in Terre Haute, Ind. and was later transferred to a federal institution in Petersburg.

Lowther was free on a suspended sentence of unauthorized use at the time the second theft took place, police said. He was arrested on the first charge in November of 1962 and was sentenced to five years in Circuit Court in February, 1963, but the sentence was suspended and Lowther was put on five years probation, police said.

He was released to Detective A. E. Smith at the Virginia Beach City Jail Sunday at 3 p.m. Lowther will appear in Municipal Court for a preliminary hearing January 18.

Minister of Defense Visits Dam Neck

The Honorable Christopher P. Mayhew, Minister of Defense for the Royal Navy, is greeted by Captain John B. Balch, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center, Dam Neck, Virginia, as he arrived for an orientation tour of the Polaris training facilities and related equipments January 6. (Official U.S. Navy Photo)

Capt. Arrington Is New C.O. At Dam Neck

DAM NECK — Captain John Lindsay Arrington, II, USN, is scheduled to relieve Captain John B. Balch, USN as the commanding officer of the U. S. Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center and the Fleet Computer Programming Center, Atlantic in ceremonies at the Center Friday.

Captain Arrington comes to Dam Neck after serving as commanding officer of the command ship Wright.

A veteran of 25 years naval service, Captain Arrington was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy and commissioned in June, 1939. Upon graduation he was ordered to the battleship Idaho as assistant navigator.

After a short tour in the Idaho, Captain Arrington was transferred to the destroyer Greer. During three years in the Greer, he held every job except commanding officer, and was executive officer when detached in August 1942. He was aboard the destroyer in the North Atlantic September 4, 1941, when she became the first U. S. warship to be fired on by Germany in World War II.

During the remainder of the war, he was aboard destroyers operating in the Russell Islands, Munda, the Treasury Islands, Bougainville, two Jims, Okinawa, and as the commanding officer of the destroyer McDermut assisted in the occupation of northern Japan.

Following the war, Captain Arrington enrolled in the Navy Post Graduate School in Monterey, California where he earned a Master's Degree in Electronics Engineering. He has also attended the Armed Forces Staff College and the National War College.

He has served as staff officer of Destroyer Squadron 6, commanding officer of the destroyer O'Hare, surface operations officer for Carrier Division 18, executive officer of the cruiser Des Moines, Commander of Destroyer Division 322 and as Commander Destroyer Squadron 32 the last three months of that tour.

In December 1951, Captain Arrington became the Navy advisor to the Bell Telephone Laboratory's "Project Cosmos" at Whippany, N. J. He was promoted to his present rank in March 1958 following duty in the legislative liaison branch of the office of the Secretary of the Navy. In September 1960, Captain Arrington became the Navy member of the Plans and Policy Division of the U. S. mission to NATO in Paris, France.

The Rocky Mount, N. C. native is married to the former Cherrie Wilson of Darien, Conn. They have two children, Lindsay Anne, 16, and Christopher Paul, 6. They will reside on board the training center.

Captain Balch has received orders to assume command of Amphibious Squadron 12 at Little Creek.

C&P PLANNING

PLANT ADDITIONS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Plans for additions to two Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company buildings have been announced.

The Chinese Corner and Robbins Corner central offices will be expanded to provide additional dial equipment for the fast growing areas that receive telephone service from these two offices.

It is expected that the two central office additions will be placed in operation late this summer.

Youth Gets Reduction In Sentence

VIRGINIA BEACH — John Aragona Jr., 18, charged with reckless driving and failure to heed a police siren after a wild chase with police last February walked away with a reduced sentence after his case was appealed in Circuit Court Thursday.

The youth was sentenced to spend 10 days in jail, pay a $25 fine and surrender his driver's license for six months by Circuit Court Judge Henry W. MacKenzie.

Aragona was to spend this past week-end in jail before returning to school in Italy this week. He apparently will serve the remaining eight days when he returns from Italy next June.

When Aragona appeared in Municipal Court last March, Judge L. Travis Branch set two $500 fines, revoked his license for two years and sentenced him to 24 months in jail. One 12 month period was to be withheld for three years and the other 12 months was reduced to 20 days in jail to be spent on 10 consecutive week-ends.

Shortly after the Municipal Court sentence was passed, the case was appealed by Aragona's attorneys and has been pending since that time.

WALTER R. THOMPSON

Police Seek Escapee

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach Police are on the lookout for Walter Rufus Thompson who escaped from the State Prison Farm near Richmond and is believed headed for this area.

Thompson was sentenced last Oct. 29 to 60 years and six months on five counts of burglary and one count of petit larceny but the sentence was reduced to 12 and a half years.

Detective Lt. W. W. Davis described Thompson as a 20-year-old white male, six feet, two inches tall, weighing 189 pounds.

Thompson resided in Knotts Island before his arrest last August and police believe he may attempt to contact relatives still living in that area.

Persons knowing the whereabouts of Thompson are asked to contact Lt. Davis at Virginia Beach Police Headquarters.

GEX ANNOUNCES

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Members Advisory Council of the G-E-X Virginia Corporation, Virginia Beach, announces its 5th Annual Scholarship Program, awarding college scholarships to six outstanding high school seniors in the Tidewater area this spring.

The scholarships, open only to sons and daughters of G-E-X members, have a value of $300 each for use at any accredited college or university of the student's choice.

Council Gives Go Ahead To New Building

VIRGINIA BEACH — Apartment applications submitted to the city for approval prior to December 28 were released for construction by City Council Monday afternoon but no apartment applications will be accepted for the next 30 days.

Council lifted its 60-day moratorium that has held up construction of nearly 2,000 units totaling over $20-million. The moratorium was placed so that a code controlling the use of commercial property for apartment construction could be drawn up.

Bayside Councilman Larry Marshall proposed that the pending applications be released, proving they conform with the city's ordinances and that water and sewer facilities will be available.

Four major apartment projects have been tied up by the moratorium. They are planned for Pembroke Manor, Arlington Hall at Princess Anne Plaza, Sherry Park near Indian River Road and Hilltop.

Council lifted the moratorium somewhat prematurely since it could have kept the applications pending until February.

Applications already submitted to the city will not be affected by the new code but those not yet finalized will reportedly be forced to build outside commercial districts.

BOND COMMITTEE

Council agreed to name a 25-member citizen committee to work with the city's constitutional officers in educating the public on the proposed $8-million bond referendum.

Marshall, in suggesting the committee, said that too much "confusing" information on the issue had been passed on to the public through premature newspaper releases.

The committee will work with the constitutional officers in an effort to "properly inform the public."

Marshall also said during the motion that the officers were in "complete accord with the bond issue."

Teaching Group Votes To Offer City Salary Scale

VIRGINIA BEACH — Members of the Virginia Beach Education Association voted unanimously last week to submit a proposed teachers' salary scale to the Virginia Beach School Board. The Association's second meeting of the school year was held in Princess Anne high school auditorium.

The "Teachers Scale" unanimously accepted by the Association, representing over 30 schools in the system, is similar to the one in use now by the Norfolk School system.

If adopted by the School Board, salaries will be set up on an index which will increase each year according to the starting salary and the number of years' experience of the teacher.

This proposal also provides for increases to teachers who have at least 10 hour toward a Master's Degree; to those who have a Master's Degree working on a doctorate or PhD; and to those who have a PhD.

Pay for substitute teachers will also be increased to compare with the Norfolk system.

The nominating committee for new officers to be presented to the Association at the March meeting were named by the president, Philip Meekins. They are Mrs. Angela Wyche, chairman, Kempville Meadows school; Mrs. Joan Caldwell, Kings Grant school; Carl Peterson, Kellam; Fred Michael, Bayside; and Brad Bulla, Cox.

Frank W. Cox, superintendent of Virginia Beach schools, spoke briefly to the Association and emphasized the role the teachers will play in regard to the School Board Referendum. He said that the position of the teachers in regard to the issue must be felt by the community.

The $5-million bond issue money designated by City Council, along with Federal support, will build three elementary schools and two secondary schools, according to Mr. Cox.

TIME SAVED ONLY PART OF DISH WASHING

"By the time I scrape, pre-rinse and stack the dishes in an automatic dishwasher, I could do the whole thing by hand."

Wrong. Granted, there was a time when automatic dishwashers demanded more preparation of dishes prior to washing, but even that's been eliminated now. A recent survey showed that this modern kitchen servant saves the homemaker an average of one to two hours every day. And it does far more than just save time. The Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports the following advantages:

1. Hygienically clean dishes washed in super-heated (140-180 degree) water for maximum health protection.

2. Larger-than-ever capacity to handle all utensils and a complete dinner service for as many as 12 or 14 persons.

3. Cabinets that roll out for easy and safe loading of even the most delicate china and glassware.

4. Multi-cycle action that washes away every type of food soil — from film on glasses to drippings baked on broiler racks.

One of the features about automatic dishwashers that especially appeals to homemakers is the fact that when the dishes are removed, the tub itself is completely and hygienically clean. All traces of food particles, even of the detergents, are gone.

Plumbing contractors sell dishwashers and are glad to handle the complete installation job. They can provide time-payment financing, if desired.

Flamingo Seen At N.C. Site

MANTEO, N.C. — A pair of Eastern Greylag geese and a flamingo have been reported on the Pea Island National Wildlife Refuge located immediately south of Oregon Inlet on Hatteras Island recently.

William C. Good, refuge manager for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife stated that the Greylags were sighted on December 30 with the Greater American Snow and Canada Geese now on the refuge feeding areas.

"They are natives of Asia Minor and the pair sighted were the first reported at Pea Island and possibly the East Coast," he said. "These wildfowl common on the waters of the eastern Mediterranean are also known to migrate or move to the mountains of northern India."

The flamingo was reported by C. C. Steirly, a district forester of Virginia. Refuge officials had not seen this beautiful, long-legged bird with pink feathers whose usual habitat is the islands of the Bahamas. It was not the first reported at Pea Island.

The North Carolina book of Birds states that Samuel A. Walker, onetime manager of the Pea Island Refuge sighted two flamingo on the beach there June 23, 1937. His was the only record, until that time of flamingo being sighted north of Florida except the report by Audubon in 1815 that they were seen on the coast of South Carolina. As matter of fact they are rare in Florida except for a few hundred which are kept in an enclosure at Hialeah Park at Miami. Those had originally been imported from Caribbean islands.

Pea Island National Wildlife Refuge has attracted bird watchers from far and near during the current winter. Most of them came to see the rare Greater American Snow Geese. They also saw Canada geese, whistling swan, and a variety of ducks, coot and shore or wading birds.

The Refuge Manager's current count of wildfowl in the refuge showed approximately 5,000 Snow and Canada geese, 685 swan, 5,100 ducks of all species, and 1,000 coot. Not included in the count are similar wildfowl in the Bodie Island area north of Oregon Inlet.

TROUT, BASS OFF HATTERAS

MANTEO, N.C. — Anglers have been catching speckle trout in the surf of Hatteras Island and striped bass in the waters of Croatan Sound.

On Hatteras the best trout catch reports came from the vicinity of Avon. Charles Williams, a resident of Avon reported catching five weighing up to four pounds last Friday. "Several more were caught during the weekend," he said.

Vance Cudsworth of Manteo has reported striped bass on every trip he has made to waters near the William B. Umstead bridge between Manns Harbor and Roanoke Island.

"My best catch during the past week was nine in one day," he said. His strippers ranged from three to six pounds each.

Carl Mann, operator of Manns Harbor Marina stated this week that several good catches had been made by local anglers, including the skippers of charter boats who went fishing on their own, when they had no party of anglers to take out.

Sportsfishing has continued later this winter than in several years. Usually by early December the fishing in the surf and sounds is over until late March, but not this year. Catches were made consistently during the Christmas holidays and there were reports of more fish being caught this week.

OLD PIPE FOUND AT HATTERAS

HATTERAS, N.C.—Ephriam O'Neal displayed a clay pipe here this week which he hauled in from the ocean surf while beach fishing on the northeast tip of Ocracoke Island.

The pipe was in perfect condition and was of a style used many years ago.

The pipe was found in a netted catch of trout, puppy drum and rockfish, O'Neal and his fishing crew had hauled in from the surf.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Godwin Announcement Gets Solid Political Support

Ever since Lieutenant Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr., announced over the weekend that he would be a candidate for Governor and the Democratic nomination for that office in the July 13th primary, one after another of the State's leaders have issued statements enthusiastically endorsing his candidacy.

As of Monday morning more than 80 of the 126 Democrats in the General Assembly had issued statements in favor of Godwin. Without exception they pledged their support and their efforts to work for his election to the office of Governor.

This kind of spontaneous support by individuals who know Mills Godwin well gives every indication that he will be the overwhelming choice for Governor. The support comes from every corner of the state.

The Virginia Beach delegation to the General Assembly issued a statement in support of Godwin. Most of the other Tidewater legislators also joined in praise and support of Godwin.

Godwin's colleagues are so enthused over his decision to run that eight of 15 Democrats, who failed to support President Johnson in the recent election, announced their support of the Nansemond County attorney for Governor.

The Lieutenant Governor is a man of proven ability. He has been an outstanding lawyer and legislator and has proven himself time and again under political fire. He is a man of action and his announcement statement indicated his desire to "move Virginia forward." Mr. Godwin mentioned "without rapid educational expansion now Virginia simply will not share fully in the economic expansion of America."

Mr. Godwin has strong conviction and he is forceful. We believe that he will make an outstanding Governor.

Heart Volunteers Needed

"Your Heart Association is mobilized for the conquest of heart disease, and I urge you to join with me in aiding the Heart Fund," says General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Honorary Board Chairman of the American Heart Association, who is generally regarded as the nation's Number One "Heart Volunteer."

The former President's courage in meeting the personal challenge of heart disease has been an inspiration to all people, and one can well understand why the Heart Fund is the health cause nearest and dearest to his own heart. More volunteers are needed. Here in Virginia Beach, a representative of your Heart Association may ask you to agree to devote approximately two hours to the Heart Fund on the week-end of Heart Sunday, February 21.

Your task will be that of distributing heart-saving information and receiving gifts for the Heart Fund.

We hope that your answer will be in the affirmative.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

In Virginia Beach Circuit Court today (January 7), Judge Henry MacKenzie sentenced John Aragona, Jr. to spend 10 days in jail, pay a $25.00 fine and surrender his driver's license for six months. Aragona, 18, was convicted of reckless driving and failure to heed a police siren, traveling at speeds of more than 125 miles per hour on Virginia Beach Boulevard and Kempsville Road. The officer involved in the chase fired several shots at the car which young Aragona also ignored. In Municipal Court the defendant received two $300 fines, 24 months in jail and had his driver's license revoked for two years, with one fine and a year of jail sentence suspended. This sentence was reduced by Judge MacKenzie in his decision handed down today.

As a citizen, taxpayer and voter I would like to ask the following questions:

1. Would the sentence have been the same for anyone else—a Spaniard, a Negro laborer or a traveling salesman with five kids?
2. Will a six months suspension of license in Virginia have much effect on a driver in Italy, who will probably return to Virginia exactly six months from today?
3. How many other cases are on record of similar violations where the sentence has been so drastically reduced?
4. Was this case "too hot" for Judge MacKenzie?
5. Has justice been satisfied?

There has been a miscarriage of justice in the city of Virginia Beach. The first sentence handed down by the Municipal Court was a slap on the wrist for a very serious violation committed by a young man.

Our judicial system is in a state of collapse. The young man who was sentenced to jail, paid a fine and lost his license, is now back on the streets, ready to repeat the same offense.

ginia Beach Boulevard. Maybe the officer should have been fined for chasing him.
Respectfully,
Al Johnson

Dear Sir:

It is with a great deal of concern that I read the article in the January 7 issue of the Virginia-Pilot concerning the possibility of dropping the Rudee Inlet Development project in the proposed Virginia Beach bond issue.

Admittedly, I have been a boating and sport fisherman enthusiast for many years which, of course, enhances my interest in this project. However, my concern for the program reaches far beyond my personal interest. I am sure that if every resident of this city could foresee the benefits that would be derived by having a small craft harbor at Rudee Inlet they could join me in my desire to see the project completed.

My interest in sport fishing has taken me all along the Atlantic Seaboard to other areas where people have had the foresight to develop facilities for this sport, one of the fastest growing in the United States today. In fact, it now rates as the second largest industry in the state of Florida.

Boating industry is one of the major industries in this country. This includes the manufacturing of component parts that go along with the boating program.

Industry of today seeks areas with diversified recreational facilities to offer their employees. The revenues derived from increased tourist business alone would be a great asset to this city. While every other section of the country is spending large sums of money to attract tourist business, can we afford to bury our heads in the sand and fail to develop one of our greatest natural assets, our sports and recreational fishing and our natural harbor.

I have the greatest interest in the youth of this area and in all phases of their education and I do not underestimate the importance of our schools. However, I feel that the development of Rudee Inlet would do much to add to their education in many respects as well as provide an unequalled means of recreation for our youth during the summer months. It would also provide additional jobs to supplement funds for their education.

A previous study has proven that increased revenues from real estate taxes alone would amount to over $100,000 per year. The development of Rudee Inlet would change the tourist season for Virginia Beach from three to nine months.

I feel that it will be a great injustice to the residents of this area if the Rudee Inlet project is dropped from the proposed bond issue. My purpose in writing this letter is to convey to you my thoughts in the hopes that other residents of the City will be made to realize the benefits that will belong to this area through the development of the Rudee Inlet.

Sincerely,
J. P. Sadler

STAY OFF OF A SHELF

Man comes to this world with nothing but self.
He's much like an ornament, you pick from the shelf.
He cries, laughs, and plays. 'Til he enters teen years.

Then comes his season of frustration and tears.
He is pampered by some, and shunned by too many.
He knows he needs help; but doubts he'll get any.
With baggy knood pants, and shirt-tail extended,
He spells out rejection, and feels it all ended.

There's just one strong crutch, he needs most of all.
He needs a staunch friend, about ten feet tall.
He must hear this friend say, "I've been there myself."
"Let's fight our own battles, and stay off of a shelf."

ENGLISH FIRM IS OFFERING CRAFTS

If any builder member is bothered by a shortage of craftsmen, here's a possible source of extra skilled workers. An English firm of international personnel consultants has notified NAHB it has on file a number of applicants for U.S. jobs who have first class qualifications as joiners, carpenters, electricians, and other home building skills, and who want to settle in this country. The firm is Transcontinental Staff Agency, Ltd., 18 and 35 High Street, Beckenham, Kent, England. Should the need exist, write the firm. It would be worth a try.

What did Susan learn in school today?

Did she learn the values of thrift and responsibility? How to make dimes and quarters add up to dollars? There are some of the valuable lessons each child can learn through the U. S. Treasury's School Savings Program. By putting their dimes and quarters into U. S. Savings Stamps, thousands of American children are saving toward the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds—one of the best investments any of us can make. A successful School Savings program is based on partnership—the teacher, the child, the parent, the volunteer who make it go. Our country is a partner too—because young citizens who buy Savings Stamps are helping to keep America strong.

Yes, save more than money with U.S. SAVINGS STAMPS AND BONDS

HOPE'S TOUR ON NBC-TV

Bob Hope's "most exciting overseas trip since World War II"—a 15-day travelogue of entertaining G.I.'s in Korea, Okinawa, Thailand, the Philippines, Guam and war-torn South Vietnam—will be covered in a 90-minute NBC telecast, "Chrysler Presents The Bob Hope Christmas Special," Friday, Jan. 15 (8:30-10 p.m. EST, in black and white).

Hope will present filmed highlights of 17 scheduled shows and six unscheduled appearances during his recent Far East tour with guest stars Janis Paige, Anita Bryant, Anna Maria Alberghetti, Jerry Colonna, John Bubbles, Miss World (Ann Sidney), Peter Leeds, Les Brown and his Band of Renown and special guest Jill St. John.

The program contains highlights from three tension-filled days entertaining combat forces in South Vietnam to the splendor of a royal evening with the King and Queen of Thailand. The camera eye captured laughing faces watching the Hope troupe both in tropical heat and in a snow flurry, and the tearful faces of the entertainers when thousands of voices join in "Silent Night" near Saigon.

Entertainment highlights include Hope and Miss St. John in a song sketch "Darn It, Baby, That's Love" followed by Miss St. John doing a dance craze, "The Swim," with various G.I.'s from the audience. Miss Paige and Hope do a song sketch called "Flattery," and later Janis performs a torrid dance production "The Best Is Yet to Come."

Miss Bryant sings special lyrics to "Hello, Dolly," and in another spot, sings "You're Nobody 'Til Somebody Loves You." Miss Alberghetti sings a medley from "Carnival" and Bubbles sings and dances to "Song and Dance Man." Miss World (Ann Sidney) teams up with

Hope for a duet of "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

Misses St. John, Paige, Alberghetti, Bryant and Sidney all return with Hope for a song sketch, "Hey, Look Me Over." Miss Bryant leads the entire cast in the traditional "Silent Night."

Spotlighted frequently throughout the 90-minute show are the many surprising faces of Jerry Colonna, Hope's sidekick during 24 years of shows for servicemen.

Mort Lachman is associate producer. Jack Shea directed. Alan Stensvold was director of photography. Sil Caranchini is assistant to the executive producer, Bob Hope.

Writers include Mort Lachman, Bill Larkin, Les White, John Rapp, Norm Sullivan, Charlie Lee and Gig Henry.

The program is sponsored by the Chrysler Corporation through the Young & Rubicam, Inc. advertising agency.

MEDICAL EXPENSES SHOULD BE KEPT

A New Year's resolution for wage earners: start now to keep careful records of medical expenditures for 1965.

The Health Insurance Institute points out that such records are needed both for filing claims for benefits under health insurance policies and for justifying medical deductions on income tax returns.

The Institute recommended obtaining itemized bills for medical services and supplies. Bills that merely list your name and the amount of the charge usually are not sufficient for determining whether the expense qualifies for benefits.

'GOLF' CLASSIC STARTS SAT.

The Hebert brothers, Lionel and Jay, meet Mason Rudolph and Tommy Jacobs in a first round match of the $166,000 "CBS Golf Classic" at La Quinta Club, La Quinta, Calif., Saturday, Jan. 16 on the CBS Television Network (4:00-5:00 p.m., EST).

Sports broadcaster Jack Whitaker and golf pro Cary Middlecoff are the commentators.

The Heberts are teamed for the second straight year on the "CBS Golf Classic." Last year they lost in a quarter-final match to Don January and Paul Hane, eventual winners of the team best ball, match play elimination tournament. The Heberts are the only brothers ever to win the PGA Championship, Lionel in 1957, Jay in 1960.

Rudolph has been one of the most consistent money winners on the PGA Tour, finishing eighth in 1964 with over $52,000. He won the New Orleans Open in '64 and had a number of second and third place finishes. Jacobs' finest showing in 1964 was in winning the Palm Springs Golf Classic, played on a number of the desert courses, including La Quinta. He finished 12th on the 1964 money list with over $37,000.

Dan Curtis is the producer of the "CBS Golf Classic." Frank Chirkman is the director and Lester Lessuk associate producer.

All-Star Cagers On WVEC-TV

Channel 13 will broadcast the play-by-play action of the 15th Annual East-West All Star Basketball Game on Wednesday, January 13, at 9 p.m. The game is being played this year in St. Louis, Missouri.

Coaches for the All Star teams this year are Alex Hannum, coach of the San Francisco Warriors; for the West and Arnold "Red" Auerbach, of the Boston Celtics, for the East. Auerbach will be coaching his ninth NBA All Star Eastern Team, an honor no other NBA coach, past or present, can match. Hannum will be coaching the Western All Stars for the second time, having led the West in 1958.

While the starting line-ups for the All Star teams won't be officially announced until shortly before the January 13 game is to be played, a few stand-outs considered likely prospects include Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals, Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers, and Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics.

The play-by-play announcers for the All Star Game broadcast will be Harry Caray and Bill Sharman.

Civic Chorus Meets Tonight

VIRGINIA BEACH — Background work on the Virginia Beach Civic Chorus' spring musical, "Show Boat," has been underway for some weeks and will probably pick up momentum after the chorus meets tonight at Cox High School.

The Virginia Beach Rotary Club, sponsors of the annual event, has already sold over $5,000 in program advertising, according to Lee Chambers, president of the Civic Chorus and past president of the Rotary Club.

Mike Savvides took selling honors by bringing in $300, Chambers said.

J. B. Wood is chairman of the program committee and William Dekker is the club's chairman on the "Show Boat" project.

Musical director Charles Oliver will outline plans for the show when the chorus holds its first meeting of the season at 7:30 tonight.

Auditions for individual roles have been scheduled for next Monday. Time and place will be announced later.

Persons interested in auditioning or working on the show in any way are urged to attend tonight's meeting.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

The Virginia Committee on Colonial Records, a group of specialists in the state, has been directing for almost 10 years a search for Virginia records which already has and will continue to shed new historical light on Virginia's colonial period.

The committee's prime aim has been to restore to the state copies of official records sent back to England and Scotland during the colonial period. Most of the original Virginia historical material was destroyed before the 20th century by fire or war.

Nearly 500,000 pages of documents in British archives have been recorded on more than 800 reels of microfilm since the project began in 1955.

The microfilm include much information about trade between Britain and Virginia, military operations during the French and Indian wars and the Seven Years War, indentured servants, High Court Admiralty proceedings, and much other material on Virginia's colonial period.

"The information alters many of our old notions of colonial life and institutions," says Francis L. Berkeley Jr., executive assistant to University of Virginia President Edgar F. Shannon Jr., and member of the records committee.

"The microfilm already has been made available to scholars in all parts of the country through inter-library loan arrangements," says State Archivist William J. Van Schreeven of Richmond, who is chairman of the committee. The University of Virginia serves as the lending institution for the project.

The master copy of the film is at the Virginia State Library in Richmond and another at the records office in Colonial Williamsburg.

The records committee is comprised of representatives from the three depository institutions and from the Virginia Historical Society.

Several studies of Virginia's colonial history have resulted from copies of records already found, according to Van Schreeven. It is expected that in the years to come, the new historical resources now made available will result in many more dissertations, books and special studies.

Since 1955 until last July, when the project ceased because of a lack of funds, a scholar has been in England conducting a systematic search among the records.

The primary depository for British records is the Public Records Office in London. This is much like the United States' national archives, except that its files date back 900 years and it has been nicknamed the "bottomless well."

As early as 1939, Van Schreeven pointed out the backwardness of the state in doing nothing about the dearth of records.

It wasn't until 1952-53 that the project got its start when Berkeley, then archivist and curator of manuscripts at the University Library, spent the year in Britain as a Fulbright Fellow.

He was able to survey libraries in Scotland and England to see what types of Virginia records could be found. His reports indicated a historical-records search would be both fruitful and practical.

By virtue of Berkeley's reports, funds first were obtained from the federal commission commemorating the anniversary of the founding of Jamestown.

Much of the leadership leading to this and later support was provided by Samuel M. Bemiss of Richmond, then president of the Virginia Historical Society.

Funds also came from the state, the University, Colonial Williamsburg, the Virginia Historical Society and the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities.

Since 1958, a state appropriation had financed the project in full. But last year no funds were allocated.

There is no real way of knowing when a mammoth project such as this will be completed. "It could go on for 30 years," says Van Schreeven.

Many records remain uncopied and some Virginia scholars look enviously to the Canadians, whose records project in Britain has continued without interruption for more than 80 years.

Grant Comedy At Princess

Cary Grant has placed himself in double jeopardy.

In his current stint in Universal's "Father Goose," in Technicolor, which opens Thursday at the Princess Theatre, he has surrounded himself with two separate sets of notorious scene stealers.

Through most of the romantic adventure comedy, in which his co-stars are Leslie Caron and Trevor Howard, he finds himself competing for attention with seven assorted female moppets, ages 7 to 15.

As if that weren't challenge enough he also shares considerable footage with a wide-winged saucer-eyed pelican who seemingly gazes with utter disdain upon all non-web-footed creatures, Gary included.

Children and livestock, as every seasoned mummer knows, usually walk off with every scene in which they appear. Who has eyes for an ordinary adult when there's a youngster or pet in view?

It was Cary's deliberate choice, of course, since "Father Goose," is his own Granox production, shaped by the star from inception and written for the screen by scribe Peter Stone who put together his Audrey Hepburn co-starring "Charade," Hepburn portraying school-girl charges of Miss Caron, seen as the war-displaced daughter of a French Consul. They take refuge on a tiny South Pacific island where Cary, the sole inhabitant, is assigned as a coast watcher.

The pelican "adopts" Cary earlier in the story—when he seemingly is bereft of all companionship.

"If anyone discovers I'm even in the picture," smiles Cary, "I guess I'll be doing about as well."

LOCAL HOME IS MAGAZINE FEATURE

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Ernest H. Alderman home on Lee road was featured in a recent issue of the magazine, Virginia Record.

Called an informal but Early American type house, it contains a number of interesting innovations. Mrs. Alderman, with her interest in interior design, was able to contribute many ideas to the planning process.

William Burton Alderman, the owner's brother was the architect, and Ernest served as general contractor and did the interior design and also the work on excavating, foundations and waterproofing.

VIRGINIA BEACH — The reigning First Citizen of Virginia Beach, Richard B. Absalom, has been named to receive the annual Princess Anne Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award for 1964. The presentation will take place January 22 at the Bay Harbor Club at the award banquet.

Born in Princess Anne county in 1931, he has remained to serve the area and lives with his wife, the former Mary Lee Ward, at 3109 Basin road in Lynnhaven Colony.

The award is given annually by the Princess Anne Jaycees, and is presented to an outstanding young man, between the ages of 21 and 35, for community leadership and community service.

In the realm of civic affairs, Absalom serves in many capacities and for many worthy organizations. ### DAVIS AMONG PLAYMAKERS

MISENHEIMER, N.C. — A Virginia Beach student at Pfeiffer College, Lee Davis, in early January was a member of the Pfeiffer Playmaker's touring company of "Spoon River Anthology" presented at six North Carolina colleges.

The son of Rev. and Mrs. LeRoy Davis, 1871 Great Neck Road, he appeared in seven different roles in the anthology. First given by the Playmakers in the fall at the college, it received a warm reception.

The Playmakers, under the direction of Professor Robert Grubbs, presented performances at High Point, Greensboro A & T, Guilford, Elon, Catawba, and Salem Colleges.

Davis, a graduate of Frederick Military Academy, is an English - Drama major at the college.

Navy Truck And Auto Collide

LYNNHAVEN — A Navy truck and an automobile collided at Lesner Bridge on Shore Drive Monday afternoon but no injuries were reported.

Miller Gets Hearing In Old Case

VIRGINIA BEACH — The defendant in one of Virginia Beach's most sensational trials is scheduled to appear in Circuit Court next Tuesday as the result of a writ filed by him with the Attorney General's office.

Police said that Harold E. Miller, who is serving a 10 year sentence for the abduction and robbery of his own father, filed the writ claiming he was denied due process of law.

Miller was sentenced in 1961 after being convicted of kidnapping his father, Victor H. Miller, forcing him to sign legal documents in the son's favor and committing him to a mental institution.

Testimony during the trial revealed how Miller had lured his father to a rented cottage, bound and gagged him, jabbed him with hypodermic needles and forced him to sign the papers.

Another son located his father in the mental hospital after becoming suspicious over his disappearance and had him released.

Miller was apprehended by Virginia Beach policemen at the Raleigh, N.C. airport as he was preparing to flee the country.

Luke Witt, an assistant in the Attorney General's office, will represent the Commonwealth at Tuesday's hearing.

Planners Will Meet At V.P.I.

BLACKSBURG — All architects and planners in Virginia have been invited to attend a symposium on campus planning and design at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, February 1 and 2. Charles Burchard, dean of the College of Architecture, said this will be the first such symposium sponsored by VPI, and will involve particularly timely topics for architects who will be involved in rapidly expanding university facilities.

Two of the nation's leading architects will give a presentation Monday evening, February 1, at the opening session on "The Three Explosions: Knowledge, Population, Building—A Survey of Impact on Collegiate Planning and Design. They are John C. Harkness, The Architects Collaborative, and Jonathan King, Educational Facilities Laboratories, Inc.

Their presentation will follow registration, a reception, and a dinner, at which they will be welcomed by Dr. W. W. Brandt, Vice-president of VPI.

Tuesday morning, February 2, student proposals in graphic and model form for facilities to accommodate VPI's projected growth from 6,000 to 18,000 students will be presented. Those attending will then discuss new patterns of arrangement needed to accommodate such growth, new building forms, and architectural values.

King and Harkness will both appear again Tuesday afternoon, as will Louis Oliver, president, Virginia Chapter, American Institute of Architects, and Dr. T. Marshall Hahn, president of VPI.

Further details on the program are available from Dean Burchard, College of Architecture, VPI, Blacksburg.

Two Beach Men Hurt

KEMPSVILLE — Two Virginia Beach men were injured in a one-car collision late Monday night on Holland Road near Hershberger Farm.

Police said the injuries occurred when Alfonso Lee Owens of 1220 Americas Avenue, Virginia Beach, lost control of his car on a curve.

John Corpew of Holland Road and James Woodhouse of Sparrow Road, passengers in Owens' car, were taken to Norfolk Community Hospital where they were treated and released.

A hospital spokesman termed their injuries as "minor."

N.J. Police Hold Man Wanted Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — Walter R. Seymour has been arrested in Paterson, N. J. for the theft of an automobile belonging to his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Huttig of Coach House Lane, Virginia Beach.

Police said the car was reported missing shortly before 7 a.m. Monday and a general alarm was sent out.

By 5:20 p.m. Monday police here had been notified that Seymour had been apprehended in Paterson and charged with grand larceny.

The automobile also contained a wallet with about $85 in cash and identification papers.

Detective Lt. W. W. Davis said that Seymour has waived extradition in New Jersey and arrangements are being made to return him to Virginia Beach.

WTAR Program Depicts Growth

NORFOLK - NEWPORT News — For the second consecutive year, WTAR Radio will broadcast a series of special programs dealing with the progress of the Tidewater area.

The purpose of the series, which begins Monday, January 18, is to promote the Tidewater area as a desirable location for new industry, to familiarize the public with the importance of industrial expansion, and to give recognition to the industries already established in the region.

Numerous times each day, a WTAR Radio feature will deal with the work of the Tidewater Virginia Development Council, and the various communities served by TVDC will be singled out for special salutes.

In promoting the Tidewater region through "Operation Progress", it is believed that a greater number of business and manufacturing interests will become aware of the merits of the entire area as an industrial center.

Navy Man Charged In Assault Case

VIRGINIA BEACH — A retired Navy man has been charged with assault after reportedly hitting his wife in the head with a hatchet.

Detective Lt. W. W. Davis said that William H. Graves, 48, of Munden Point Road, was taken into custody Tuesday about 7 p.m. at his home by Det. C. O. Lambert.

He allegedly struck his wife, Thelma, in the forehead with the blunt end of a hatchet as she tried to get him ready to go to the Oceana Naval Air Station dispensary for treatments. She told police her husband had been ill for several years.

Graves reportedly tried to strike his wife again but she ran out the front door.

He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court next Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

Fire, Rescue Units Busy

The period ran from October through December.

Fire calls included 90 building, 84 woods and grass, 34 automobiles, 17 false alarms and 117 miscellaneous.

Hearing Is Re-set For Accused Pair

VIRGINIA BEACH — The preliminary hearing for Walter Joseph Smith, 29, and Roger Thomas Howard, 25, accused of kidnapping at gunpoint a Virginia Beach patrolman, has been continued until February 15.

The two Maryland men were scheduled for the hearing Monday in Municipal Court. They face one count of abduction and two counts of armed robbery in Virginia Beach. Norfolk police have also charged them with armed robbery and attempted murder.

Smith, who is an escapee from the Maryland State Penitentiary, and Howard, a parolee from the same institution, both sentenced for armed robbery, allegedly forced Patrolman J. W. Lamm to accompany them in the patrol car to Norfolk last December 28.

During the ride they fired a shot at Lamm who deflected the bullet by hitting the gun with his arm. The officer was bound and gagged and left tied to a fence inside the Norfolk city limits where he was rescued by Norfolk police.

The two men are also accused of forcing a cab-driver at gunpoint to help them flee police. They were finally apprehended after the cab driver turned down a dead-end street and Norfolk police cornered them.

As a result of the timely recommendation, the flag has been officially adopted.

Council Votes Purchase Of Needed Land

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council Monday took steps to clear the way for sewage disposal facilities for the new General Hospital of Virginia Beach which now stands about 75 per cent completed.

Council, basing its figures upon appraised values, agreed to offer two property owners $136,000 for 53 acres of land near the hospital for a temporary sewage treatment lagoon.

The property is broken down into two parcels. Thirteen acres are owned by Oscar Grinstead, et al, and 40 acres are owned by Cordelia Whitehurst, et al. The adjacent parcels are located between Great Neck and First Colonial Roads.

Council voted to offer $26,000 for the 13 acres and $110,000 for the 40 acres, the appraised values.

The lagoon will be used to serve the hospital until the Sanitation District Commission completes its Little Creek treatment plant, which may be late next year.

The hospital expects to be ready to accept its first patient by July 1, Hospital Administrator W. Earl Willis said Wednesday.

The contractors expect to be through in June and we hope to have the equipment shipped in about the same time. Then we want about a week to orient all of the employees to all aspects of the new building," Willis said.

Hardy allegedly sold the top, valued at about $200, to Rodney VanNess Towt, 20, a sailor stationed at the Oceana Naval Air Station.

Shopping Scene

The shopping man on my mind... I found the "frozen-dried" foods are those that are frozen and have moisture removed under vacuum. The product then is sealed in airtight containers and can be stored without refrigeration for long periods. I was pleased with the frozen-dried mushrooms I tried, and you have probably already come across the good frozen-dried soups.

My friend has an antique cranberry picker that makes a beautiful present. It comes in a box or is almost as versatile as the cranberry. The sure you've noticed the increasing variety of processed cranberry products available today as well as the beautiful fresh cranberries on the market now in polyethylene bags or boxes with clear windows. One new product that comes just in time to serve as the perfect accompaniment (or substitute) for holiday meals is Good Berry Cranberry-Orange Relish, now you can use it year-round. All Season Relish! And there's the "cranberry juice cocktail," white berry sauce, and jelly sauce to brighten the holidays. (Watch for low calorie varieties of these items that are or soon will be — in your place.)

After the business meeting Mrs. J. H. Grabage, a member of the club, showed slides of her trip to Canada and the state of Washington last summer. Many of the slides were of outstanding gardens.

For the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

BATHROOMS NOW MADE GLAMOROUS

Time was when the "unimentionable" room of any home was the utilitarian bathroom. But today's smart homemakers have made this "plain Jane" room so glamorous that the door is often left wide open—on purpose—to show off its bright and cheerful decor. And the wonderful part of bathroom decorating for today's moderns is that no room in the home is so easily perked up at such a surprisingly low cost.

Modern manufacturers, knowing Mrs. America's current awareness of bright, singing colors and good design, have sent storeward a host of inexpensive and attractive items which can give your bathroom a new look. Even the two most basic items—soap and toilet tissue—are now available in almost any hue necessary to complement your decorative scheme. And bathroom accessories—such as waste baskets, tissue box holders, and bowls—can be rich in decorative possibilities, if you use, for instance, one of the new "classic ensembles" in jewel-like colors, decorated with three-dimensional sculptured figures for eye appeal.

Shower curtains are no longer simply utilitarian items to keep water off the floor. These lovely "water draperies" are now available in patterns ranging from modern abstracts to an elegant fine-line French Provincial "Toile de Jouy" pastoral scene design. They are available in sleek plastics and water-proofed cottons and miracle fabrics. Or, for something dashing, try stitching a bedsheet that matches your towels between two inexpensive clear plastic shower curtains. Voila! Instant charm.

A whole new bathroom color scheme can come into being with new towels in bright, fresh hues. The broad splashes of color and design provided by these dryer-offers can be the easy and fast key to your whole new decor. This year you have an almost unlimited choice available. There is a fanciful harlequin pattern in stunning four-color combinations, a dainty floral bouquet, a dramatic Venetian lace pattern, a thick, sculptured white-on-white design, and even a red, white and blue "Stars and Stripes Forever" motif for the superpatriot.

Just for fun, try hanging those bright new towels on an interesting piece of driftwood—a novel and eye-catching towel rack. Find a piece of driftwood with several branches, sand and shellac it, and get hubby to attach it to a convenient wall.

An elegant but inexpensive set of bathroom accessories can be the "piece de resistance" in your new room. A dramatic ensemble in heavy molded plastic, in eye-catching colors, decorated with a contrasting white Grecian sculptured pattern is available in most stores. It includes an impossible-to-pass-up new idea for a bowl brush holder, actually a lidded Grecian vase with the brush built into the lid. This covered vase is so handsome that it can sit right on the dressing table. And since one of the newest trends in bathroom decorating is to "bring the outdoors in" by using growing greenery in the bath, the smart homemaker will love the sturdy Plastiware planter that is a companion piece to the bowl brush holder, the tissue box holder and the waste basket in this set.

For warm toes on a cold winter morning, how about stitching together several fluffy, oversized matching bath towels to make "pick up" cotton carpeting for the bathroom? Easy to do. Use large sheets of brown paper to make a pattern, marking the location and exact size of the bathroom fixtures and pipes, then follow your paper pattern in cutting and stitching the towels together. Apply one side of a strip of grip-on snap tape to the edges of the bathroom floor with one of the new waterproof glues and stitch the other side of the tape to the bias-bound edges of your terrycloth carpeting. While you're at it, make two: one for the floor and one for the washer. That way you can always have a carpeted bathroom, and for pennies!

Since you have to have light in your bathroom, try a simple lighting trick to make the room more flattering to the ladies. For prettier complexions, just replace all of the harsh white lights with the new soft-toned pink bulbs. And if you have a dressing table in your bath, you might design a dramatic theatrical-style make-up mirror by tacking a strand of large-sized Christmas tree lights around all four sides of a wooden-framed mirror.

With a little ingenuity, a bold hand with color, and the use of inexpensive Plastiware accessories, towels, lighting and shower curtains—you can turn your "Plain Jane" bathroom into an inviting and attractive open-door room in your home.

If you're considering buying an electric range, consider: The size of your family and the amount of entertaining you do. The space available in your kitchen for the new range. The storage space available in the range area. If not sufficient, a range with storage space in the form of drawers can be secured. Some ranges offer a speed surface unit designed to give extra high heat almost immediately once a unit is turned on. As many as 4,000-5,000 watts may operate momentarily to give a fast start. Then the wattage drops back to its regular setting. A speed unit is an advantage for short fast heating, rather than long, slow cooking. Not all manufacturers provide a speed unit.

If kitchen is small, remember a separate oven and surface units take more floor area than a standing range. The separate oven takes space which otherwise could be used for a counter. So be sure the floor area in your kitchen is adequate to accommodate a separate oven and also provide needed counter space. They offer flexibility of arrangement and the separate oven also provides the advantage of being installed at the height that may offer you the maximum in comfort, safety and convenience.

Separate ovens may be purchased in several ways: as a single oven, oven with separate broiler, double oven unit, and oven and a warming compartment. Select according to size of family and amount of entertaining you do.

Recent surveys reveal that most women do not like to shop for clothes, and want to get their shopping over with as quickly and conveniently as possible.

Because of these desires, the clothing buyer tends to buy in the first store that she visits. Usually this store is a preselected store—and it is selected by the shopper on the basis of store personality. If the shopper objects to the store personality, she will avoid it even though the merchandise there may be desirable.

The surveys show that the average woman shopper has very little systematic information about the purchases she wishes to make. She also apparently does very little comparative shopping or bargain hunting. Usually, she makes up her mind that she needs a certain garment. Then she goes to her already selected store and purchases it.

It is also surprising that most of the real bargain hunting is done by women in the higher income groups.

Comparative shopping, says the specialist, even though it takes more time, might save you money. Planning a particular purchase more carefully will make it fit better into your total wardrobe plan. Being aware of current fashion and color trends is an important part of this planning process, since what is available on the market is influenced by these trends.

A knowledge of various fabrics and their care properties also helps in making more satisfying purchases.

It is a real privilege for me to accompany Ruth Anne Oliver to the National Contest of "Make It Yourself With Wool" in Phoenix, Arizona, January 12th - 16th. Next week I'll tell you about our trip.

Have a safe weekend everybody!

Yet Un-named Organization Could Render Valuable Service . . . If

An interesting development recently was the newspaper report of a small and select group of people meeting here to form a "yet un-named organization." According to the news article the group is bi-partisan, with "no ax to grind" but simply interested in good government.

The group, according to the report, have formed to scrutinize the city government of Virginia Beach with the avowed aim of "good government." A five-man committee was chosen to work out purposes and aims of the organization.

Certainly the initial meeting and report of the purpose of the group is in keeping with the aim of all good citizens and we are sure that the city would welcome any good, sound suggestions. We believe the city administration is, and has always been receptive to constructive criticism. If this group is sincere in its avowed purpose then this newspaper can see the possibility of it rendering a valuable service to the community. On the other hand, should it become embroiled in partisan politics then its overall value to the city would be greatly diminished, if not destroyed.

One member of the group attending the meeting was quoted as saying the organization being formed will be "non-partisan" and will not field or support candidates as an organization.

We repeat that if this organization is sincere and genuinely interested in helping the city grow and prosper, then it may render a valuable service. We will reserve judgment at this time.

Peace Corps Tests Set

NORFOLK — At 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, January 9 the Peace Corps Placement Test will be given at the P.O. Building, York and Granby Streets, in Room 3A, Basement.

Approximately 800 other Civil Service testing centers throughout the United States will be administering the test on this same day, at 8:30 local time. It makes no difference where the Peace Corps applicants take their test and there is no need to register ahead of time.

Applicants must bring along a completed Questionnaire unless one has already been sent in to Washington. The Questionnaire forms are available at most post offices, from the Peace Corps Liaison on Campus or college placement offices, or they can be obtained by writing the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C., 20525.

There are two parts to the Peace Corps Placement Test: a general aptitude test and a modern language aptitude test—for which knowledge of a foreign language is not necessary. Applicants should figure on about one half hour at the testing center, unless they wish to take the Spanish or French achievement test. For this optional test, another hour should be added.

No passing or failing marks are given out, nor will the applicants ever learn their scores. That results are used, with the help of references and Questionnaires, to estimate the applicant's potential for completing the intensive training program and their ability to be effective Volunteers overseas.

Peace Corps applicants must be American citizens at least 18 years old. Married couples are eligible if they have no dependents under 18. A college degree is not necessary, but it is advantageous to complete college unless one has acquired a special skill. Many "blue collar" skills are now being requested by foreign countries.

VEPCO Gets Safety Prize

RICHMOND — Virginia Electric and Power Company has been presented a Safety Achievement Award by the Edison Electric Institute for working 2,780,485 manhours without a disabling accident.

The period covered was from August 25, 1964, to December 3, 1964, and represents the largest number of recorded manhours that Veeco employees have ever worked without a disabling injury. The period also represents the longest Veeco has gone without a disabling injury since 1939.

The Award was presented by Walker L. Cislak, President of Edison Electric Institute and Chairman of the Board of Detroit Edison Company, in recognition of Veeco's outstanding record in accident prevention in the electric operations of the company.

A. H. McDowell, Jr., Veeco President, who accepted the Award on behalf of his company, said "It was only through the dedicated efforts of every company employee that such a record was attained." Veeco was one of the few major utilities in the Southeast that did not experience a fatality during 1964.

In 1962 and 1963, Veeco's gas operations received the National Honor Award of the American Gas Association for no disabling injuries during the two-year period. There also were no disabling injuries in the Gas Department during 1964, McDowell said.

Marine Photos On Exhibition

NEWPORT NEWS — Photographers throughout the world are invited to submit monochrome prints and color slides to the 16th annual Exhibition of Marine Photography International under the joint sponsorship of The Mariners Museum and the James River Camera Club of Newport News, Virginia.

This exhibition is intended to stimulate the creation of photographs which have a maritime theme. ## Tax Refund May Be In Bond Form

When you get your '64 tax return form, take a look at Line 21 on Page 1, if you're using 1040, or Item 11 if you're using 1040A. You'll find how to hang on to your tax refund. If you're lucky enough to have one coming.

Those lines, if checked, can lead to a firm foundation for or supplement to added financial security. Which form you use doesn't matter (both give the same option of taking refunds in U.S. Savings Bonds); which line you check does.

When you check the Savings Bond line, you automatically assure yourself of two advantages: You provide an easy way of hanging on to your money and a sure way of making it grow 3½ per cent bigger at maturity.

Here's how that check-mark goes to work for you: If you're entitled, for example, to a refund of $42, you'll get a $50 face value Series E Bond (cost $37.50), plus a check for $4.50.

Businessman Criticizes CCO Group

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council was told Monday to take "with a grain of salt" any issues brought before it by the Council of Civic Organizations.

The statement came from Garland Layton, representing both the Bayside Business Men's Association and the Lynnhaven Area Inlet Civic League. Layton said in a lengthy prepared statement that the CCO during the past year has sent representatives to City Council to speak out on various issues with the understanding that they represented the entire CCO membership.

He contended that the representatives were not authorized to speak for the membership or to take a public stand on any issue. He said that if such representatives appeared before council in the future council should take the issues "with a grain of salt" unless they presented a certified resolution.

Layton was backed up in his statements by Robert Harvey of the Aragona Village Civic League.

"We joined the Council of Civic Organizations with the understanding it would be for the betterment of the city, not for personal gain," Harvey said.

Layton told a reporter after Monday's meeting that his statement was made because of publicity gained by William D. Nagg of the CCO and Bayside Attorney Charles L. Burlage. Council thanked him for his appearance and said they would take his statements into consideration.

Casting Ends For Courtyard Play Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — Casting has been completed for the Courtyard Playhouse's third production of the season, "An Inspector Calls."

After a near record turn out for the tryouts last week, the following were chosen for roles in the J. B. Priestly suspense drama:

The title role of Inspector Goole was awarded to Foy Shaw, a familiar figure in Virginia Beach theatre.

Arthur Birling will be played by Doug Fuller, a retired Navy captain who recently returned from three years in England. Sheila Birling—Deedee Jessup, seen last year in several Little Theatre productions. Sybil Birling—Liz Sills; one of the founders of this theatre group and director of the preceding show, "My Three Angels."

Eric Birling—Eddie Smith, a talented actor who divides his time between Norfolk and Virginia Beach theatrics. Gerald Croft—George Mentz, playing Sheila's fiancée and neighboring industrialist. Edna—Peggy MacArthur will play the maid.

Angela Walker will direct the psychological murder mystery which opens February 11 at the Courtyard Playhouse.

The show will play for two weekends, and advance reservations and tickets will be available by calling the box office at that time.

SCOUTS JOIN PHA IN NEW PROGRAM

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The Boy Scouts of America and the Public Housing Administration have joined forces in what is called a "Program of Cooperation." Efforts are being made to start Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer units in low-rent housing projects. The eagerness of the PHA to support and endorse this program is one measure of its worth.

This novel plan can be construed as the Public Housing Administration's equivalent of the famed Peace Corps. Anyone interested in this program can contact the executives of the Local Housing Authority or Boy Scout Council. Interested parties may also write BSA/PHA, 1123 Widener Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

FIRE WOOD BRINGS INSECTS INTO HOUSE

There's nothing like a cozy fire on the hearth to meet the chill of an autumn evening—everyone loves it, even the numerous bugs and beetles that hitchhike a ride into your home on the armful of firewood you bring inside.

A pile of cut logs stored outdoors is the natural habitat for a variety of pests, particularly the many varieties of beetles that make their home in the bark and trunk of our native trees.

These include the bark beetles, powder-post beetles, and several of their near relatives. Some varieties of carpenter ants also find pleasant homes in stored firewood.

The householder's problem is this: when colder fall weather arrives, these insects prepare for winter by nodding off into hibernating slumber in your woodpile. Brought into the house where warmer temperatures prevail, all too often they think it's time to prospect for food.

It's seldom practical to control these pests by conventional methods while the logs are stored outside, points out the National Pest Control Association—the pests just have you outnumbered.

But it does make sense to thwart them by keeping the logs and kindling outside the house until you are ready to put them on the fire.

Powder-post beetles are easily identified by the tide pile of fine powder they eject from the holes where they are working. They are fond of such items as rustic furniture, especially when it is stored outdoors in a dry protected place.

They have probably frightened more people into having their homes checked for termites, says NPCA's Technical Director, Dr.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

FOR EASY ACQUISITION

Philip Spear, than any other single insect—termites excluded. But piles of fine powder are the one sign that our common subterranean termites never leave, Dr. Spear adds.

However, piles of a much coarser powder are sometimes left by the drywood termites found in Florida and California. These pests, Dr. Spear warns, can be brought in with firewood.

Wood dwelling beetles seldom attack painted or varnished wood such as clapboards or millwork of a house. They, and carpenter ants as well, will take refuge in older houses, especially if they can find an unprotected surface. Once into the timbers of a house, they require professional exterminating service, warns Dr. Spear.

Best bet is to be careful about keeping firewood indoors too long; leave the firewood—and the happy tenants who live in it—outside where they belong!

Major Receives Second Bronze Star Award

LITTLE CREEK — Major Richard E. Mack, USA, much decorated veteran of Korea and Vietnam, has received his second Bronze Star Medal in as many months for heroic service against the Viet Cong.

In recommending this award, the Department of the Army cites action on August 9, 1963, in the Quang-Tien Province which resulted in the complete rout of the 90th Viet Cong battalion, leaving the enemy with 74 dead and an untold number of wounded.

The award also cited the major's complete disregard for personal safety during his evacuation of a wounded Vietnamese soldier while pinned down by a heavy concentration of enemy fire.

Major Mack, who served as a senior military advisor in Vietnam from October 1963 until July 1964, is presently the assistant director of the intelligence and communications department of the naval amphibious school at Little Creek. He has the distinction of being the only Army officer attached to this large, predominantly Navy command.

Shortly after reporting to Little Creek last November, Major Mack received his first Bronze Star for services connected with his Vietnam position. Rear Admiral Earl K. Crawford, commander Amphibious Training Command, made the presentation.

Major Mack and his wife, the former Miss Margaret Burke, are both natives of Akron, Ohio.

Bald Eagle Great Bird

Our national symbol is the American Bald Eagle and must be looked upon as the "great American bird." However, it has been estimated that fewer than 1,000 bald eagles remain alive in the 48 mainland states, and within recent months at least 50 of these magnificent birds were found dead or in the throes of a poisonous death resulting from pesticides.

Perhaps, the American crow, therefore, actually comes closer to being our "great American bird," for it is likely that a thousand people know him personally for every one who ever saw a live eagle.

If adapt ability, survival, resourcefulness, intelligence, and downright terrestrial savvy were the minimal qualities, certainly the American crow would have been the first to fly off with our national honor. But it has never been afforded protection, and man's hand has been raised constantly against it.

Perhaps, it was the crow's smorgasbord diet that left it unconsidered even as a "dark bird" symbol during Ben Franklin's reign. It is definitely a mosaic feeder—one study turned up 656 different foods consumed by one crow in a single year.

Among these items leading to a beneficial existence are: mice, moles, and other small rodents, carrion and garbage, miscellaneous beetles (Japanese, European Chafer, etc.), caterpillars, locusts, white grubs, cutworms, grasshoppers (New Hampshire still posts a bounty on them), June bugs, wireworms, moths, and even rats.

But tilt the globe, and we observe the crow—flicking, duck, nestlings, pheasant eggs, newly-sprouted corn, or almonds. However, universal stomach examinations have revealed that their nest-robbing habit, as in the case of Jays, is not as widespread as supposed; and experience has shown that crows may be prevented from pulling up young corn by tarring the seed, which not only saves the corn, but forces the crows to prey on harmful insects.

It becomes obvious, therefore, that the common crow should be treated only as a product of its ecological niche (status or role in a given community), and not as a scapegoat by every hunter in the land!

Henry Ward Beecher once remarked, "If men were black feathers and wings, very few of them would be clever enough to be crows." Until we know enough to understand that every good crow is not necessarily a dead crow, I am afraid Beecher's appraisal of human agency will remain uncashed.

HOME DECORATIONS

A new concept in construction material that enhances the beauty of exotic stones has been placed on the market. The material is used for kitchen counter tops, bathroom vanity tops, interior wall tile, side table tops and stairs. It gives the appearance of beautiful stones floating in a shallow pool of water.

Versatility in manufacturing to specific color combinations gives individuality to any installation with the rainbow hues of natural stone. It can be custom molded or readily cut on the job.

Automatic Dishwasher CWS-1

Match Anything In Your Kitchen

SMARTEST DISHWASHER IN TOWN — This home appliance has an unusual fabric front that matches the kitchen curtain material shown here. It is just one example of the wide variety of fronts that can be easily installed on KitchenAid built-in dishwashers through the use of an attractive stainless steel trim kit.

Will my new dishwasher match the appliances I have? Can it be matched to my kitchen cabinets? These are questions asked by most homeowners in the process of buying an automatic dishwasher. The answer to both questions according to The Hobart Manufacturing Company, the makers of KitchenAid automatic dishwashers, is that a new built-in dishwasher can be matched to almost any kitchen appliances and cabinets, curtains or even wall paper.

Here's how this is accomplished: A wide variety of Vari-Front panels are available for use on all of the company's new built-in dishwashers such as copper-tone and edged colonial tone, which match or blend harmoniously with other kitchen appliances such as ranges and refrigerators. Also available are gleaming stainless steel and brushed chrome fronts, which will give a bright new look to an older kitchen or stand out in a new kitchen design.

Of course, the old standby, sparkling white, is available, and kitchen planners point out, is the most popular finish of all. In order to match the dishwasher front to painted cabinets or the other kitchen decorating scheme, front panels are furnished by KitchenAid prime costed only so that they can be color finished locally for an exact color match. Also furnished is a select birchwood front which can be toned locally to the desired finish to match existing kitchen cabinets. With birchwood, a slender stainless steel trim kit frames the door and bottom panel.

This trim kit can also easily be used with other woods or plastic laminates supplied locally. All types of fabrics or wall paper can be used with the trim kit to match any kitchen decor. Vari-Fronts are just one of the many new features on the all-new three series line of KitchenAid built-in dishwashers just introduced.

The Superba VariCycle dishwasher, shown above, features the VariCycle in which a thermostatically controlled heater boosts final rinse water to 190° to give the housewife extra sanitizing protection against bacteria and germs.

ONION PART OF GOOD SEASONING

"As with meat, so with vegetables, few are not the better for the friendly companionship of the onion," wrote an epicure of the latter half of the 19th century. "Peas, beans, tomatoes, eggplant are not indifferent to its blandishments. If honour be paid to the first pig that uprooted a truffle, what of the first man who boiled an onion? And what of the still mightier genius who first used it as seasoning for his daily fare? Every gourmet should rise up and call him blessed."

The author penned these words long before the perfection of the several forms of dehydrated onion products which have sky-rocketed to such tremendous popularity in the last decade. The first dehydrated onions came to market in the early 1930's, but didn't become really well-known until about 10 years ago. From that time until the present more and more home-makers have discovered these convenient seasonings and purchased them in ever larger containers.

Instant minced is the newest of the dehydrated onion-seasonings family, having been preceded by instant onion powder and onion salt. Any one of these gives excellent onion aroma to a dish, but they are used a bit differently. Instant minced onion can be added dry to any dish which has sufficient liquid in it for purposes of rehydration. To replace the water removed from onion in the process of dehydration, add one part water to one part instant minced onion and let it stand for three to five minutes or until water is absorbed.

Onion powder is just that, a flavorful seasoning for sandwiches, fillings, salad dressing, dips, etc., or, for that matter for almost any dish. Onion salt may be used the same way, except that this is mixed with table salt.

The American Spice Trade Association test kitchens send us these recipes for good soups for January meals.

BANK NOTES ..... by Malcolm

DID YOU KNOW

THE WORD "BANK" COMES FROM THE LATIN "BANCA" MEANING "BELIEVE." WHEN A BANK LENDS YOU MONEY IT IS EXPRESSING THE BELIEF IN YOUR UTILITY AND ABILITY TO REPAY IT.

THE FIRST OF OUR COMES TO BEAR THE WORD "BANK" IN THE U.S. WAS THE 1854 TWO-CENT PIECE. AFTER 1854 THE WORD APPEARED ON MANY OTHER COINS AND SINCE 1900 ALL COINS MINTED BY THE GOVERNMENT HAVE BORNE THE INSCRIPTION.

YOU MIGHT HAVE HAD $1270 IN CASH IN 1962, IF ALL THE CURRENCY AND COINS IN CIRCULATION IN THE U.S. WERE DIVIDED EQUALLY AMONG ALL THE PEOPLE. IN 1900 YOUR SHARE WOULD HAVE BEEN ONLY $170.50.

Thermostat Most Important In Home Heat

If a homeowner is concerned about various members complaining that "they're not warm enough," or "too hot," the trouble may not be in the furnace or boiler. It may be in the thermostat. In fact, it may involve nothing more complicated than relocating the thermostat.

Tidewater Oil Heat Association points out some little recognized facts about thermostats that may give a clue or two to greater heating satisfaction. These facts apply to all modern automatic heating systems.

1. The thermostat can be affected quite significantly by such heat producers as television or radio sets or incandescent bulbs. Therefore, it's never a good idea to place TV or radio or lamps too close.

2. Remember, the thermostat does not show the "temperature of the room." It shows the temperature at the height at which it is installed. Since heat rises, temperatures near the ceiling are higher than temperatures near the floor. It is quite possible for tall people in a room to feel warm, while smaller people and children feel cool.

Parents Laughed At Her Ring

By C. D. Smith

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a problem. I am thirteen years old. I have had a few boyfriends. I got a boy's ring once and when I showed it to my mother and father, they laughed at me. My relatives did the same. After that, I have had no boyfriends. When I am with my girlfriends, they talk about their boyfriends and I feel out of place because I have no boyfriend to talk about. What should I do?"

OUR REPLY: You are much too young to let boyfriends—whether you have any or not—be such a problem in your life. Wait until you are older, without being guided or concerned about what your girlfriends do. When the day comes, when the right boy comes along and you really get a ring—for real—you will not find your parents laughing at you. If you have chosen wisely, if it is the "right" boy, you will find them happy for you. This great day in your life is a long time in the future however.

In the meantime, concern yourself with a happy school life and a happy home life. Enjoy growing up; it doesn't have to be painful. You can put forth the effort to do your best at school, to be helpful at home, and still have time for friends, both boys and girls. You will be surprised at how well things go if you keep everything in its proper place.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

(By Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Bldg., Norfolk, Va., at 142 West York St.)

The year 1964 marks the 20th anniversary of the GI Bill of Rights which was passed by the 78th Congress without a dissenting vote. The Bill provided six separate benefits for veterans. There—education and training, guaranteed loans, and unemployment pay—were the major benefits. The other three were job-finding assistance, military review of dishonorable discharges and top priority for the VA to build hospitals.

In the two decades since the Bill was signed into law, more than 7.8 million World War II veterans have taken advantage of the educational provision of the law, 2.2 million attending colleges and universities, 3.5 million going to schools below college level, and 2.1 million taking on-the-job or on-the-farm training. These veterans have raised their income level to the point where they are expected to repay through taxes two-and-one-half times during their life-time the $14.5 billion that the GI education program cost.

Under the GI loan program more than 3,268,000 GI loans were made to veterans. These include 4,966,494 home loans, 231,522 business loans, and 70,097 farm loans. Total amount of these loans is more than $43.6 billion, and of this total $22.7 billion has been guaranteed or insured by the VA. A direct loan program has added 175,000 loans in the amount of $1.8 billion. One out of every five, single family homes built in the United States since the end of World War II has been financed by the GI loan program for either World War II or Korean Veterans.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Maurice J. Hunger, my associate, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th Street and Pacific Avenue, on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, between the hours of 12:30 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Bright Ideas

GETTING SNAP-HAPPY PICTURES IN 1965

It's that time again... time to sit down and chart our firmly resolved do's and don'ts for the New Year. If you're a confirmed snap-shooter, here are a few resolutions to think seriously about keeping through the next 365 days:

1. Keep your camera in tip-top condition with a semi-annual check-up and cleaning. Remember, it's a precision instrument that performs better when it's given a little extra care.
2. Keep your camera loaded and clean at hand. Snap-at-the-moment shots are often the most interesting.
3. Use flash to catch on-the-spot action indoors after dark, and even during daylight hours.
4. Aim for simple pictures that tell the story quickly and clearly. Select a single main point of interest, with an uncluttered background.
5. A series of shots will tell a better story than a single shot. Besides, there's "safety in numbers" when it comes to picture-taking.
6. Make the most of your good pictures. Use them enlarged and framed to brighten walls or decorate desktops. Mount them in special "treasure books" or albums; send duplicate prints to friends and relatives; incorporate them in personal greeting cards for holidays and other special occasions.

With all your serious picture-taking resolutions now behind you, we wish you and your camera the most prosperous and happiest of New Years!

Cheddar Bread Sticks

Cheddar Bread Sticks sprinkled with coarse salt or caraway seeds are a crispy accompaniment for luncheon or dinner.

Cheese Adds Nippy Flavor To Yeast Rolls

Cheese and breads are a time-honored combination, both foods having almost as old as man himself. Evidence found in Egyptian tomb walls tells us that the ancients were skilled yeast bakers and that cheese-making, too, was a highly developed art. References show that breads and cheeses were served at emperors' feasts as far back as 2,000 B.C.

Breads and cheeses have been mainstays staples down through the ages, and still serve as the popular noon meal in many homes today. Even today, the Continental snack is a wedge of crusty French bread with cheese and fresh fruit.

Here, for a change of pace, the

What happened? In mixing the bleaches and the vinegar, this lady inadvertently released some chlorine gas in her small, tightly closed kitchen.

The moral is simple. Be very cautious about mixing any of the more powerful cleansers, such as are used for ovens and toilet bowls; mixing them with each other or with household ammonia or vinegar. Just because each cleanser is relatively safe when used alone doesn't necessarily mean it's also safe in mixtures.

The strong cleansers often are tricky to use. The package labels on can, bottle or carton include explicit directions for proper and safe use. The labels point out the potential dangers. The problem is that many householders have become so familiar with the common cleansers that they no longer bother to read the labels.

The danger of mixing household cleansers is not a major health problem, but is serious enough to warrant attention. A recent report in a medical journal showed that during a period of sixty days in the winter of

HEALTH TIPS

A 36-year-old Boston housewife cleaned her kitchen floor one evening just before dinner time with a mixture of household cleansers, commercial bleach and vinegar. Shortly after dinner the entire family became ill, with nausea, headaches, dizziness and coughing. Fortunately, everyone recovered.

Such incidents occur more frequently in winter, when houses are closed and ventilation is at a minimum, but they can and do occur any time. Cleaning any poorly vented space, such as an oven, carries a certain risk.

Of course, millions of housewives can testify that there's no harm in adding a chlorine bleach to laundry detergents and soap in doing the family wash. However, like any other household chemical, chlorine bleach should be used strictly according to the directions on the label.

The problem of the dangers of mixing various cleaning agents has only recently come to the attention of the health authorities, and the package labels sometimes do not include specific warnings. To be completely sure, don't mix, unless you're absolutely certain that you understand enough elementary chemistry to know what you're doing.

View Of Virginia Beach

By
Doris Padrick

A sparkling new occupant has taken possession of one of the sparkling new offices recently opened at the YWCA building on 30th Street. She is Carol Van Landingham, the youthful Y-Teen Director. And if enthusiasm for her work is any criterion for success, Miss Van Landingham and her Y-Teens will really "GO!"

Carol, a native of Thomasville, North Carolina, was educated in the local schools and Chatham Hall, and attended Duke University. But when education via book study smoothed her zest for life, she suddenly, and to the utter consternation of her parents, decided she would rather learn from being "on her own." Leaving Duke, she came to Virginia Beach, found an apartment and a roommate, and a job. Her interest in doing for others led her to the appointment of Y-Teen Director.

At the present time there are seven Y-Teen clubs in the various high schools. There are two at Virginia Beach high, one at Cox high, one at Princess Anne, one at Kempsville, and one at Kellam. Bayside high has not as yet formed a club. The Y-Teens are organized at the high schools by the girls and under the guidance of the director, and it is expected that more will be established as the need arises.

Carol believes that she, "belongs" to the girls and intends to be available to them any time they want her. Her office is their office and she wants them to use it. There is a bulletin board where they may post any notices, news items, pictures, anything that is of interest to them. A refrigerator sits hospitably in one corner filled with soft drinks for refreshments. Books and magazines for relaxation or study will be shared by all.

Each Y-Teen group plans their own projects, parties, meetings etc. Special events often take in all the clubs. In February, the girls have plans underway for a dinner for the advisors. In May there will be a State Y-Teen conference in Richmond. A Y-Teen Ball complete with the selection of a Queen is in the planning stage. Sometime in the summer will be the Tri-State (Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina) meeting and the National Y-Teen conference will be in Washington, D.C. later in the summer. Each club works to help raise money to send representatives of their particular group on the special trips. Classes (similar to the Ladies Day Out series) will be started in the Spring for the Y-Teens.

Her biggest ambition for the Y-Teens is that the girls will have fun and will learn that the most fun comes from doing for others. While she has had much camping experience and was the waterfront director for Camp Owania in 1963 and is a water-safety instructor, Miss Van Landingham is concentrating mainly on getting to know the girls. She says, "I think I am learning and receiving more than I am giving." What she is giving is her time, herself, her understanding, and her youth. She is only 20... the girls will love her!

CITY OFFICIALS GET LEGION MEMBERSHIP

VIRGINIA BEACH—Members of the Virginia Beach city government were made associate members of Princess Anne Post 113 of the American Legion last Thursday night at the regular meeting of the post.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Les Lam, a former post and state commander of the American Legion. He spoke on the history of the organization that was created in France after World War One.

City officials present were recognized and presented their membership cards by George Whitley, post commander.

The club house on Laskin Road has recently undergone extensive improvements and a new club room has been added.

'Teenage Guide' Ready For Distribution After Much Hard Work

VIRGINIA BEACH — "A parent's example is more important than anything they can say." This one sentence pretty well sums up the findings of the Virginia Beach High School Parent League's recent study on teenage behavior.

Compiled into a booklet entitled "Teen-Parent Guide," the study was conducted by the league in cooperation with the Student Cooperative Association and other interested students and was patterned after a similar Norfolk study.

The student committee was composed of Sam Sykes, chairman, Linda DeLeon, James Stivers, Carolyn Newnam, Janie Waller and Lynn Williams. League representatives were Mrs. John Waller and Mrs.

New Group Organizes

BAYSIDE — According to William D. Nagg, past president of the Council of Civic Organizations for the city of Virginia Beach, a small and select group of people met Friday night, at the Cavalier Hotel, to form a "as yet unnamed organization." The group is bi-partisan, with "no ax to grind" but simply interested in good government.

There is no indication that things are not alright, but this group plans to look into certain matters.

The following committee was formed to work out purposes and aims for the organization: Charles Burlage, Harry Hicks, Michael Henry, Robert Furness Jr., C. A. Mowry was appointed chairman to look into the special study for civil service.

Nagg was elected chairman of this newly formed organization and Mrs. Edna Chapman was named secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting will be held sometime in February.

Douglas Hubbard.

The booklet was distributed to the students Monday and to the parents Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the league.

It stresses that while the outside world changes continually, the inside changes very little and the same test of values confronts today's generation as well as it did the generations preceding them.

Since no other guide books will be distributed until an open house at the school next month, some of the highlights are reprinted here:

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES
Social events should be scheduled on weekends during school months (except sports events) and girls may attend school events unescorted. Parents should chaperone every party, set and adhere to time limits, verify locations and transportation, keep track of their children's comings and goings, open their homes as much as possible and always be able to be contacted. Young people should practice courtesy, respect others and property, assist parents in planning, preparing and cleaning up for and after parties and in keeping the party and participants under control at all times.

DATING
Dating among eighth and ninth graders should be limited to well chaperoned group gatherings, preferably in the home under careful scrutiny of parents, and set time limits should be rigidly observed. Tenth and twelfth graders may have more freedom but should get home by agreed time (within hour after event is over); respect date, parents and home; dress appropriately; and always contact parents when there is a delay. "Going steady" is discouraged, drinking is prohibited and "lights out" is not acceptable although soft lighting is permissible.

TELEPHONE
Both parents and students should limit telephone conversations to 10 to 15 minutes, except on occasions, and calls should not be made after 9 p.m. unless absolutely necessary.

MOVIES
Parents should keep abreast of the current movies to know of their suitability and students, though encouraged to consult with parents, should use their own judgment in selecting films to be seen. One movie a week, preferably on weekends, is sufficient unless more than one outstanding film is scheduled during the week.

DISCIPLINE
Restrictions, taking away of privileges and parental disapproval seem the best punishments but discipline should be firm, fair and consistent, never done in anger or undue haste. Compliments and occasional treats are recommended for good grades rather than material rewards and punishment for poor grades is discouraged unless caused by lack of study. Cause and correction of poor grades are more important than punishment.

SMOKING
Parents should discourage youngsters experimenting with smoking by pointing out that it is prohibited in most schools, materials can only be bought illegally by minors, is detrimental to the health and cheapens the appearance.

FINANCES
Allowances, set through family agreement, assist the students to develop in economic maturity while sharing in the financial resources of the family. Costly dates should be kept to a minimum.

TV AND RADIO
Neither is recommended during study hours since quiet surroundings make concentration easier. Students must assume responsibility for doing their homework regularly.

OBSCENE LITERATURE
It should be the parents' duty to keep a close watch on what their children read and if any obscene material is received through the mail it should be reported to the child's minister, priest or rabbi and directly to the Post Office.

HONOR CODE
Stealing or cheating not only degrades the student but reflects on the school and offenders must be dealt with severely.

SCHOOL SPIRIT
Pride in the school's appearance and reputation creates school spirit and encourages students to obey the rules, strive for academic excellence and contribute in every way toward the school's progress.

APPROPRIATE DRESS

Students should use their own judgment on social dress but for school girls should wear properly fitted simple dresses or sports clothes with flat heels, no extreme hair styles or excessive jewelry and little make-up. Boys should wear properly fitted sports clothes with shirt tails tucked in, socks and shined shoes.

DRIVING

Emotional maturity is of prime importance to teen-age drivers and surveys show that grades usually drop sharply when high school students have daily use of a car. A qualified driver training course, as offered in the schools, is encouraged. Parents are urged to set a good example in observing traffic laws and courtesy, keep cars in safe driving condition and carry sufficient insurance. Students should assume some responsibility in maintenance, care and operating costs. If they use the car and operating costs if they use the car and should realize that such use is a privilege, not a right.

SORORITIES & FRATERNITIES

These social organizations are not sponsored by the school board or any public school and such groups are requested to conduct any activities away from the school.

MOVIES
Parents should keep abreast of the current movies to know of their suitability and students, though encouraged to consult with parents, should use their own judgment in selecting films to be seen. One movie a week, preferably on weekends, is sufficient unless more than one outstanding film is scheduled during the week.

DISCIPLINE

CREW REACTIVATING SHIP AT LITTLE CREEK AMPHIB BASE

LITTLE CREEK — The crew of the amphibious high speed transport USS Earle B. Hall (AFD-107) is hard at work on a fleet reactivation of the USS Kirwin (AFD-90).

Fleet reactivation is a Navy term which means that the crew of the ship does a job similar to one that would be accomplished in a shipyard with one primary difference: fleet reactivation costs the Navy a great deal less.

But to the crew of the Hall the reactivation of the Kirwin means much more. When enough of the job has been completed, they will leave the Hall and move into the Kirwin. It will be their ship, and because they helped rebuild it they will know their ship from the welds in the deck plates to the tip of the mast.

The Hall's crew, with assistance from the amphibious repair ship USS Krishna (ARL-38), has taken on the enormous task of removing every piece of gear from the Kirwin, replacing the outmoded with up to date equipment and modernizing her spaces to meet the needs of those who will work and live in them.

Lieutenant Commander Thomas R. Cotten, Jr., captain of both the Hall and Kirwin until the job is completed, said in regards to the work being done, "There are thousands of particular problems. What we are trying to do is activate a ship which has the same equipment it had in 1945. The biggest problem we've had is determining the exact status of the Kirwin and planning its modernization."

The Kirwin spent approximately 45 hours under way on the high seas in 1946 and has since been packed away in "moth balls" at Orange, Texas.

Some of the jobs to be done before the ship is ready to steam are rebricking the boiler and partially replacing its tubing to insure proper steam pressure to drive the screws (propellers); removing the outmoded radar gear from the Kirwin and replacing it with that from the Hall; removing the two huge booms and their supporting structure which were installed on the Kirwin as original equipment.

In many cases the electrical wiring and equipment will have to be replaced to handle the load of modern equipment. The majority of the ship's spaces, if not all, will have to be repainted after the cutters, welders, chipers and sanders have completed their jobs. The decks will be tiled and much of the plumbing rearranged or replaced to bring the Kirwin's living spaces up to 1965 standards.

Much of the equipment aboard the ship which was new to the sailor of 1946 is now obsolete and will have to be replaced. The multitude of problems which must be solved by the crew is comparable to those a group of men would face if they began modernizing a small town, un-operational about July 1.

City Sets Record In Building

VIRGINIA BEACH—Building values on permits issued here last year topped $60 million—an all-time high for a single year.

The number of building permits issued was 3,359, highest since the previous record of 3,521 in 1955.

John E. Gibbs, city supervisor of inspections, said the building values on last year's permits totaled $60,183,085.

This was nearly $16 million above the previous annual record of $44,353,193 set in 1963, when the city issued 3,165 permits.

Haven Heights 4-H Club Is Organized

HAVEN HEIGHTS — The Haven Heights Community 4-H Club was organized in December and held its first regular meeting recently at the home of Mrs. A. P. Fentress.

The officers of the new club are Debbie Daughtry, president; Keith Kwitchoff, vice-president; Denise Roberge, secretary; Renee Hudgins, treasurer; and Jeanne Harris, reporter. Mrs. Shirley Barnes and Mrs. Edith Roberge are the leaders of the Club.

The meeting was called to order by Debbie Daughtry, and opened with the Pledge to the United States Flag, 4-H Pledge and Devotions. The Club voted to have each member pay 15c dues per month to be used for refreshments and 4-H supplies.

C. F. Lay, Assistant Extension Agent, passed out record books for the Cooking, Sewing, Gardening, and Small Engines projects and explained project requirements.

After recreation and refreshments, the meeting was closed with the 4-H motto "To Make the Best Better."

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Fentress' on February 1, at 6:30 p.m.

SOUTHERN STATES HOLDS MEETING

RICHMOND — Southern States Norfolk Service, Inc., was represented by L. Belmont Williams, manager, at a Southern States Regional Agency Conference held at John Marshall Hotel, last week.

Called "Operation Springboard," the conference was held for training and informing agency personnel to prepare them for maximum service to the cooperative farmer-owners in the coming spring season.

Catholic School Dedication Is Set Sunday

VIRGINIA BEACH — The new St. Gregory Elementary Catholic School and Convent, will be dedicated by Bishop John D. Russell, D.D. of Richmond, on Sunday, at 4 p.m. Following the dedication ceremony, Bishop Russell will celebrate a Low Pontifical Mass and a sermon will be delivered by Archbishop Rembert Weakland, O.S.B., D.D. of St. Vincent's Archdiocese, Latrobe, Penn.

After Mass, open house will be conducted followed by a buffet.

The parish of St. Gregory the Great was founded in August 1957 by the late, beloved director of Barry Robinson Home for Boys in Virginia Beach, Father Urban Lux, O.S.B. At that time, Masses were conducted on the grounds of the home in St. Benedict's Chapel. In 1958 Bishop Russell assigned Father Damian Abbaticchio, O.S.B. as pastor. Father Paschal Kneip, O.S.B. arrived in 1960 as assistant pastor.

Since that time, the parish has grown and prospered. A building program of some $150,000 was pledged in 1959 and the cornerstone was laid for the present temporary church. Besides the temporary rectory, which was a private home on the fourteen acres of property, and the temporary church and social hall, the school and convent are, now a reality. Future expansion plans include a permanent church which will seat 2,000; conversion of the present church to a gymnasium and auditorium, an athletic field and a new rectory.

The new school which is of Early American architecture, has an enrollment of 190 pupils in the first and second grades of a gradually expanding program which will add two grades each year until the full eight grades are established.

The convent will house the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary who are presently teaching school under the direction of Mother Marie Gerald, L.H.M.

Father Damian has extended a cordial invitation for all to attend the dedication ceremonies and open house at 4 p.m., Sunday.

Phone Rates Coming Down

RICHMOND — The State Corporation Commission announced today that long distance telephone rates will be reduced within Virginia. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company has been requested to file new intrastate toll schedules, effective February 1, 1965, that correspond to the time pattern periods for which reduced rates will apply, as of the same date, to interstate calls.

The revised schedules involve three significant changes in C. & P.'s toll rate structures. First, the lower rates now applicable after 9:00 p.m. become effective an hour earlier. This means a C. & P. subscriber will be able, between 8:00 p.m. and 4:30 a.m., to make a 3-minute station-to-station call anywhere in Virginia for $.50 or less and anywhere outside Virginia, within the continental United States, for $1.00 or less.

Second, these reduced "After 8:00" rates will apply to toll traffic all day Sunday.

Third, reduced rates will apply on Saturday. The 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. night rates will become effective from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. under the new schedules. These lower rates will apply to Saturday for the entire day, 4:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.; and also on Thanksgiving, Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

Nancy's lonely. Nobody bothers with her much these days. Mommy's always sad and upset. And when Daddy's home, the quarreling and shouting make Nancy so frightened that she hides. She couldn't put it into words, but she knows that her safe little world has fallen to pieces.

The number of broken homes grows every year. Mutual affection and mutual interests are good reasons for marriage, but they are not enough. Our ancestors used to hang the framed words "God Bless Our Home" over the mantel because they knew that He must be a member of every closely knit family circle.

No matter how difficult a marital problem may seem, it can be solved with God's help.

Church membership and regular church attendance do much to strengthen and enrich family ties. Bring your family this Sunday. Every member, from the oldest to the youngest, will be welcome.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a home of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are few sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hello folks. During the past few months the Extension Office has had many people calling asking how they could get their children into the 4-H program, so I will devote this column to an explanation of how one can become a 4-H Club member. There are two ways—(1) You can join an already existing 4-H Club, or (2) You can help get a new club started.

How to Join an Organized 4-H Club

You can join an existing 4-H Club by calling or talking to the leader, president, or any one of the members of the Club. There are eight community 4-H Clubs in the City of Virginia Beach. For your convenience, I will list the organizational leader, president, and meeting date of each Club.

You Can Form a 4-H Club In Your Community

If you don't live in one of the communities mentioned above, you may want to help form a club in your community. This can be done by getting 10 or more young people between the ages of 10 and 19, and several adults to serve as leaders. 4-H is for youth in the city, as well as for rural youth. A member of the Extension staff will help you get your club organized. Call us at City Hall, 426-6111, Ext. 6, or come in and see us.

4-H is an informal educational program built around the home and family and we know you will enjoy being a member if you are between the ages of 10 and 19, and if over 19 years, can serve as a leader. Let us help you get a Club started.

Ford Plant Expansion Is Underway

NORFOLK — Construction is under way at the Norfolk assembly plant of Ford Motor Company on the second major expansion project within less than a year under a multi-million dollar program at Virginia's only automotive manufacturing operation.

James K. Ronson, plant manager, said today that the general contract was awarded to H. F. Campbell Company of Detroit on a 130,000-square foot addition to the Norfolk plant and that upwards of 200 workers will be engaged in the construction project.

Only last summer, Ford had completed an 18-month expansion and modernization program in time for opening production of the 1965 model Ford cars and trucks at a cost in excess of $10,000,000. That work increased the plant square footage by more than 40 per cent or by some 230,000 square feet. The new addition will raise the plant's total covered area to more than 800,000 square feet.

"We expect to complete our new building by June 1, well in advance of production of the 1966 Ford cars and trucks," Mr. Ronson said. "At least 90 per cent of the work will be performed by local sub-contractors using local craftsmen, according to established Ford Motor Company policy."

"The new structure, to be located on the southeast corner of the plant area, will complement our recently expanded and modernized production facilities and will provide needed loading and material handling area leading directly to assembly operations," he said.

The 250 by 520 foot building will be of steel, aluminum and reinforced concrete construction and will have an overall height of 30 feet, with an interior vertical clearance of 24 feet. Provisions will be made for future installation of traveling cranes for overhead material handling. Flooring will be of six-inch reinforced concrete.

The building will have roof-mounted heating and ventilating units and automatic sprinkler fire protection. Lighting will be provided by fluorescent fixtures.

Material will move into the new plant addition via the Norfolk and Western railroad and by motor trucks. A floor level train unloading dock will be constructed in the east side of the building and a two-truck loading well will be built on the north side for handling less-than-carload shipments.

Mr. Ronson said that all lead-in and unloading operations will be performed with mechanical equipment. Material will be loaded aboard trains of specially designed dollies and towed into the plant by motorized tractors for distribution to assembly areas.

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

"ARE YOU SAYING GOOD-BYE TO AGRICULTURE?"
(Reprint from Hoard's Dairyman)

Today, farming is just one phase of agriculture. Modern agriculture consists of a great five-member team—the farmer or producer, the farm production supply and service firms, and processors of agricultural products, the wholesalers, and the retailers.

Without giving it much thought, we can quickly see how agriculture has changed since grandpa's time. Production of food and fiber wasn't specialized then. Markets were close by. Pickles were sold from barrels, meat with the bone left in—packaging and processing were kept to a minimum. Today's situation bears little resemblance—fresh fruits and vegetables year around, TV dinners, huge supermarkets, specialized farms. All of agriculture has changed. Back in 1910, farms employed 11 1/2 million people. Although the population had doubled by 1960, just 7 million found employment on the farm. Even more striking, only about 1 1/2 million farmers are currently producing 95 percent of the nation's food supply.

At the same time that on-the-farm employment is dropping the number of people hired in agriculture-related positions is increasing. Estimates show up to 40 percent of our nation's working force employed in some phase of agriculture. Unbelievable? Well, almost—until you stop to think about it.

Agriculture is basic. Everything we eat (except salt) and practically everything we wear (except jewelry) comes from agriculture.

A huge neon telegram at the World's Fair in New York City dramatically displays how fast our net population is increasing. About every 10 seconds the population on the big board increases by one. This means at breakfast this morning, there were nearly 8,000 more mouths to feed than at breakfast yesterday. Instead of getting smaller, agriculture must keep growing every year.

You, no doubt, have heard the term "agri-business." It's fairly new coined just a few years ago. It is defined as: "The sum total of all operations involved in the manufacture and distribution of farm supplies; production operations on the farm; and the storage, processing, and distribution of farm commodities and items made from them."

The chain of agricultural occupations starts with the suppliers to farmers—those who manufacture, sell, and service such things as machinery, fertilizers, chemicals, and feed; of who provide credit, insurance, and technical services. Farmers are the center link. They are the producers of raw material. The third link includes the hauling, processing, and distribution of agricultural products.

Just listing the jobs available in the various fields of agriculture business would fill this column. Eight major fields of agriculture with more than 500 distinct occupations can be listed:

1. Research — Improved feed additives, insecticides, and fertilizers are currently being used and will be needed even more in the future to increase production sufficiently to feed our growing population.
2. Industry — Think of all the machinery, equipment, supplies, and materials the farmer and the rest of the agricultural industry purchases and uses annually. To provide these goods and services, qualified and trained young men and women are needed.

3. Business — Farm management, banking and farm credit, custom services, grading and packing agricultural commodities, storage and warehousing, and distribution of feed and farm supplies provide excellent careers in the business world.
4. Education — Extension agents, college agricultural extension specialists, and vocational agricultural teachers help keep farmers, 4-H'ers, and farm boys up to date in the vast field of agriculture. To keep pace, today's farmer must keep abreast of the latest practices and ideas in agriculture.
5. Communications — Farm radio and TV broadcasting, newspaper and magazine editing, and advertising are some of the better known positions in agribusiness communications.
6. Conservation — Safeguarding our natural resources and recreational facilities is an increasing task. Trained specialists are needed in many phases of conservation — soil, water, forest management, park development, and fish and wildlife management.
7. Technical Service — Veterinarians, foresters, farm management counselors, and credit advisors work in this phase of agribusiness.
8. Farming and ranching — Dairy, livestock, crop, and truck crop farming all come under this general heading.

Of course, each of these fields covers a far greater area than the possibilities suggested above. And within each, there are opportunities for people with varied interests and levels of education.

Then why not take advantage of your farm background rather than think of it as a drawback as many young people are prone to do? You have an advantage over many young people. You already have job experience in some agricultural occupations. Through growing up on a farm, and working at home, you have had occasion to become familiar with many of the agriculturally related and professional careers.

The proportion of farm and nonfarm students enrolled in agricultural colleges across the country is quite surprising. According to a recent survey, 93 percent of the agriculture students in Rutgers were nonfarm youths. The figure is high in the farm states too; 60 to 65 percent at Iowa State, 50 percent at Ohio State, and 35 percent at Oklahoma State did not come from farms.

There simply are not enough trained farm youths to fill all the jobs. Only about 8,000 to 9,000 graduates (including non-farm ag students) are available each year for the 15,000 agribusiness jobs. Therefore, city kids—with little knowledge of agriculture—are being recruited to fill the thousands of vacancies.

Think of the years you already have had toward a vocation. Be smart and capitalize on this knowledge by taking four years of vocational agriculture in high school. Vo-ag training not only helps prepare you for the technical farming business of today, but also for the many off-the-farm jobs in agribusiness. If you are considering college, or are already in college, agriculture may be your best bet.

Cross Streets At Corners Or Crosswalks

In conjunction with the regular, traffic-safety education program carried out in elementary and junior high schools in our area, Frank Cox, Local Director of Tidewater Automobile Association, today called attention to the important pedestrian practice of crossing streets only at corners and pedestrian crosswalks.

"Like most things in our surroundings," stated Mr. Cox, "we are prone to take for granted and actually not notice the numerous devices that are placed at corners for the safe movement of traffic. The greatest number of pedestrian accidents occur between intersections—away from a protected crossing. Perhaps if we all take one good look at the effort, engineering, and expense of equipping an intersection with safety devices, logic itself would impress upon us the importance of crossing streets at intersections."

AAA recommends that, when crossing at a signalized intersection, pedestrians develop the habit of waiting for a "fresh" green light in order to cross the street without being trapped in the middle of the street.

What did
in school today?

Did she learn the values of thrift and responsibility? How to make dimes and quarters add up to dollars?

These are some of the valuable lessons each child can learn through the U. S. Treasury's School Savings Program.

By putting their dimes and quarters into U. S. Savings Stamps, thousands of American children are saving toward the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds—one of the best investments any of us can make.

A successful School Savings program is based on partnership—the teacher, the child, the parent, the volunteers who make it go. Our country is a partner too—because young citizens who buy Savings Stamps are helping to keep America strong.

The handsome, successful young bachelor listens sympathetically to the marital woes of the middle-aged next-door neighbor, who is also loaded. Scene is from "Sex and the Single Girl," new Warner Bros. comedy in Technicolor which opens January 20 at the Beach Theatre. Tony Curtis, as the bachelor, and Henry Fonda, as the neighbor, star in the new release, together with Lauren Bacall, Natalie Wood, Fran Jeffries, Leslie Parrish and Mel Ferrer. The film was directed by Richard Quine and produced by William T. Orr.

CURTIS STARS IN HILARIOUS MOVIE

How could Hollywood turn Helen Gurley Brown's book, "Sex and the Single Girl," into the hilarious film which opens Wednesday at the Beach Theatre?

This question now is being asked in English, Japanese, German and 27 other languages, for Miss Brown's runaway international bestseller is, of course, a non-fictional primer for single women on the vital subject of attracting men.

How was Warner Bros. able to film it?

First, the studio purchased the screen rights to one of the most "pre-sold" titles of modern times. Next, Joseph Heller, the brilliant author of "Catch 22," was commissioned to write a screenplay, his first. Heller's screenplay, written with David R. Schwartz, turned out to be a zany comedy.

Richard Quine, who led the filming of "The World of Suzie Wong," "The Solid Gold Cadillac" and dozens of other distinguished films, directed the Technicolor comedy. William T. Orr, one of filmdom's most astute young executives, was producer.

An outstanding cast was selected, led by Tony Curtis, Natalie Wood, Henry Fonda, Lauren Bacall, Mel Ferrer, Fran Jeffries, Leslie Parrish, Edward Everett Horton and Count Basie and his orchestra.

Featured roles were assigned to Larry Storch, Stubby Kaye, Howard St. John, Otto Kruger, Max Showalter, William Lantieri and Helen Kleop.

Curtis, in his 40th starring screen assignment, plays the bachelorette but bright young managing editor of a sensational magazine. Curtis, who off-screen owns six automobiles, drives his own 1937 Bentley in exciting chase sequences.

Miss Wood is seen as Dr.

THE FIZZLE FAMILY

'House Party' In 20th Year

"Art Linkletter's House Party" marks its 20th anniversary on the air this month.

Created by Linkletter and his business partner, John Guedel, the weekday series had its first broadcast on Jan. 15, 1945 on the CBS Radio Network. It started its 13th year on the CBS Television Network Sept. 1, 1964.

Comedian Ken Murray and singer Gogi Grant will be the guests on the program's 20th anniversary broadcast, Friday, Jan. 15 (2:30-3:00 p.m., EST). Special programs in celebration of Linkletter's fifth of a century on the air are being planned for the week following Jan. 15. These will include such features as introducing, in the "kids' spot," children whose parents appeared in the same program feature when they were youngsters.

Some of the show business personalities who had their first network exposure in the "showcase" section of the program will return during that week to help Linkletter celebrate.

During his Jan. 15 visit, Ken Murray will show "home movies" he filmed in 1945. Gogi Grant will sing a 1945 hit song.

NBC Sports To Offer Varied Sites

The crisp, clear air of a German ski resort and the steaming semi-tropical swamps of Florida will be the sites of the action when "NBC Sports in Action" makes its debut on the NBC-TV Network, Sunday, Jan. 17, 4-5 p.m. EST.

Featured events on the premiere of the network's full-hour weekly sports series will be the ski-jumping championships at Oberstdorf, Germany, and the Swamp Buggy Races ("the dirtiest sport in the world") at Naples, Fla.

Jim Simpson is host-commentator for the series which is produced by Stuart Schulberg.

The opening of the program will show Simpson arriving in Oberstdorf in a sleigh drawn by two horses, and color cameras will follow him on a tour of the famous German resort town.

Included in the initial segment will be interviews with the three Americans who competed in the international events: John Balfanz, Jay Martin, and David Hicks, who, in winning third place, became the first American ever to place among the top 10.

The jumping contest, itself, will be seen via black and white TV tape, and will include performances of the three Americans as well as those of the winner, Torgeir Brandtzaeg of Norway, and the runner-up, Peter Kowalenko of the U.S.S.R.

Augmenting the intrinsic drama and excitement of the jumps, NBC Sports cameras catch close-up views of the jumpers as they pause at the top of the run for the take-off, and microphones lining the ramp capture the sound of flying skis as they whip up speed before their flight into the air.

The closing portion of the Oberstdorf segment also will be in color.

In the second half of the premiere of "NBC Sports in Action," NBC Sports color cameras will swing to the 19th annual Swamp Buggy Races where form and distance give way to power and driving skill under the worst of driving conditions.

A swamp buggy is a vehicle designed to transport hunters and fishermen into the muddy, stump-strewn terrain of the Florida Everglades. They have huge rear tires, high axles, and virtually water-proof engines.

The races consist of several heats over the "Mile of Mud" course at Naples, with the winners then pitted against each other for the title of "Swamp Buggy King." Caught in action will be such individualistic swamp buggies as "Boomerang," "Trouble," "Spider Man," "Spastic Grasshopper," "Raindrop," and "Half-Fast."

In addition to covering the races themselves, NBC Sports cameras will follow Simpson as he rides a swamp buggy into the Everglades, explains how they are used, and sights a wild boar plowing through its swampy habitat.

Sheila Dehner, glamorous 18-year-old daughter of John Dehner, is cast in an episode of "The Baileys of Balboa" filmed for broadcast later in the season on the CBS Television Network. Dehner is regularly featured as Commodore Wynton in the comedy series, seen on Thursday nights (9:30-10:00 p.m., EST).

Chad and Jeremy, popular shaggy-haired British singing duo, appear as themselves in an upcoming satire on the current look in pop singers, on "The Dick Van Dyke Show" on the CBS Television Network (Wednesdays, 9:00-9:30 p.m., EST). Episode title is "The Redcoats Are Coming."

Stars Shine On NBC Show

Stars of television, screen, stage and records — Lorne Greene, Angie Dickinson, Jack Gilford, and The Ray Charles Singers — will join in a rollicking tour of "Allan Sherman's Funland," to be collocated on the NBC-TV Network Monday, Jan. 18 (9-10 p.m. EST).

Sherman will take guests and viewers to such far-out places as Alphabet Land, Censorship Land, Choreography Land, Sponsor Land, Western Land, If Land, Song Land, Television Land, Thank You Land, and Word Land, in this comedy-musical special.

"Allan Sherman's Funland" is the NBC-TV Network's second "sneak preview special" of the 1964-65 season, and is envisioned as a possible half-hour weekly series for 1965-66.

Sherman opens the show with "Born in a Bed," a comic account of his beginnings. He then takes Gilford on a tour of Alphabet Land, where the two become acquainted with the 26 letters of the alphabet, represented by the choral group.

Sherman, Greene, Miss Dickinson and Gilford visit Censorship Land, where they pass a few well-chosen words. Sherman then makes a quick personal trip through Choreography Land.

After exchanging a few words about Sponsor Land with Miss Dickinson, Sherman ventures into Western Land with Lorne Greene.

Greene—who stars as Elton Cartwright on NBC-TV's "Bonanza"—sings his record hit "Ringo," backed by the Ray Charles Singers. Sherman follows with a parody of the number.

Sherman and Greene take another look at Alphabet Land. Then they are joined by Gilford and Miss Dickinson for a long look at If Land.

Next, Sherman and Gilford cross Alphabet Land on their way to Song Land. Sherman voices musical thoughts of his own, and Gilford does a musical pantomime of "You Always Hurt the One You Love," backed by Ray Charles and The Ray Charles Singers.

The four stars—Sherman, Greene, Miss Dickinson and Gilford—are reunited as a "monster quartet" in Television Land, for a comic comment on the current TV season. Ray Charles and the choral group provide the

Work Starts On Showboat

VIRGINIA BEACH — The launching season of "Show Boat," the April production of the Virginia Beach Civic Chorus, was held last Tuesday at Cox High School. Director Charles Oliver announced that auditions for singing and dramatic roles will be held at the Cavalier Hotel starting at 7:30 p.m. on Monday.

The Kern-Hammerstein musical, to be presented in five performances April 27 - May 1, at the Princess Anne High School, was backed by the Rotary Club of Virginia Beach, which sponsored the Chorus's early successful "Carousel" production of last spring.

The auditions are not restricted to chorus members but open to any interested local area and every wish to try out for the large cast.

Drama Hour On CBS-TV This Sunday

"The Man Who Bought Paradise," an hour-long drama special, with an all-star cast including Robert Horton, Ray Walston, Walter Slezak, Dolores Del Rio, Cyril Ritchard, Paul Lukas, Angie Dickinson, Buster Keaton and Hoagy Carmichael will be presented Sunday, Jan. 17 (9-10 p.m., EST) on the CBS Television Network.

The special was written by Richard Alan Simmons and produced and directed by Ralph Nelson.

"The Man Who Bought Paradise" deals with a cross-section of humanity who for various reasons have drifted into a small, broken-down hotel in a country which has no extradition treaties with any major power. Into this group comes a young American financial wizard, Danny Paris (Robert Horton), who is wanted for misappropriating company funds. The Government announces that Paris' presence endangers its ancient custom of sanctuary with no questions asked. A strange tug-of-war ensues between the young American and the other hotel residents. How they react to him, and he to them, brings the drama to a strikingly ironic climax.

3-MAN TICKET ANNOUNCES HERE

SAILOR KILLED IN SHOOTING

VIRGINIA BEACH — Victor John Miller, 38, manager of the Beachcomber Apartments, is scheduled to appear in Virginia Beach Municipal Court next Monday afternoon on charges that he shot to death a 22-year-old sailor Saturday night.

Police said that Miller reported the shooting shortly after 9 p.m. The victim, John Ruddy, a seaman stationed aboard the transport Mountrail, was pronounced dead upon arrival at Virginia Beach Hospital.

Miller reportedly told police that he discovered Ruddy in the apartment building and asked him what he was doing there.

Teenagers To Aid Dimes Fund

VIRGINIA BEACH — The teenagers are taking over the town.

There is no need to run for cover, however, according to Jefferson Davis, chairman of the Virginia Beach March of Dimes Teen Age Program.

"We'll do all the running," he said, "and it'll be after office workers and shoppers for contributions to the March of Dimes."

Davis said young volunteers will be on street corners downtown and in the many Virginia Beach shopping centers distributing a number of March of Dimes objects in exchange for dimes and dollars to aid the fight against birth defects.

"Many of today's teenagers are handicapped because medical science did not know as much about the treatment of birth defects as it does today," declared Davis.

"Now because of the March of Dimes and its 50 birth defects treatment centers, thousands of tomorrow's teenagers will be living useful, happy lives," he added.

"Give us your change," Davis urged, "so that the March of Dimes can give some child a chance."

The local campaign will continue until January 31. One of its highlights will be the annual Mothers March which will take place this Sunday, January 24.

The two men apparently became involved in an argument over Ruddy's presence in the building. They were reportedly joined by Miller's wife, Alma, and the trio stepped into the apartment occupied by the Millers.

As the argument continued, Miller left the room and returned with a .25 caliber automatic, police said.

Ruddy, shot one time, ran from the building and collapsed on a lot, about 75 yards away.

Police said that Ruddy had come to the beach with some of his friends to spend the weekend. He reportedly left his companions shortly before 9 p.m. and told them he would see them later. He apparently went to the beach.

Neither of the men had seen each other before Saturday night, police said.

Miller was charged with murder but has been released on bond.

Investigating officers are Detectives A. E. Smith and G. F. Roberts.

Gives Ride, Loses $30

VIRGINIA BEACH — A young motorist who thought he was doing a good deed in giving a hitchhiker a ride lost about $30 for his efforts.

Police said Monday that Billy Ray Spence, 19, of Mediterranean Avenue, picked up a hitchhiker about 3 p.m. Saturday on Route 58 and headed toward Oceana.

Spence told police that when he stopped the car to let the man out near the Oceana Naval Air Station, the hiker pulled a gun and forced the youth to hand over his money. Spence estimated the loss between $25 - $30.

The case is being investigated by Det. C. O. Lambert.

Body Washed Ashore Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach Police are attempting to establish the identity of the remains of a body that washed ashore near 59th Street shortly before noon Monday.

The grisly discovery was made by a man and wife who were walking along the beach. They notified police.

Detective Lt. W. W. Davis said that police hope to establish identity through pieces of clothing still clinging to the remains.

A report was expected from the State Medical Examiner's office by late Monday afternoon.

Persons wishing to join the new club may contact Watts or any of the present 21 members for information.

"Anyone who joins prior to February 15 will become a charter member," Phillips said.

The club meets every second and fourth Thursday at 7 p.m. at the FOP Club on Court House Drive.

LONDON BRIDGE BUSINESS ENTERED

LONDON BRIDGE — Two London Bridge businesses were broken into sometime early Thursday morning and small amounts of money were taken.

Police said that the Home and Garden Supply and the offices of D. F. Mason Contractors were both entered by force.

A window in the garden supply building was broken and an undetermined amount of small change was taken from a soft drink machine.

Mason's office was entered by forcing open a window and the place was ransacked and a bag of small change was taken.

Detective C. O. Lambert is investigating both cases.

These are the gentlemen who have announced that they will seek election to the Virginia General Assembly in the primary to be called by Governor Albertis S. Harrison, Jr. William P. Kellam, left, will seek the new Senate seat from the Third District. Delegate P. B. White, center, and City Councilman Edward T. Caton III will run for the two House of Delegate seats. The trio announced over the weekend that they would run as a ticket. The new Third District includes Virginia Beach, Chesapeake and Portsmouth.

POLICE BUSY WITH BREAKINS

VIRGINIA BEACH — An outbreak of burglaries and attempted burglaries has kept the Virginia Beach Police Department on a busy schedule during the past week.

Although most of the break-ins resulted in little property loss, over $1000 in clothing was reportedly stolen from one of the motels here.

Police believe that a dog may have scared away a would-be burglar at the home of Shirley F. Myles, 2629 Virginia Beach Boulevard last Wednesday morning.

A back door glass was broken where someone had apparently attempted to enter the house, police said, but the dog, which was inside the home, probably prevented entry. Time of the attempted break-in was between 9 and 10:30 a.m.

A child's piggy bank was the only item reported taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Slaughter on Great Neck Road.

Police said that the bank was filled with a large amount of coins, valued at over $30.

Author Speaks On Communism

Dr. Leysmeyer, European author, educator and editor, commentator, professor and chairman of college department in America, is a first-hand authority on Communism, its strategy, the Soviet system and world problems.

He is an excellent speaker, and being a first-hand observer and student of the events leading up to the present international crisis, he gives from his wide experience, studies and thorough understanding of world problems his penetrating analysis of the present world situation.

Dr. Leysmeyer knows Communism and Nazi persecution by personal experience. He was arrested by the Communists, tortured, sentenced to die and forced their firing squad, but escaped death. Under the Nazis he was in forced labor, and was liberated by the Americans, and in 1949 he came with his family to the United States.

Form Organization Ticket

Bloodmobile Visit Fails

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Red Cross Bloodmobile did not reach its quota of needed 75 pints of blood at its regular monthly call made last Wednesday, but a special note of thanks goes to the faculty and students of Kellam High School who donated the greater portion of the pints collected.

The Bloodmobile covers many areas in the City each month in order to have more of the city's population have the opportunity to give. Last Wednesday it was at Kellam High School from 12:30 to 6 p.m.

Of the 43 pints collected, more than 20 came from the teachers and half as many again from the students. Students 18 years old may donate their blood when there is parental consent for the donation. Since this is the first year that Kellam has had a senior class and had students eligible to contribute, Jefferson Davis, principal, remarked, "We are pleased that so many of our 18 year old students along with the faculty responded so willingly to the needs of the Bloodmobile."

ESCAPEE BACK IN ARMS OF LAW

VIRGINIA BEACH — Police officials here have been notified that Walter Rufus Thompson, an escapee from the State Prison Farm near Richmond, has been apprehended in Louisiana.

Thompson, serving a 12 and a half year sentence for burglary and petit larceny, was believed to have been heading for this area since some of his relatives live in Knotts Island.

MAN CHARGED WITH LARCENY

VIRGINIA BEACH — Fred Hunter Bell, 31, of Munden has been charged with grand larceny in the theft of over $100 in assorted shrubs from Winn's Nursery on Princess Anne Road.

Police said Bell had about 23 shrubs in his possession when he was arrested last Wednesday afternoon by Officer R. E. W. Sparrow.

He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Friday for a preliminary hearing.

MAN ASSAULTED HERE SATURDAY

VIRGINIA BEACH — A Virginia Beach man was assaulted with a knife during a fight at Lill's Grill on 17th Street Saturday night, police said.

The victim, who was treated at the Oceana Naval Air Station Dispensary, has been identified as Honor Roulhac of 1732 Polter's Road.

Police said that Roulhac did not identify his assailant. The extent of his injuries was not known.

W. P. KELLAM TO SEEK NEW SENATE SEAT

WHITE, CATON TO RUN FOR HOUSE OF DELEGATES POST

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach Delegate William P. Kellam announced Saturday that he will be a candidate for the State Senate from the newly created Third Senatorial District. The new district embraces Virginia Beach, Chesapeake and Portsmouth.

In his announcement, Kellam stated that he would be a part of a three-man General Assembly ticket of the dominant Democratic Organization of the City of Virginia Beach.

Completing the ticket and seeking the two House of Delegates seats are Delegate P. B. White and City Councilman Edward T. "Ned" Caton, III. The trio has received the support of the City Council here and the city's constitutional officers.

The new Senate seat was created at a special reapportionment session of the Virginia General Assembly last fall. Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. is expected to call a special election for the Senate seat pending the outcome of an appeal now in federal court on the reapportionment.

If the General Assembly action is upheld in federal court, Kellam will run for a two-year term instead of a four-year term to fill out the unexpired term of the seat wiped out in the reapportionment.

Kellam, 49, the youngest of 16 children of A. E. and Clara Eaton Kellam, is a partner in the Kellam & Eaton Insurance Co. He went to the General Assembly first in January 1964 to fill a newly created seat for Virginia Beach.

White, a Norfolk attorney, has completed three terms in the House of Delegates. Caton, born in Norfolk in 1928, is a Virginia Beach attorney who has served on City Council since 1958.

Here are statements from Kellam, White and Caton, and the constitutional officers:

Kellam: "I wish to announce for state senator from the new 3rd Senatorial District, which will comprise the cities of Virginia Beach, Chesapeake and Portsmouth. I am mindful of the responsibilities of the position and it will be my purpose to represent the three cities as fairly and effectively as I can."

"I will welcome the opportunity to work with the citizens of the City of Chesapeake and the City of Portsmouth along with the people of my own city."

"In making this announcement, I shall support for the House of Delegates from Virginia Beach and will run on a ticket with the Hon. P. B. White, present member of the House, and the Hon. Edward T. Caton III. We will make our views known on the issues before the election, but Mr. White and Mr. Caton and I are 100 per cent in agreement with the statement previously released concerning the changing of the Charter of the City of Virginia Beach before the constitutional election of 1967."

"I welcome the support of all the people in this senatorial district."

White and Caton:

"We wish to announce ourselves for the position of members of the Virginia General Assembly representing the City of Virginia Beach in the coming Democratic primary."

"We propose to run on the ticket with William P. Kellam, who has announced his candidacy for the State Senate from the 3rd Senatorial District. We feel that we will be able to very effectively represent the entire city, since one of us, Mr. White, has legislative experience of 10 years and is a member of the important Appropriations Committee, and the other one of us, Mr. Caton, has been a member of the City Council of Virginia Beach since 1958."

"We are 100 per cent in accord with the statement previously issued by P. B. White and Bill Kellam which will bring about a change in the City Charter for the reapportionment of the council prior to the 1967 constitutional election."

"We will, between now and the primary, let the people know our views on all major issues."

Council and constitutional officers:

"The City Council and constitutional officers of the City of Virginia Beach are pleased to learn that William P. Kellam will offer from this City for one of the senate seats from the 3rd Senatorial District."

"Also that P. B. White and Edward T. Caton III will be candidates for the House of Delegates from Virginia Beach in the forthcoming Democratic primary. As we know these candidates well and are familiar with their abilities and dedication to public service, we endorse them wholeheartedly."

Parolee Faces Assault Charge

VIRGINIA BEACH — A parolee from the State Penitentiary has been charged with felonious assault in the stabbing of two persons on 18th Street early last Wednesday morning.

Police have identified the accused as Paul Spellman Jr. of Washington Avenue, a farm laborer who was put on nine years probation after serving 15 of a 36 year sentence for robbery and rape.

Victims in the fracas were Suzzie Simpson, who received lacerations on the left leg, and James Simpson, who was cut on the thumb and elbow.

Police said that Spellman allegedly committed the assaults with a butcher knife.

He was arrested by Detective H. S. Seager on 18th Street about 2 a.m. Wednesday.

Georgia Boy To See Bridge-Tunnel And Bead

VIRGINIA BEACH — If someone asks 9-year-old Gregory Hamby of Acworth, Ga. about Santa Claus, the boy will probably tell them he not only exists but lives in Virginia Beach!

Only Gregory's Santa is not one man. He's many individuals... namely the members of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Innkeepers Association of Virginia Beach.

The boy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hamby, have been issued an invitation by these two organizations to spend a 3-day, all expenses paid, visit in this resort city so that Gregory might see for himself that there is a Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. The trip came about after Gregory wrote Gov. Albertis S. Harrison for information on Virginia as part of a sixth grade class assignment.

In his letter Gregory said he had seen something on television about a bridge from Virginia Beach to some place across Chesapeake Bay that "seems to go under water."

Gov. Harrison answered the letter and sent him a brochure on the bridge-tunnel and other aspects of Virginia.

But the Chamber of Commerce and the Innkeepers felt that Gregory's interest deserved far more recognition. So Saturday Chamber President A. B. Crews sent him a telegram extending the invitation. The only stipulation was that the visit be before March 1. They plan to take the boy on a tour of the bridge-tunnel and other historical places of interest in Tidewater.

the contest with 2-0 records. But before the night was over Cox's trol and the fast break going strong that they were the only team left undefeated. The game started out nip and tuck. Early in the second quarter Cox's scored as many as 60 points against the Cavaliers.Last winter Maury lost here in overtime, 60-58.

Organization Offering Formidable General Assembly Ticket To Voters

The announcement over the weekend that Delegate William P. Kellam will seek a seat in the State Senate and that he will run on a General Assembly ticket with Delegate P. B. White and City Councilman Edward T. "Ned" Caton came as no surprise to some for rumors had leaked out that Kellam would run for the Senate from the newly created Third Senatorial District. Virginia Beach City Council members and the city's constitutional officers have endorsed this trio, who will seek election in the primary to be called by Governor Albertis S. Harrison, Jr. probably sometime this spring. The date has not been set pending the outcome of an appeal now in the federal courts.

The trio of candidates, of course, have the backing of the Virginia Beach Democratic organization and the ticket is a formidable one made up of men well qualified to represent the citizens of Virginia Beach and the Third District.

The decision by Mr. Kellam to offer for the new Senate seat was welcomed in many quarters. He has served one term in the House of Delegates and is well versed in the needs of the area he seeks to represent. He is well known and highly respected throughout the State and he would prove an able Senator.

Mr. White has completed three terms in the General Assembly and has gained the respect of his fellow lawmakers. He is an attorney with a sound knowledge of the law and the people he represents in the General Assembly.

The third member of the ticket, Mr. Caton, has been an outstanding member of the city council and has demonstrated his awareness to the needs of the times. He would make an excellent representative in Richmond.

The Sun-News feels the organization ticket is a solid one and we are delighted to lend our support to its election.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

Education at the University of Virginia is furthered each year by benefactors who contribute various sums of money and other capital to the University. Student aid, special faculty financial rewards and many University programs are financed partly from endowment funds, which now total nearly $80,000,000.

Last year, a philosophy of "help those who help themselves" was put into effect when the General Assembly approved Gov. Albertis Harrison's recommendation that the state match income from new endowment funds given after July 1 to state-aided institutions of higher learning, if devoted specifically to retain and attract eminent professors.

University President Edgar F. Shannon, Jr. announced in the fall that since July 1 anonymous gifts of a current value of $1,047,000 had been donated to attract and retain eminent members of the arts and sciences faculty at the University.

Income from the securities probably will exceed $35,000 annually, Dr. Shannon said. With matching funds from the state, the total available annually for the program will exceed $70,000.

Regarding the donation, Gov. Harrison said, "I am delighted at this initial response to the stimulus provided by state matching funds designed to attract eminent scholars, scientists, historians, lecturers and renowned intellectuals to the campuses of our colleges and universities."

"Their coming will increase still further the quality of education and higher education in this state, and improve Virginia's image throughout the world, as historian Arnold Toynbee, novelist William Faulkner and others have already demonstrated."

The anonymous gifts constituted the second large gift in two years to be used for faculty salary increases at the University.

In 1962, the income from approximately $2,000,000 of a bequest of $3,500,000 was assigned by the Board of Visitors to endow distinguished professorships. Income from the remaining $1,500,000 is being used for disability insurance for faculty and for student scholarships. The bequest was from the late Robert C. Taylor of New York, an alumnus.

A $6,000,000 bequest in 1928 from an alumnus, Philip Francis du Pont of Merion, Pa., gave the University a major impetus in providing not only additional financial rewards to selected faculty members, but permitted a major program of development and organization of a large scholarship program for deserving students who otherwise might not have been able to attend the University.

This du Pont fund, now grown to about $24,000,000 through increases in the value of the principal, is still by far the largest single portion of the University's endowment.

For 36 years, half of the du Pont fund has accounted for approximately 63 per cent of all scholarships and fellowships awarded by the University. Income from the other half has been used for general University purposes.

Therefore, the University for a long time has worked on the principle of helping itself to maintain and increase the excellence in education for which it has been known since Thomas Jefferson founded the University nearly a century and a half ago.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

It was with great satisfaction that I read Mr. Al Johnson's letter, in the January 12 issue of the Sun-News, concerning John Aragona, Jr. In his letter Mr. Johnson asked five questions. I would like to add one more to this list.

Does the gift of a 10-acre section of land, to the City of Virginia Beach, by John Aragona, Sr., as reported in the Ledger-Star, January 12, 1965, on page 28, have any bearing upon the drastic reduction in the sentence imposed upon John Aragona, Jr.?

If the reduced sentence of 10 days in jail, $25 fine, and loss of his driver's license for six months was to impress young Aragona, it will fail greatly. After driving at speeds of 125 miles per hour down Virginia Beach Boulevard, and being let off this easily, what slight penalty could induce fear of the law in this young "man" if caught driving with a suspended license?

A delayed thought comes to mind as I conclude this letter. Will young Aragona spend his ten days in jail upon his return from Italy?

Yours Truly,
Gene M. Presson

Eustis Soldiers Off To Alaska

FORT EUSTIS — Approximately 130 soldiers of the Army Transportation Center and Fort Eustis left last week from Langley Air Force Base for an Alaskan destination to participate in Exercise Polar Strike.

The largest support group is a platoon of the 155th Terminal Service Co. of Ft. Story. A detachment of 25 enlisted men and five officers of the 507th Movement Control Gp. of Ft. The other groups will report in at Fort Wainwright, Alaska.

In her pre-acting days, Nancy Kulp of "The Beverly Hillsbillies" did a two-year hitch as a lieutenant (j.g.) in the WAVES.

National To Provide Jets To New York

National Airlines will inaugurate Boeing 727 jet flights between Norfolk and New York on Feb. 15, providing the Tidewater Area with its first commercial jet service.

Announcement of the new service was made by H. J. Grathwol, National's northern region sales manager, and Bert Wright, district sales manager in Norfolk.

The sleek, 600 mile-an-hour tri-jet will accommodate 103 passengers—22 in first class and 81 in coach.

It will depart Norfolk's Municipal Airport daily at 6:30 p.m., arriving non-stop at John F. Kennedy International Airport 53 minutes later. Fastest previous flight time with National's prop-jet Electras was 1 hour 3 minutes.

A southbound jet will leave New York daily at 4:50 p.m. and arrive in Norfolk at 5:45 p.m.

National's 727's on the Norfolk-New York route will feature special seats, permitting passengers to recline comfortably without interfering with others in front or to the rear. This new concept in accommodation is known as the Zephyr II seat.

Besides the additional passenger capacity offered by the 727, Grathwol and Wright also said that the new service will increase National's cargo-carrying ability. The 727 can transport approximately 5,000 pounds of freight, 1,500 more than the Electra.

Governor To Attend Event Roanoke College Offers Courses In Norfolk

DR. F. EPPING REINARTZ, president of the Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary, Columbia, South Carolina, today announced course offerings for the Graduate School extension to be held at Roanoke College this summer in a continuing program of theological education.

He said three courses will again be available for ministers enrolled in the graduate study program. The first will be a laboratory course limited to twenty students; "Preaching Workshop" will permit each student to present one major sermon for critical evaluation by fellow-students and the instructor.

"Christianity and its Competitors" will be offered as a second course and will focus on the organized competition encountered by the Christian Church in other parts of the world. Primary emphasis will be on the contemporary forms of Hinduism, Buddhism, Mohammedanism and Marxism.

A lecture series, "The Protestant-Roman Catholic Dialogue" will complete the summer curriculum. These will survey the background and progress of recent developments within Roman Catholic theology and the responses of Protestants to them.

Ministers who attend the summer program will be permitted to enroll for any two of the three courses offered, Dr. Reinartz said.

The session, sponsored by the Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary, Roanoke College, and the Virginia Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, will begin on June 21 and run through July 9 at Roanoke College. All ministers enrolled for credit must hold a bachelor of Divinity degree from an accredited theological seminary.

VEPCO DIVIDEND IS DECLARED

RICHMOND — The board of directors of the Virginia Electric and Power Company declared a quarterly dividend of 28¢ per share on the common stock payable March 20, 1965, to stockholders of record at the close of business on March 2, 1965.

Regular quarterly dividends of $1.25 per share on the $5 dividend preferred, $1.01 per share on the $4.04 dividend preferred, $1.05 per share on the $4.20 dividend preferred, and $1.20 per share on the $4.80 dividend preferred were declared, all payable March 20, 1965, to shareholders of record March 2, 1965.

Beach To Pump Water Into Bay

NORFOLK — Governor Albertis S. Harrison notified officials of the International Azalea Festival Monday that he plans to attend the festivities in April.

Gov. Harrison said he will attend both the coronation and ball.

Luci Baines Johnson, youngest daughter of President Johnson, will be Norfolk's 1965 Azalea Queen.

Beach To Pump Water Into Bay

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mayor Frank Dusch Saturday named V. Alfred Ederidge to head a committee to study the feasibility of pumping salt water into Back Bay. The action follows the January 2 closing of what has been called one of the worst duck seasons in Back Bay history, and it is hoped that increasing the salinity may help aquatic growth.

Here is Ederidge's announcement:

"The City Council through its mayor has appointed a committee to study the feasibility of putting some salt water into Back Bay. The committee members are Kenneth N. Whitehurst, Roland O. Halstead, Aubrey N. Holmes and Worth Morse.

"This feasibility study is not in conjunction with the proposed canals nor is it contrary to that method. City Council has been requested by petitions and interested citizens to seek some immediate action in raising the salinity in Back Bay. We will try to determine this feasibility by using the five-year study report by the biologists as a guide."

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service completed in 1963 a study of Back Bay. Although the 1,200-page report is complete, it has not yet been released. However, according to those who have seen drafts of it, the study conclusively agrees that salt water must be introduced into Back Bay to improve the plant life.

Back Bay, which lies wholly in Virginia, is at the north end of North Carolina's Currituck Sound. In the old days, when Back Bay hunting was famous along the entire Atlantic seaboard, it was much more saline than it is today.

It is believed that Dusch acted when he did because it is felt that if salt water is pumped directed into Back Bay from the Atlantic Ocean before the growing season starts it will have a chance to mix with the fresh water.

There have been some objections from North Carolina authorities that an increased salinity in Back Bay would unduly effect the balance of nature in Currituck Sound.

The two bodies of water are separated by an inlet between

THE KEEP HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY

Historic briefs about the area now known as Virginia Beach.

The Keep
A statute of early Virginia prescribed severe punishment for witchcraft. Therefore Grace Sherwood, a respectable woman, wife of James Sherwood, a farmer who minded his own business, had to stand trial being accused of all manner of witchery. Found guilty by man she must then stand "trial by water". Her hands and feet bound, poor Grace was hurled into Lynnhaven Bay, and if she sank she was innocent, if she floated she was a witch. The crowd on the shore gasped when Grace rose to the top of the water and floated. (Today people would shrug and say she was a floater.) At any rate they fished Grace out and she died in her bed at a respectable age of eighty.

What did
in school today?

Did she learn the values of thrift and responsibility? How to make dimes and quarters add up to dollars?

These are some of the valuable lessons each child can learn through the U.S. Treasury's School Savings Program.

By putting their dimes and quarters into U. S. Savings Stamps, thousands of American children are saving toward the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds—one of the best investments any of us can make.

A successful School Savings program is based on partnership—the teacher, the child, the parent, the volunteers who make it go. Our country is a partner too—because young citizens who buy Savings Stamps are helping to keep America strong.

NBC Movie Stars Brynner

and Claire Bloom head a notable cast in "The Brothers Karamazov," the film version of the novel by Fyodor Dostoevsky, to be broadcast on NBC-TV's "Wednesday Night at the Movies" Jan. 20 (8 to 11 p.m. EST).

Lee J. Cobb, Albert Salmi, Richard Baschert and William Shatner co-star in this 1958 MGM release. The powerful drama, unfolding against a backdrop of Czarist Russia, relates the effect of greed and sensuality on a father and his sons and on those with whom they come into contact.

The leading characters are the reckless and impetuous Dmitri Karamazov (Brynner), the voluptuous Grushenka (Miss Scholl), whom Dmitri cannot resist; the lovely, aristocratic Katia (Miss Bloom), who, desperate for money to save her father's reputation, offers herself to Dmitri; Fyodor Karamazov (Cobb), who competes with his son Dmitri for Grushenka's love; Smerdyakov (Salmi), Fyodor's epileptic illegitimate son, who is a servant in the house; and the two other Karamazov brothers, Ivan (Baschert), the intellectual writer, and Alexey (Shatner), the saintly monk. The emotional conflicts involving these people lead to murder.

"The Brothers Karamazov" produced by Pandro S. Berman

Clubs Enjoy Hula Dances

HIHOLANI

VIRGINIA BEACH — Authentic Hula dances given by an authentic Hawaiian girl in an authentic costume are being enjoyed by the local service clubs and various organizations. Patricia Hiholani Kaleikini Deanyer, wife of William Deanyer, a professional hypnotist, and a mother of a 7 year old daughter, R. V. Kikakama Deanyer, has made more than 30 appearances since arriving here six months ago.

Performing under the name "Hiholani," Mrs. Deanyer has been dancing professionally since she was 10 years old. A direct descendant of King Kamehameha the Great, she is of Hawaiian-Irish extraction, and most of the girls in the family were Royal Court Dancers. The dances were originally performed in Tolani Palace for royalty. Her mother and her seven aunts are all hula dancers, and she is a cousin of Danny Kaleikini of the Hawaii Call show.

Her professional debut was for General of the Army, Omar Bradley at Fort Shafter, Hawaii, and her last Hawaiian appearance was with Duke Kahamamane in the International Village in Waikiki.

The authentic Hula features the intricate movement and the suppleness of the hands rather than the hip movement and is to the accompaniment of Hawaiian chants that have been modernized.

Hiholani's dance costumes are of Hawaiian Lava Lava and are made of Honoluli. The grass skirts (usually cellophane that has been treated) cost over $50 and directed by Richard Brooks from his own screenplay.

(Lee J. Cobb is a co-star of NBC-TV's "The Virginian" series.)

Connors In New Series

Jason McCord (series star Chuck Connors), an ex-cavalry captain who was falsely charged with cowardice and dismissed from the service, saves an ungrateful stranger from death in "Survival," the premiere episode of NBC-TV's "Branded" series Sunday, Jan. 24 (8:30 to 9 p.m. EST). Alex Cord, guest-star, portrays the stranger.

McCord finds Colbee (Alex Cord) dying of thirst in the desert. McCord shares his canteen with Colbee and promises to get him to the town of Granite Wells, where Colbee's wife Sally (Janet de Goe), and small daughter Jessie (Valerie Szabo) have been waiting for more than two years. But Colbee believes that two men and one animal cannot survive the long trek. While McCord sleeps, Colbee steals his horse. A Navajo (Robert Carr) finds McCord near death, helps him, regain his health and then leads him to Colbee for a showdown. Harry Harvey Sr., portraying a stable owner, completes the cast.

This episode was directed by Richard Whorf and written by Larry Cohen, creator of the series.

Chowan College Set Test Dates

MURFREESBORO, N. C. — The Competitive Honor Scholarship Committee at Chowan College has announced an additional testing date for the 1965 tests. According to the committee, tests will be administered on the Saturday mornings of April 3 and April 10.

The committee has pointed out that a number of students have already been lined up for the tests and that other students who are interested should begin immediately to complete the necessary forms. Eligibility for the competitive examinations is acquired by having made application to the college and being accepted as well as completing the scholarship application form for the committee.

The Competitive Honor Scholarship Program of Chowan College includes three basic groups of scholarships, twenty-three in all. In addition, the college gives valedictorians and salutatorians $100.00 non-competitive scholarships. The competitive scholarships are based primarily upon the demonstration of academic ability, motivation, and seriousness of purpose. Group One of the scholarships includes five scholarships valued at $1,000.00 each. Group Two includes eight scholarships valued at $500.00 each and Group Three has ten scholarships valued at $300.00 each.

According to college officials, students holding full status as high school seniors may make the application immediately. Application blanks may be acquired by writing to the Director of Admissions, Chowan College, Box 247, Murfreesboro, North Carolina. The tests, to be administered on the Saturday mornings of April 3 and April 10, 1965, are all alike and will be geared toward the purpose of finding students with superior scholastic ability and motivation. While the high school students are visiting Chowan College campus, they will be escorted on a guided tour of the campus and have the opportunity to eat in the college cafeteria. In some cases, where distance becomes a factor, the college will provide the applicant with lodging and meals for the equivalent of one twenty-four-hour period.

Veteran CBS News Correspondent Robert Trout began his career as a radio script writer at an independent station in Mount Vernon, Va.

"GOLF CLASSIC" HAS TOP STARS

Tony Lema and Bobby Nichols, each a 1964 winner of one of golf's classic events, meet the team of Gay Brewer and Don Fairchild in a first-round match of the "CBS Golf Classic" Saturday, Jan. 23 on the CBS Television Network (4-5 p.m., EST).

Sports broadcaster Jack Whitaker and pro golfer Cary Middlecoff are the commentators for the match played at La Quinta Country Club, La Quinta, Calif.

Lema won the 1964 British Open, the Bing Crosby tournament, Thunderbird Classic, Cleveland Open and Buick Open while earning over $74,000 in official Tour prize money. He finished fourth on the money list. His partner, Nichols, finished fifth on the list, also earning over $74,000. His victories included the 1964 PGA Championship and World Golf Championship.

While Brewer and Fairfield did not win Tour events in 1964, both finished consistently high.

PUGGY

GHOST SHOW ON NBC-TV

"It isn't difficult to understand why the earth is overpopulated with sour cynics who refuse to believe in ghosts. In this sophisticated technocracy, science has a glib explanation for everything. Confess, even apologetically, that you might be intrigued by excursions into the supernatural and you're likely to stir up a witches' brew."

So thinks Frank DeFelitta, producer-writer-director of "The Stately Ghosts of England," the NBC News color special of Monday, Jan. 25 (10-11 p.m., EST).

DeFelitta nourishes the hope that when he ventures where only angles are supposed to tread, the audience will welcome his non-resident wraiths with benign hospitality, as befits their station in after-life.

Icy iconoclasts to the contrary, DeFelitta wants his viewers to appreciate that such clear, pragmatic alternatives as whether to believe or to disbelieve in ghosts do not seem to exist for the British. They seem content to muddle through on their own, meanwhile archly contemplating their ectoplasmic plum pudding as a dish they may enjoy without identifying the ingredients.

Marines May Train Together

RICHMOND — Want to be a Marine "Buddy"? Marine Recruiter, SSGT Clinton R. Coleman of the Tidewater Area reports that young men and women who enlist in the Marine Corps, with as many as five friends, are guaranteed training together while undergoing "boot" and individual combat training.

Sergeant Coleman also said that, however, hospitalization, training set-backs and similar actions could cause the individual to be separated from the "buddy" group.

The Commandant of the Marine Corps has directed the Commanding General of the Marine bases concerned, to assure that personnel under the "buddy" system are assigned to the same platoon.

Marine "boot" training consists of 12 weeks of training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. Here the recruits receive instruction in basic military subjects, physical conditioning, and leadership development.

Marine individual combat training is conducted at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C., and consists of four weeks of advance infantry training.

LIZ SILLS IS TRUE PATRON OF THE ARTS

LIZ SILLS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Liz Sills is not a victim of type-casting in the upcoming Little Theatre presentation of "An Inspector Calls." She plays the part of the cold and haughty Sybil Birling, but in reality she is a warm and friendly woman with a spark of gentle good humor.

Having been interested in theatre work for as long as she can remember, Mrs. Sills calls herself a "theatre nut," but a more refined definition would be "a true patron of the arts."

A native of Norfolk, she now makes her home with her husband, J. W. Sills, at 219 86th Street in Virginia Beach. Two nearly grown children round out the family, but they no longer stay in the city. Their daughter, Elizabeth (Liz) graduated from Country Day school in 1964 and is now at the American School in Switzerland. A son John is a sophomore at the University of Virginia. While the children are away, Mrs. Sills keeps herself busy and occupied with all phases of theatre work as she has always done for many years, and takes care of the family's three dogs, one cat, and four birds.

She is a co-founder of the Virginia Beach Little Theatre along with being active in the Norfolk Little Theatre group. For Norfolk's Little Theatre she has served on the board of directors for nearly 30 years, is a member of the executive committee, and is the present chairman of the reading and casting committee.

In Virginia Beach, she has served in any capacity where she was needed. As well as the Virginia Beach Little Theatre, she was with the Theatre Guild for the seven years it functioned here and was cast in "Dream Girl," "Pittie," and "Orpheus Descending." She also staged "Under the Yum Yum Tree." Many varied and interesting roles were hers in the local Pioneer Playhouse — she played the German maid in "Moby-Dick," the French maid in "The Two Mrs. Carrs," and the British housekeeper in "Witness for the Prosecution" among others.

Along with the various amateur groups in the city, Mrs. Sills has been the director for school plays at the Country Day school for the past 17 years. And she has worked in radio and television from time to time.

Liz Sills enjoys all phases of theatre work from acting to directing. And while acting is very personally rewarding, directing is a broader range of responsibility for the entire production. Having to appear on a stage and set out a part is a frightening experience even for professionals. The director, on the other hand, must know and understand each individual actor along with the conception of the parts as they relate to the overall production. And she overcomes problems of costumes, rehearsals, rehearsals, and many other details for the production.

is the best director of any I have ever worked with; her basic knowledge of the stage business and of people is phenomenal."

The B. Priestly psychological murder mystery "An Inspector Calls" will be presented at the Country Day Playhouse Feb. 11, 12, 13, and 19 and 20. Since the play was originally scheduled for a later date, ticket holders and patrons are urged to use the tickets with the correct date. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Cost is $2.00. Reservations may be made by calling the box office 428-2832.

Unique Wig Shoppe Gains Ladies Favor

NORFOLK — As wigs become more and more popular, the finding of the proper fashionable wig sometimes becomes a problem.

Women of Tidewater who really are interested in finding out more on the fashion wigs of today should visit The Wig Shoppe at 339 Granby street in Norfolk.

Martha Whitfield is one of the most experienced women in the fashion wig field and her shop features only wigs and only those of the highest quality.

Wigs from The Wig Shoppe are all custom fitted, and are guaranteed for the lifetime of the wig. Knowing the wigs to be made of 100 per cent human hair and having two other expert wig stylists in her shop, Martha Whitfield gives her customers the best quality product that she knows will stand up under her guarantee.

Pure European hair is used in the manufacture of the wigs because American hair does not have the virgin quality of the French or Italian. Americans from a very early age have hair that is subject to permanent, rinses, dyes, etc., while generally speaking the human hair from Europe is clean and pure.

The Wig Shoppe owner has a background in the beauty business for the past 10 years, and before going into the wig business, she studied and trained under Renee of Paris and visited factories in the major cities in order to complete her knowledge of all phases of wig making.

As well as selling wigs at the shop, production, and selling. Wig Shoppe, Martha Whitfield will go to the homes for consultation, visits hospitals, and gives lectures to groups interested in the fashion wigs of today.

As I See It

by Betty Deal
Home Demonstration Agent

Careful planning is necessary to set an attractive table, whether it's for family dining or company entertainment.

Social customs and styles of entertainment change constantly but their purpose of enjoying fellowship is unchanged. Lives seem to be very busy today and help is less available.

Therefore, there should be greater simplification of table service. Sometimes there is not sufficient storage space for many sets of dishes. So today's manufacturers create wares of fewer pieces and multiple uses. The body of contemporary ceramic and glass is both attractive and durable.

Shapes are designed with an eye to function. Many young moderns and others select a ware which is not so expensive that it must be reserved only for occasional use.

The structural shapes of contemporary dishes are frequently lower, broader and less complicated than the shapes of traditional pieces. This trend is toward greater practicality. There is less danger of tipping or of breaking and there is more surface to use.

Decorative patterns on tableware should be carefully suited to structural design. The range of choice in linens, flowers and candles may be restricted if dishes or glassware are highly patterned.

Be sure that things you use together go together. Fine crystal is harmonious with both china and fine pottery, but the weight selected to go with the latter would be heavier.

The term table linen applies to many kinds of fibers and materials on our tables. Table linen is expensive in money and care. Traditional table damask was spotlessly white and had to be kept so. To-day table mats that are shaped to harmonize with the shape of the table are a good choice for any use except formal "doings".

MANY THINGS INFLUENCE HOW CLOTHING FITS

Fabric, manufacturing processes, human error, and individual interpretation all influence the fit of ready-to-wear garments purchased in retail clothing stores. Understanding these factors can assist us in evaluating the problems we run into as consumers in buying and can also help us to appreciate the difficulties manufacturers have in supplying our wants.

With fabrics, the same pattern cut in wool and in cotton would not give consumers the same fit. Allowances for how the fabric behaves during manufacturing and during wear must be made. Wool may change dimensionally stable.

In the actual manufacturing process, the factory cuts as many as 100 garments at one time with a high speed electric knife. It is not uncommon for several layers of fabric to shift during cutting. Thus, the top layers could vary one-half inch in dimensions from the bottom layers before the garments are even sewn together.

By the time the sewing stage is reached, there is another opportunity for human error. The girl who sews in sleeves all day is very proficient in her work in the assembly line on what she is doing, or when she has personal problems on her mind, she may sew seams smaller or larger than the specifications direct. This can further change the garments' dimensions.

Finally, each consumer has his own idea of how the clothes should fit. A good example is the difference seen in skirt lengths. The tastes of the wearer may vary from the ideas the designer had in mind.

With children, there is also the factor of parents' buying clothing with the idea of the children "growing into them." This, of course, means that the size purchased will not fit the child properly at the time of purchase.

Club Receives Award For Dimes Work

At their January meeting at Shore Drive Inn the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach received an award for 20 years of outstanding service to the March of Dimes, for the National Foundation.

Donald E. Burton, Eastern Virginia Director for the Foundation, expressed the thanks of the foundation to the Club members, and paid tribute to them when it was announced that they would again direct the drive throughout the Bayside area.

The award was presented by Burton in the absence of Jack Barnes, Vice Mayor of Portsmouth and 1965 State Chairman for the March of Dimes, who could not make the presentation due to illness.

The Club, has for many years supported the March of Dimes as a continuous project, and has been the instigator of many different programs in order to increase their collections.

According to Mrs. Frederick Rieder, years ago members announced the drive weeks in advance, by placing road signs up with pictures but no words. One year, the theme was a huge, outstretched hand of gingham; another year, that of marching footprints. Stretched out from Chesapeake Beach to the Shore Drive, these were quite impressive according to those who remember.

There were Balls, country dances, informal dances, parties, coffees, and brunches, and altogether, the Drives, as directed by the Club, have raised approximately $30,000 for the March of Dimes.

Special tribute was paid to Mrs. Rieder, Mrs. Thomas B. Petty and Mrs. I. A. Uhlenbrock for their continuous efforts in serving as Chairmen for the Drives. Mrs. Elwood A. Hudson was also cited for serving as Mother's March Chairman for the successful Virginia Beach Drives for the past six years. Mrs. Rieder recognized the Bayside Junior Woman's Club and the Ocean Park Woman's Club for their help in the Campaign for many years.

Burton explained the various phases of the National Foundation's new Birth Defects Program. "The challenge," he stated "lies with 1,000 puzzles and 250,000 victims."

According to Burton there are more than 1,000 different kinds of defects and there are 250,000 reported Birth Defective babies born each year. However, there is much more known about what causes them today, than was known just a short while ago. New methods of early detection have recently been found, so that early treatment may prevent brain damage and other severities. These discoveries have raised hopes that similar treatment measures can be found for other inborn errors of metabolism.

Said Burton, "The Medical and community service programs of the March of Dimes Chapter, conducted by volunteers, are the backbone of the National Foundation's attack on birth defects. It is neighbor helping neighbor. And it is working." He went on to explain that there are now 55 working Birth Defects Clinics in hospitals and universities across the country, and announced the opening of the newest in Charlottesville on January 9.

Neal Owens, 1965 Campaign Director, spoke briefly to the ladies about the 1965 campaign, and expressed his thanks also.

Mrs. Rieder called for volunteers in Thoroughgood, Diamond Springs and Aragona, and announced that all Bayside collections would be turned over to her at the Shore Drive Inn where refreshments would be served, following the drive on Sunday. She announced also that the Inn would contribute 10% of the days proceeds to the Drive.

Mrs. A. L. Zavienski reported that the Health Department of the Club presented to the Mental Health Association, approximately 75 gifts for patients in the Mental Hospitals. Mrs. P. T. Price announced that the international relations department packed several barrels of clothing, books and soap for Operation Handclasp.

The Welfare Department of the Club will staff a Bloodmobile at Little Creek on January 29.

Mrs. Colon L. Powers, president, announced that the Executive Board would meet in February.

Going, going, gone! Wouldn't it be wonderful if those few extra pounds picked up during the holiday season could be made to disappear that quickly? Well, help is on the way. It's time for Ladies' Day Out again, and, lucky for you, Trimmastics is one of the classes being offered.

Registration for these classes will be at the First Presbyterian Church, 36th and Pacific Ave., from 10 to 12 noon on Wednesday, January 27. Mark that date on your calendar and then take a look at this list of all the classes being offered.

The Trimmastics class will be taught by Nellie Bryan, an expert in this subject through her work with the Miss Virginia Pageant and various Beauty Schools. She will help you to achieve a slimmer, trimmer figure and will also give you a few pointers on charm and beauty.

For those lovers of Art, the "Y" is offering Oil Painting taught by Reitha Sedel, Intermediate Art by Ellen Norcom, and Beginner Art taught by Peggy A. Caverly for those who need basic instruction before taking up the brush.

Beginner and Intermediate Bridge, two classes always in demand, will be taught by Betty Atkinson using the Goren system.

If you are already looking ahead to Easter then Tailoring is the class for you. Marie McKain teaches this class and will help you to achieve professional looking results with that Easter outfit. If Tailoring seems to be too advanced for you, why not take Basic Sewing Techniques also taught by Marie McKain? You'll find out that the right way to sew is the easiest in the long run!

How about a bonnet to go with that new Easter outfit? Millinery will be taught by Mrs. M. V. Hitchings and Mrs. Jack Griswold who will give you expert instruction and keep you up to date on the latest styles.

Another fashion extra! Beginner and Intermediate Knitting will be taught by Mrs. Roy Allen. Wouldn't you like to own a beautiful handmade sweater made from one of the luscious new yarns. Mrs. Allen will make the task easier for you.

You and Your Family is the title chosen by Betty Deal for her class. Mrs. Deal will coordinate this series of subjects relating to family harmony and well-being. One subject to be discussed will be "Understanding Today's Children" (from tots to teenagers).

Betty Deal, a versatile woman as all her readers and listeners know, will also teach a class in Slip Covers. Spring is just around the corner, so while Mother Nature is busy renovating, why don't you give your furnishings a new look too!

Come to Registration on the 27th at the First Presbyterian Church and meet your instructors for further information. Classes will be on Wednesdays from February 3 through March 24. The price is $8.00 for eight two-hour classes with the exception of Tailoring which is $12.50. Nursery service will be available for trained toddlers up to six years.

And we make it simple for you

The average man today should carry several kinds of insurance. He's foolish not to—the cost is so little, considering the protection it gives.

His house, his place of business, his other possessions, his family... all call for insurance of various kinds.

He should have insurance against loss by fire, theft and lawsuits. He should be protected against accidents to himself and family. He should be protected in case he or his family causes accidental injury to others.

There are at least 100 kinds of insurance protection today. The subject can become quite complex. But we eat, sleep and dream insurance, and it's simple to us.

We can keep it simple for you.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Reducing The Risk of Heart Attack

Citizens of Virginia Beach will be well advised to give serious attention to a pamphlet which will be left by the Heart Sunday volunteer who calls this week-end to receive Heart Fund contributions. The pamphlet recommends these six simple safeguards which may help reduce the risk of heart attack:

1. Reduce if overweight
2. Decrease saturated fats
3. Control high blood pressure
4. Stop smoking cigarettes
5. Exercise regularly
6. Shun needless tensions

"See your doctor," suggests the brochure. "Do you have a family history of heart disease? Is your blood pressure too high? Do you know what fats eat? Consult your doctor about these and other risk factors, and improve your chances for longer life."

With diseases of the heart and blood vessels accounting for 54 per cent of all deaths, and with heart attack alone being responsible for more than 25 per cent of all deaths, the advice should be heeded.

So should the volunteer's appeal for a generous gift to the 1965 Heart Fund.

Legion Alerted On Law Change

RICHMOND — American Legion Posts throughout Virginia have been alerted to fight any move to eliminate the House Committee on Un-American Activities, or to alter the immigration laws, as advised by Department Commander Joseph B. Halloway.

In a statement, State Commander Halloway said "As State Commander of The American Legion, Department of Virginia, I have informed our Legislative Chairman to alert all Posts and Legionnaires in the state to lend their support of The House Committee on Un-American Activities by contacting their respective representatives.

Every indication leads us to believe that a strong and vitriolic attack will be made on this committee immediately after the convening of this 89th Congress. The American Legion's mandated position relative to support of The House Committee on Un-American Activities is contained in resolution adopted by the 46th National Convention in Dallas, Texas last September.

It is of utmost importance that we in The American Legion take immediate positive action to convey to the appropriate officials concerned, the mandated position of The American Legion strongly supporting the continuance of this vital committee which protects the security of these United States.

Likewise, I am asking the same support in opposition to the liberalization of immigration laws. It is a foregone conclusion that one of the first subjects which will be discussed by the incoming Congress shortly after it convenes will be the liberalization of immigration laws. This move will encompass a strong movement to repeal the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952.

The American Legion's position on this subject is also embodied in resolution adopted during the 46th National Convention in Dallas, reaffirming its approval and support of the McCarran-Walter Act and opposing attempts to significantly amend its content and/or to circumvent its basic intent and purpose.

Dimes Drive Aids Those Born With Defects And Many Others

VIRGINIA BEACH — "How many of our children have to die, how many more must be crippled in body or retarded in mind, how many more millions of parents must undergo this tragic ordeal before we begin to look on birth defects as a national emergency?"

Mrs. E. A. Hudson asked these searching questions today as she urged residents throughout Virginia Beach to open their doors to the Mothers' March on Birth Defects January 24. She is chairman for this traditional event, a part of the January, 1965, March of Dimes campaign.

"Women, and especially mothers, should be outraged by the fact that most Americans are apparently unaware or indifferent to the birth of 250,000 babies each year with serious birth defects," declared Mrs. Hudson.

"The March of Dimes offers women an opportunity not only to awake the public to this tragedy but to do something about it as well," she added.

Mrs. Hudson said that on January 24, the Marching Mother who calls for contributions to the March of Dimes will also leave a pamphlet explaining why the fight against birth defects is so necessary, what the March of Dimes is doing about it, and how expectant mothers can protect themselves.

"The funds raised by the Marching Mothers," explained Mrs. Hudson, "will help support scientific research in this country and abroad—research to find causes and preventives of birth defects. Money will also go to finance the network of March of Dimes-financed birth defect centers where latest treatment techniques are available to birth defect children—often saving them from long-life disability."

Some few years ago it was common to hear a much-abbreviated definition of a human being—"We are what we eat." If mankind was just that, and that alone we would be worth mighty little in God's great universe, both to ourselves and to others.

Every human being, in reality, is a "unit triumvirate." He is what his physical absorbs and uses. He is what his mind absorbs, cultivates and uses. He is also a spiritual being, which can be fed from two sources—the satanic granary or God's table.

If we parents, teachers, and friends don't feed from God's table, we can hardly invite our youth to do so.

Ed. L. Applegate, P.O. Box 821, Virginia Beach, Va.

Dear Sir,
Enclosed in your January 12 issue, Mr. Sadler's letter concerning the inclusion of the Rodeo Inn Marina - Motel complex in the upcoming bond issue. I feel Mr. Sadler is like many other civic-minded and boating enthusiastic residents - unsure of just what this entails.

First of all as a citizen in both categories, I do not feel we would be getting this much-needed improvement in the wisest possible manner if the price we will be paying is including paying for already highly developed and valuable water-front homes while undeveloped, and even unpriced lots are lying waiting just across the inlet—awaiting the go-signal to decide what the greatly enhanced asking price would be—I also don't see the necessity of paying for land for an additional motel—leased or otherwise operated—with the excellent motels already available and not always fully occupied. I might add,

In other words, I feel the right-thinking citizens are in favor of improved yachting facilities but disapprove of the present questionable method proposed for getting it. I for one would prefer the Army Engineer's approval of the whole plan and our future ability to keep the Inlet navigable and also their opinion of its effect on our now excellent bathing beaches north of the inlet.

As anyone can see this is not a matter of a simple pro or con and I feel Mr. Hatchett and our wise city fathers are ideally representing us in this matter by not blithely including it in the bond issue, especially after the court's opinion of the present legislation as it appears on our statute books.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Graham Kent Hinnah

Great Neck — A portable heater was stolen from a house under construction in Great Neck Estates sometime over the week-end, according to police.

Builder Paul Borntrager told police the heater, valued at about $100, was inside a closet in the house and all outside doors were nailed shut.

Sheep Flocks To Be Checked January 18-29

VIRGINIA BEACH

Sheep Soakies is on the run in Virginia says Agricultural Agent E. R. Cockrell, Jr.

Plans now call for inspecting sheep flocks during the period January 18-29 to give this troublesome problem another look.

Virginia was declared scabies free in August of 1943, but outbreaks in January and February of 1964 gave a setback to the program. In June of 1964, however, the state regained its scabies free classification.

The Agricultural Agent says there are definite advantages to all sheep producers in the scabies free designation. Not only is the disease costly in itself, but having it in the state has put limits on the shipment of Old Dominion sheep to other states.

Cockrell says, "The scabies eradication program nation-wide has progressed much faster than was anticipated. To take advantage of these good results, all sheep will be inspected in all states that had a case of scabies last year. The eradication program in the state is being conducted by the Virginia Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture, VPI Extension Service, and Virginia Sheep Industry. It certainly hopes that Virginia Beach farmers will give their usual fine cooperation."

The success of the eradication program will depend on the inspection of every sheep in Virginia. Sheep owners who have not been notified of the inspection should contact the Agricultural Agent's office as soon as possible.

W. B. Sawyer will inspect all sheep in Virginia Beach.

THE KEEP HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY

Historic briefs about the area now known as Virginia Beach.

In August, 1677, there came to Virginia Beach "the most dreadful Hurry-Cane that ever the colony groined under . . . The waves (were) impetuously beaten against the shores and crowded into all creeks, rivers and bays." So wrote Secretary of Virginia Thomas Ludwell. It is thought that this may have been the hurricane that permanently closed the inlet from Crystal Lake into the Atlantic Ocean at what is now 59th Street.

Dear Sir,
Enclosed in your January 12 issue, Mr. Sadler's letter concerning the inclusion of the Rodeo Inn Marina - Motel complex in the upcoming bond issue. I feel Mr. Sadler is like many other civic-minded and boating enthusiastic residents - unsure of just what this entails.

First of all as a citizen in both categories, I do not feel we would be getting this much-needed improvement in the wisest possible manner if the price we will be paying is including paying for already highly developed and valuable water-front homes while undeveloped, and even unpriced lots are lying waiting just across the inlet—awaiting the go-signal to decide what the greatly enhanced asking price would be—I also don't see the necessity of paying for land for an additional motel—leased or otherwise operated—with the excellent motels already available and not always fully occupied. I might add,

In other words, I feel the right-thinking citizens are in favor of improved yachting facilities but disapprove of the present questionable method proposed for getting it. I for one would prefer the Army Engineer's approval of the whole plan and our future ability to keep the Inlet navigable and also their opinion of its effect on our now excellent bathing beaches north of the inlet.

As anyone can see this is not a matter of a simple pro or con and I feel Mr. Hatchett and our wise city fathers are ideally representing us in this matter by not blithely including it in the bond issue, especially after the court's opinion of the present legislation as it appears on our statute books.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Graham Kent Hinnah

Snow Brings On Problems

When snow comes drifting down, many people grab their snow shovels and rush out to clear the driveway or sidewalk. This frequently results in strained muscles or a sore back, or worse, heart attack.

Anyone with a record of cardiac trouble or past 40 should avoid unusual exertion in cold weather.

This is especially true when it comes to shoveling snow, but it also applies to carrying heavy packages, ice skating, skiing or just plain hiking.

Cold weather is invigorating and makes people feel they can do much more than is healthy for them. People who get little exercise especially are susceptible to overworking themselves in cold weather.

If people must shovel snow, I recommend the following tips:

1. Start slowly and take it easy. Don't attempt to clear a long driveway at one stretch.
2. Wet snow is heavy and will place a greater strain on the heart than the dry, powdery kind. Go easy when shoveling wet snow.
3. Keep a steady, unhurried pace and rest frequently. The snow will still be there when you come back in a few hours.

YOUTHS SHINE IN RECREATION PLAY

VIRGINIA BEACH — Last Saturday's action in the Community Leagues, sponsored by the Virginia Beach Recreation Department, was high lighted by some outstanding individual performances.

Woodstock in the Intermediate League defeated the Thalia Eagles 27-21. Guy Taylor 13 and Bobby Roby 10 were the stars for Woodstock. Bill Le Blanc was high for the Eagles with 12. Greenwich proved to be too tough for the Kempville team as they beat them 43-13. Sam Gettel and Richard Byrd shot 8 points each for the winners. Thalia Hawks showed they must be dealt with as they routed Alanton 54-14. Ocean Park beat Trantwood 60-10 on the shooting of Tom Grimstead's sixteen, and John Cole's twelve. Joe Simons scored eight of his team's ten points. Aragona sneaked by Thoroughgood 32-20. Tony Hernandez was high with 18. Plaza ran up a score of 56-14 on the King's Grant team as they easily beat them.

In the Senior League at Kellam, the Aragona team routed the Courthouse 67-29. Bill Caten scored 19, with Jesse Owens and Bill Spinella each netting 12. Donnie Lee was the bright spot for the Courthouse team, dropping in 13. In a very exciting contest Woodstock just did defeat Thalia 45-41. Herbie Tatem and Bill Charlton each made 11 for the winners. In a fine performance for the losers Lou Paulson made good for 17 points with an excellent five for five at the foul line. Kempville crushed the Bayville Park team 80-14 in a non-conference encounter.

In Teen Girls showed that practice pays off. Virginia Beach held Chesapeake Beach at bay with a 24-18 victory. Betsy Harshutz leading the winners with twelve points. Cathy Lewis was high for Chesapeake Beach with eight. Sara Stryon's 13 showed the way as Kempville whipped Greenwich 26-11. Julie Nichols netted 11 for Kempville. Carol Harris was high with seven for the losers.

Moving into the Junior League, the action was tight all day. Bayside held on for dear life as Chesapeake Beach closed the gap in the fading moments but the earlier lead built up by Bayside held up for a 35-34 victory. Thad Brake led the winners with 13. Richie Behrens was right behind him with 12 for Chesapeake Beach. The most thrilling finish of the day was the Thalia Hawks 40-39 win over the Thalia Eagles. Don Taylor of the Hawks was fouled as the gun went off to end the game. He stepped to the foul line with a two shot situation, after missing the first try the second shot went in and the game was won after it was officially over—what a finish! In losing the Eagles showed they had two outstanding players in Earl Oler 20 points and Skip Wilkins 19. Woodstock blasted Greenwich 44-29. James Mosick netted 15 for Woodstock. Mac Carpenter 11 for the losers. Tom Jetter and Terry Mansel each hit the hoops for 16 big points for the winning King's Grant team over Aragona, 36-32. Morris Underwood was sharp as he scored 14 points for the losers.

In the Midget League, Marce 45, Ford 38, No—not the score of the teams, but the individual scores of Garry Mara and David Ford who led the Aragona Head Hunters over Thoroughgood No. 2 team 93-1. The Thalia Hawks defeated the Plaza Cavaliers 33-10. Ronnie Parker led with 14 points for the winners. King's Grant Knights nipped the Diamond Springs No. 2 team 15-10. Jerry Pollard and Mike Branch scored 5 each for the Knights. Bill Doyle netted 4 for the losers. The Virginia Beach Blue Angels 48, 13 won 13. The Woodstock hit for 16 points for the winning Angels. Clayburn Munson's basket in the last minute of the game held up for the Hawks as they beat the Alanton Jets 20-19. George Korte led both teams in scoring with 13. Trantwood outscored the Beschcombers 32-9. Dan Bowdan's 12 was high for the contest. The Kempville Ruritans triumphed over the Woodstock Midgets 43-9, with Tim Saunders hitting the nets for 13 and Mike Hickman 12. The Kempville Colts whipped the Greenwich Vikings 34-23, with Phil Grochmal scoring 16. Harry Taylor dropped in 10 points as Sherry Park outlasted Arrowhead 17-12. Jimmy Wright scored 8 for Arrowhead. The King's Grant Indians crushed the hopes of victory of Diamond Springs No. 1 with a 25-10 win. Bruce Atherson of the Indians sank 7 baskets and a foul shot for 15 points. David Spencer made six for the losers. Thoroughgood No. 1, with rebounding and nice shooting from Keith Sadduth who made 24 points, routed the Aragona Colts 42-5. The Knights of Plaza beat the Thalia Eagles 10-3 with Dalmas James scoring six for the winners and Ivy Williams making all of 90 points for the losing Eagles.

View Of Virginia Beach

By
Doris Padrick

Can you swim? If not, you may be living dangerously by living in Virginia Beach. Water is wonderful for recreation and sports, but it can be a very treacherous neighbor. And just knowing how to swim is not enough, you must know and understand its every mood. Sometimes it may look calm and serene on the surface, while angry waters are beginning to stir and flow deep beneath what you can see.

Nancy Batchelder, volunteer chairman of Water Safety of the American Red Cross, is vitally interested that all residents of this area know how to swim and understand the importance of water safety. She asks these questions of you:

Fathers, Grandfathers, Future Fathers—will you take the Red Cross Swimming Classes being offered to men to learn or better your knowledge of swimming and water safety skills?

Can you help your child, a friend, neighbor, or anyone who is about to drown?

Do you know how to protect yourself when you are attempting to help a drowning victim?

Though you may think you will never be faced with the frantic feeling of being able to do nothing in such an emergency, doesn't it make good sense to be prepared just in case it does happen to you?

Men's swimming classes are being offered now—tonight at the Cavalier pool. The lessons are free, though there will be a small fee for the use of the pool.

The Red Cross Water Safety Program starts with the non-swimmers. Beginners in the swimming program are taught how to care for himself in the water, and the basic principles of aiding another without endangering his own life. After the basic phases are learned, you will advance to advanced beginners, then to intermediate, and finally swimmer. You will know nine strokes perfectly.

Completing that, you should then take Senior Life Saving courses and you will realize how important the water safety education is.

Almost all drownings occur in this area to non-swimmers. Double tragedies often happen when another non-swimmer attempts to save the drowning victim. None of this is necessary. Thoroughly indoctrinated in the importance of water safety is Mrs. Batchelder's son, Bruce, who found this appropriate poem in one of his school books in the Linkhorn Park School Library:

"Little Jimmy Jimsonweed
Went to take a ride;
His boat turned over
And he fell into the tide.
If all the parents in the world
Would teach their kids to swim,
They wouldn't have to hire a dredge
To find poor little Jim"
—from "Fun in American Folk Rhymes" by Ray Wood

Rusk Speaks In Ports.

On Saturday

NORFOLK — The Navy will commission its newest attack aircraft carrier, USS America (CVA-66), in ceremonies at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard in Portsmouth.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk will be the principal speaker.

America, will be the first ship of this name to be specifically designed, built and commissioned for the United States Naval Service. A 74-gun ship of the line named America was laid down in Portsmouth, N.H., in 1777 but instead was presented to France prior to her commissioning to replace a French ship lost in Boston harbor.

Other Americas to have served with the Navy include a schooner yacht which defeated 13 outstanding British yachts in 1851 to become the first winner of the still-coveted America's Cup. During the Civil War, the Confederacy obtained the speedy yacht and pressed her into service as a blockade runner. She was later scuttled, retaken by Federal forces and refitted at Port Royal, S.C. This America then served the Union as a blockader and finished the Civil War as a training ship at the U.S. Naval Academy. She was purchased by a civilian in 1873 and presented to the Navy Department in 1921 as a relic. The yacht was stationed at the Naval Academy and remained there until scrapped in 1945.

Another was an Irish-built passenger liner of the Hamburg-American Lines, which served as a troopship during World War I. The third was the United States Lines passenger liner SS America, pressed into service as the troopship West Point during World War II. This steamship was sold to a foreign shipping interest in November 1964 and spent her final days under the U.S. flag at a pier alongside USS America.

USS America was constructed by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Newport News, Va. Her keel was laid on January 9, 1961 and she was launched and christened by her sponsor, Mrs. David L. McDonald, wife of the current Chief of Naval Operations, on February 1, 1964.

The conventionally-powered carrier measures 1,047 feet in length and is 252 feet wide at the flight deck. America displaces 77,600 tons, and has a flight deck area of more than 4.5 acres. She will be armed with Terrier surface-to-air guided missiles and will operate the Navy's most modern aircraft.

Captain Lawrence Heyworth, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., will be commanding officer of USS America.

Polio, Birth Defects May Be Killers

VIRGINIA BEACH — Polio and birth defects. Both can be killers. Both are cripples.

At one time, no one talked or wrote about polio. Too horrible, too depressing. Wouldn't do any good anyhow.

But then The National Foundation—called on the American people to join in a partnership with science to eliminate this dread disease. Result: No more polio thanks to vaccines developed through March of Dimes-financed research.

Birth defects are even more frightening than polio. At least 250,000 children are born with them each year. They not only cripple the body, they can also blight the mind.

Isn't it about time we took the "Top Secret" label off the birth defect problem and recognized it as the national health menace it really is?

Isn't it about time we gave anguished parents more comfort than just changing the subject when their birth defect children are mentioned?

Just as there was no need for all polio victims to become totally disabled, there is now no reason to abandon all children born with birth defects to lives of invalidism.

The March of Dimes has established a network of medical care centers where experts in birth defects are developing and perfecting advanced methods of treatment.

The same kind of March of Dimes research program that produced the polio vaccines is now at work on birth defects.

Your dimes and dollars count toward the Virginia Beach March of Dimes Campaign this month can help to speed the day when birth defects join polio on the roster of medical problems marked: Solved.

IRS Finding Taxpayers Confused

RICHMOND — Internal Revenue Service (IRS) officials have said that the biggest problem facing them during the first week of this year's filing period was the tax deduction issue. Certain taxes and other items which have been deductible in past years are no longer deductible on page 2 of the form 1040 in itemized deductions.

The following items are not deductible: taxes on water, gas, electricity and telephone bills. Neither are the cost of auto plates, county or city auto tags, dog tags or drivers' permits.

The only taxes which are deductible are: real estate, state and local gasoline, general sales tax, personal property and State income tax. Taxpayers who received a refund in 1964 of state income tax withheld during 1963 and who had deducted such withheld tax on their Federal income tax return and received a tax benefit must report the amount of the state income tax refund as income on the 1964 Federal income tax return.

Clubs Working To Preserve Dismal Swamp

Text and Photos
by Doris Padrick

OCEAN PARK — Dismal Swamp as words do nothing to spark the imagination, but a mysterious area named The Great Dismal Swamp is causing more excitement and more discussion and more meetings recently than anytime during its millions of years of existence. Particularly among the ladies of the various clubs. And when 25,000 clubwomen stubbornly decide to rescue and preserve something of value, it becomes almost a certainty that what must be done will be done.

How to accomplish this task over almost insurmountable obstacles was the overall theme at the meeting of the Presidents' Council of Tidewater District, Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in the club room of the Ocean Park Fire Department last week.

The fact that interest runs high for the project was borne out when the club room was filled almost to overflowing with enthusiastic boosters of the task from the entire Tidewater District, even from "across the Bay". Ladies from Eastern Shore rose early and made the interesting Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel crossing soon after breakfast in order to be present. Among them were Mrs. John T. Kellam, Jr., president of the Tidewater District, Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Samuel J. Wilkins, president of Eastern Shore Women's Club; Mrs. Everett Daisey, president of Accomac Women's Club; and Mrs. C. W. Carlson, president of Young Women's Club of Cape Charles.

Mrs. Alvah E. Riggins, president of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, was introduced by Mrs. Cam Farmer of the hostess club, the Ocean Park Woman's Club, and president of the council. The keynote of Mrs. Riggins address was the Great Dismal Swamp must be preserved, that Virginia needs a state park, and that the importance of this message must be carried throughout the state. Her meeting with the governor and her persistence in obtaining his endorsement of the project was a step in the right direction, but only the beginning. Clueing the ladies in on the art of "gentle persuasion", Mrs. Riggins urged all the club women to get the idea across to as many persons as possible and as frequently as possible.

An "Open Forum" discussion followed, and special targets of the ladies who darted questions to the head table were Delegate William F. Kellam; Fred Heutte, director of Norfolk Botanical Gardens; Russell W. Hatchett, city manager of Virginia Beach; Howard McPherson, Mayor of Chesapeake; and Durwood S. Curling, member of Chesapeake City planning commission.

Heutte was the first to be questioned and he presented his dreams and concrete ideas for the proper preservation of the mysterious wonders of the area. He said the word "swamp" is misleading as much of the ground is high and dry. Most of the 400 square miles are privately owned, and some owners have cleared spaces for small farming operations and for hunting lodges. They do not want to be disturbed in their way of life. But the fear of the promoters of the idea of preserving the swamp is not directed at these owners, but at the appalling idea that the land might be sold someday for industry which would eventually destroy the treasures to be found there. The only real industry that should come to The Great Dismal Swamp is the tourism industry, he declared, which would benefit the people, the state, and the nation.

Both City Manager Hatchett and Mayor McPherson agreed that more tourism is the best industry the opening of the Swamp could bring into the area. A special attraction of this nature would benefit all Virginia. Delegate Kellam was also behind the drive to preserve the great natural resource 100 per cent, and he urged the ladies to influence whenever and wherever possible and do whatever is necessary to convince the populace of the importance and benefits of developing the Swamp properly.

Durwood S. Curling of the planning department of the City of Chesapeake informed the ladies that a study is being made of the area as was voted on at the last Virginia General Assembly and he displayed two maps of the area which show what has been developed thus far. A study was necessary, he pointed out, in order to request federal funds that would be needed for development. He informed the group that money is available on a 50-50 basis to acquire land and develop it, provided there is a plan. There are also 30 per cent grants available to acquire open land with no provision for development. The study being made now will be presented at the next meeting of the General Assembly.

Discussion of ideas continued during the luncheon that followed and it was generally agreed that though federal funds would be needed to help with the development, it will better benefit Virginia to maintain The Great Dismal Swamp as a state park rather than a federal preserve.

Hostess for the affair was Mrs. J. J. Stewart, chairman of the Home Life department of the Ocean Park Women's Club.

Health Center Planned For Area Cities

NORFOLK — Imagine a Virginia Beach family in need of a hospital bed for a disabled member of their family. Where could they find it? What medical services are available in the Tidewater area for the cancer victim, the visually handicapped, or the congenitally deformed child? At present, there is no central place in the area where all types of health and medical services are listed. A myriad of services are available; however, it is almost impossible for the health and medical personnel to keep fully informed of the services, not to mention the average citizen who has less frequent need for this type of information.

Beginning June 1, 1965 this situation will be remedied. The U. S. Public Health Service has approved a $104,000, three-year grant for the establishment of a Health Information - Referral Planning Center which will service the entire Hampton Roads area. Geographically, it will include the cities of Chesapeake, Hampton, Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach; and the counties of Isle of Wight, Nansemond, Northampton, Southampton and York. The program will be supervised by the Health and Welfare Planning Council in Norfolk, under the direction of George Rice, Executive Secretary. An advisory board of citizens from all parts of the area will be established to guide the program in a way that will meet community needs.

The Health Information - Referral Planning Center will be established on March 1, 1965 and the first 3 months of operation will be spent compiling data. During the 2 years and 9 months of operation it will be able to answer all questions regarding the availability of health and medical services in the Tidewater area. There will be no charge for the service. A toll-free telephone system will be installed making the service equally available to all communities.

In addition to making this type of information promptly available to the public and professional people alike, it will have a catalytic effect on the existing health agencies and will make more efficient use of them. Statistical information compiled during the operation of the program will be available to local and state health planners. These records will be instrumental in the growth and development of health and medical programs in the area. Similar projects have been developed in other cities but this is the largest known in terms of participating municipalities. If the project is a success, and there are many indications that it will be, it will be turned over to another agency for permanent operation. The Norfolk Area Medical Center Authority and the Tidewater Health Foundation have expressed an interest in the program.

The office, which will be located in Norfolk, will have a three-man force, initially. Edsel L. Haney, District Supervisor with Vocational Rehabilitation Service in Norfolk for the last 8 years, has been appointed project manager. Mr. Haney has been dealing with health problems for many years and is familiar with most of the area resources. The Virginia native lives at 2360 Great Neck Circle, Virginia Beach, with his wife and daughter.

CITY TRAFFIC GROUP PLANS NEW CHANGES

By Ruby Jean Phillips

VIRGINIA BEACH — Encouraged by a reduction in highway fatalities last year, traffic and safety officials here are plunging ahead with plans and measures they hope will save even more lives in 1965.

The coming months will probably see quite a few major highway improvements, better lighting at intersections, more extensive road markings and, hopefully, additional patrol cars to remind motorists of the speed limits.

No one can point a finger at any particular measure that dropped the number of traffic deaths from 33 in 1963 to 13 in 1964. There were many contributing factors. The newly formed Traffic Bureau undoubtedly played a major role in saving lives, as did the Traffic Safety Bureau. But officials of both departments strongly believe that the greatest help came from the people themselves.

"You can educate the public all you want to, give them the best highways and law enforcement, but unless the operator of each car believes in the traffic laws and obeys them, everything else is in vain. We must have their help."

L. Bailey of the Traffic Bureau said.

Safety Chief Reeves Johnson also believes that through publicity and education the driving public has become more aware of traffic laws and the necessary safety measures.

"Virginia Beach Boulevard has been called a killer too often that people have learned to respect it," Johnson said. "The more aware they are of the hazards, the more cautious they are. That's why the presence of marked patrol cars on our highways are so valuable. They serve as reminders to motorists to keep their speed down."

SPEED IS KILLER

Speed determines the seriousness of traffic accidents. Instantiveness is the major cause. This has been proven time and time again and last year's statistics support it. There was a dramatic increase in the number of accidents... about 500 more were in 1963... but fatalities were lower. Speed was the determining factor in most instances. Of course, there are far more cars on Virginia Beach highways today than there were in previous years and more accidents are to be expected.

National statistics may show that winter months are more hazardous for motorists but the summer months bring the most tragedies to Virginia Beach. Again, because of heavier traffic. To help overcome this, the Traffic Bureau puts three motorcycle policemen on patrol in the resort area between May and September. The year-around bureau staff is composed of 28 men for seven patrol units.

The fact that well over 3,000 accidents were reported in Virginia Beach last year might shock those who still look upon this metropolitan city as a small seashore community. There were a great many more accidents in 1964, but the ratio was still less than in 1963. The number of automobiles on the city's highways today reach staggering figures. And they are growing at an unbelievable rate. A spot check on Virginia Beach Boulevard between Chinese and Davis Corners last April recorded 28,000 vehicles every 24 hours. This particular spot is one of the busiest sections of the boulevard. Yet, nine months later, a check showed 40 vehicles every 24 hours at the intersection of Little Neck Road and Virginia Beach Boulevard, a far less traveled area than the earlier location. To keep ahead of this traffic trend, the city is planning future changes patterned after improvements that have already proved so successful. One of the biggest projects last year was the widening of Virginia Beach Boulevard at London Bridge. Here a fifth traffic lane was provided by removing the 4-foot center strip and extending the other four lanes to widths of 72 feet.

IMPROVEMENTS OUTLINED

Improvements similar to that at London Bridge may be forthcoming at Birdneck Road and Virginia Beach Boulevard and on Oceana Boulevard at Bell's Road. At least a study on such projects is underway by the Traffic Safety Bureau, city engineers and the State Highway Department.

Also under consideration is a redesigned crossover where Bonney Road intersects with Virginia Beach Boulevard, a left turn lane in the Birchwood Gardens area of the boulevard; a proposed highway through Kempsville Borough (a rapidly increasing traffic bottleneck); a revamping of Rt. 165 through Carolan Farm and Arrowhead on what is now Susquehanna; and a redesigning of traffic lanes and controls where proposed Independence Boulevard will intersect with Virginia Beach Boulevard.

This year will probably also see construction work get underway on the new highway that will skirt around Camp Pendleton to become a section of the main thoroughfare between Virginia Beach, Norfolk and Princess Anne County, Md. An extensive study will probably get underway this year on improvements to Indian River Road at Pendence Road because Interstate 64 will cross it this year.

And this is just the beginning. There will be additional lighting at Princess Anne Plaza, Chinese Corner and on the Bridge-Tunnel Approach Road; extensive road markings and repaving; more street signs and protective indicators. It will be a mammoth job but the city hopes to take every possible step to save as many lives as possible in 1965 and years to come.

There is only one thing the city and traffic officials cannot improve. Each and every motorist. Is he obeying the traffic laws, staying within the speed limits, wearing his seat belt and taking every precaution to prevent an accident? "We will never eliminate accidents, no matter how many improvements we make, until drivers themselves accept the responsibility of highway safety," said Safety Chief Johnson.

Snow Keeps City Traffic Bureau Busy

VIRGINIA BEACH — The week-end's deposit of snow and ice may have been exactly what the kiddies were hoping for but it caused quite a few headaches in the city's traffic bureau.

Officials reported a total of 58 accidents during the 3-day period running from Friday through Sunday. Fifty-one of the mishaps occurred the first two days.

Although the rash of collisions kept patrol units busy, most of the accidents were not serious and only a few minor injuries were reported.

STRONG CHURCHES...

make STRONG COMMUNITIES

THROUGH THE CENTURIES...

Through cold, snow-covered fields, underneath ice-encrusted trees, the river runs its course.

This brings to mind the Christian Church. It was founded upon the teachings of Jesus who lived His life and died His work unperturbed by the coldness of many of His fellowmen and of the ruling officials. He knew that His work would stand because it was founded upon truth. It not only stood, but has flowed steadily on for centuries. It is still going on today in His churches.

If you do not attend church services why not go this coming Sunday, and identify yourself with this steady flow of the best for which life stands?

There is always room in the river for one more drop of water. There is always room in the Church for one more worshipper.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in our life for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read their Bible daily.

4-H Activities

C. FRANCIS LAY

Assistant Agent

"Houses are built to live in, more than to look at, therefore let use be preferred before uniformity, except when both may be had."—Bacon

Hello folks! As you probably have noticed, most of my columns are opened with quotations from the past. Most of these are applicable to every day living and many refer to the information I am presenting in the column. Today, I would like you to apply this quotation to planning activities for your 4-H Club and Club members. This would mean that the best plans you make for your club are not good unless they can be done by the club members. It is best to be less ambitious and be able to do what you have planned.

C. F. Lay

Planning for Club Meetings
When you are planning for your regular local monthly club meetings, be sure that it is a balanced meeting, consisting of business (15-30 minutes), educational feature (30-45 minutes), and recreation (15-30 minutes). Involve as many of the Club members in each meeting as possible and be sure that all club members have a part in each phase of the meeting at least once a year. When planning the educational feature of the program, consider the interests of each club member, and the interest of the club as a whole. The educational feature for each meeting could consist of a demonstration by a club member on his or her individual project and then instruction in or a demonstration on the club project, each lasting 15-20 minutes.

You will find the planning process is easier if you plan well in advance of the date of the meeting. Many clubs in the state plan the program for an entire year ahead, and find this relieves them of the burden of having to make plans at each meeting. (The Extension Office has a Program Planning book that will help you to do this.)

Planning City-Wide 4-H Events

During the next six weeks the 4-H groups in the City of Virginia Beach that are concerned with 4-H activities on a city-wide basis will be making plans for the coming year. These are the 4-H Advisory Committee, the 4-H Awards Advisory Committee, the 4-H Council of 4-H Club Officers, the Honor Club, the 4-H Auto Care and Safety Project Committee, and the 4-H All Stars. All of these groups will consider ways in which participation in 4-H activities can be increased, more communities getting 4-H Clubs, and in developing educational and recreational activities for the club members of the City. If you have any suggestions on how to improve the 4-H Club program in Virginia Beach, contact your club officers, members of any of these committees, your leaders, or a member of the Extension Staff.

The members of the various committees and groups mentioned above are as follows:

4-H Advisory Committee—Jefferson Davis, Chairman; Jack Tignor, Richard R. Absalom, Frank Kellam Sr., Mrs. Alvis Oliver, Roy LaMere, Harold Durham, George Bryan, Rev. B. B. Perkins, K. W. Caffrey, and Mrs. Doris H. DeSarro.

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

Commercial Egg Producers To Participate In Referendum

Commercial egg producers in Virginia will participate in a referendum scheduled for March 15. The voting, approved recently by the Virginia State Board of Agriculture, will be on whether or not the producers wish to assess themselves to finance research, education and promotion of Virginia-produced eggs.

The referendum was authorized through an act passed by the 1964 Virginia General Assembly. The referendum will be conducted by mail ballots, furnished all certified voters, and returned to the Virginia Department of Agriculture on or before March 15, 1965.

Eligible to vote are all Virginia farmers who keep 400 or more layers during 1964. They must be certified on forms provided by the State Board of Agriculture. These forms must be returned to the Virginia Department of Agriculture by February 13, 1965.

Certification forms are available from the Virginia Department of Agriculture, and the Virginia State Poultry Federation.

Egg producers involved will vote specifically on whether or not to assess themselves two cents per layer hen when the birds are sold.

Revenue from the assessment would be turned over to a seven member Virginia Poultry Products Commission that was authorized by the 1964 Act. The Commission would be empowered to expend the proposed funds and could establish an office and staff to carry out its functions.

The Act has instructed the Virginia Commissioner of Agriculture, with assistance from the Virginia Agricultural Extension Service, and the Virginia State Poultry Federation, to manage the referendum. The Act provides that, 60 days prior to the referendum, public announcements shall be posted at each county courthouse or city hall.

The referendum has been endorsed by the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation, the Agricultural Conference Board of Virginia, the Virginia Egg Council, the Virginia Egg Marketers Association, and the Virginia State Poultry Federation.

Plastic Greenhouses Become More Popular
The future for plastic greenhouses looks very promising.

Polyethylene plastic, the cheapest covering available, is the most widely used. Be sure to use ultraviolet inhibited film. Other kinds of polyethylene will break down too soon. The UVI film will normally last through one growing season.

Most commonly used thickness of polyethylene film is 4 mils, or .004 inch. This is about twice the thickness of a sheet of paper. The material, in quantities to cover a greenhouse, costs between one and a quarter to one and a half cents per square foot.

Extinguishers should be strategically placed in such fire danger areas as kitchens, barns, machine sheds, and near storage tanks of gasoline and kerosene. The best extinguisher in the world won't be ready in an emergency unless you check and recharge it regularly. Follow the manufacturer's instructions on this. Don't wait for a fire to read the directions on how to use it. Know how to operate the extinguisher and make sure everyone on the place knows how.

Another good fire fighting tool is a garden hose with nozzle. Keep a hose near the exit in each major building. A water faucet with threaded spout in each building will permit the use of a hose. Outside non-freezing water faucets or fire hydrants should be accessible at each building.

For home safety, have ladders which will reach the highest roofs and windows. They should be available at all times.

For field and brush fires, be prepared with pump tanks or sprayers, fire swatters, brooms, burlap bags, and water.

Like to know what
FLAMELESS electric heat for your home would cost?

Less than you think. These electric heating costs are typical. The yearly bills of over 12,000 families in the VEPCO area prove it. For a free estimate on the cost of installing and operating electric heat in your home, call your VEPCO-authorized Comfort Conditioning Contractor. (He's listed in the Yellow Pages.) He'll show you how you can dial the temperature you want in each room of the house. Why electric heat is trouble-free, maintenance-free and lasts the life of the house. He's authorized to qualify your home for VEPCO's $125 cash allowance on electric heat installation. (VEPCO's offer good until December 31, 1965.) And he'll show you how you can take advantage of VEPCO's lowest homewise rate by including an electric quick-recovery water heater in your setup. Then compare the advantages and costs of electric heat with other systems. Chances are you'll go flameless, too!

The Mixing Bowl

It's Fun To Cook

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

One of the clues to the age-old and wide-spread use of cabbage in the many names it has, say plant historians. Most of these names are European: kohl in Danish; kohl in German; chou in French; varsa in Roumanian; gagamb in Armenian; all these and more, in addition to its proper botanical name, Brassica oleracea. As Shakespeare might have worded it, "A cabbage by any other name tastes just as good."

Cabbage has been a favorite vegetable on the world's dinner table for some forty centuries. It has always been an important protective food not only because of all the vitamins and minerals contained in a portion, but because of the amounts of cabbage eaten.

In the United States we consume 1,928,000,000 pounds of fresh cabbage annually. Since it's easy to grow and market, cabbage is always a good buy and there are almost literally hundreds of ways to prepare it. From the test kitchens of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association come these recipes for hearty and flavorful cabbage soups as prepared in other lands. There is a German Cabbage Soup — wonderfully sustaining on a blowy winter's day — combining cabbage, apple, tomato and beef broth.

Austria, the Scandinavian countries and Russia all contribute their national cabbage soup recipes. All are easily made, nutritious and calculated to arouse the appetite.

"The Disorderly Orderly" Opens Today At Princess

Dr. Kildare, Ben Casey, move over. Jerry Lewis is coming to the hospital in his new movie for Paramount, "The Disorderly Orderly," and you can just imagine what riotous havoc he causes. Jerry, as an eager but bungling hospital orderly, manages to get into some of the funniest situations imaginable. Helping Jerry out is a top cast which includes Susan Oliver, Glenda Farrell, Everett Sloane, Kathleen Freeman, Del Moore plus cameo roles by many popular stars. "The Disorderly Orderly," in Technicolor, opens today at the Princess Theatre.

The story takes place at the Greystone Sanitarium and there is every reason in the world why Jerome Littlefield (Jerry Lewis) should be there. First of all, his late father was a doctor; secondly, Jerome studied at medical school, but flunked out and thirdly, to be candid, from his general behavior, Jerome qualifies as a medical patient. However, he's working as an orderly.

Jerome's only fault, repeatedly pointed out by chief doctor

Jean Howard (Glenda Farrell) is his enthusiasm; he constantly gets into the way of everybody... and everything. The reason for this is that he is overly sensitive about other peoples pain and actually he's only trying to help as best he can.

In scene after scene, Jerome hilariously does the impossible. In one episode, he inadvertently spills thousands of pills over the hospital corridor. From there he crashes a wheel chair patient into a wall and then continues the bedlam by releasing the hospital research rabbits. Whatever the situation, there can't help but be carloads of laughs.

In the film's riotous climax, Jerome hops into the driver's seat of an ambulance and screeches off in hot pursuit after the girl of his dreams. This seemingly vacant vehicle actually has the hospital president (Everett Sloane) as a passenger in the back compartment and what results at the end of this wild ride is pure comedy at its best.

Miss Jan Richter

BEACH GIRL ONE OF MISS PAGEANT FINALISTS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Miss Jan Richter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Richter, 521 Longfellow Ave., was in the top five finalists at the 6th Annual Virginia Junior Miss Pageant held in Roanoke last Thursday through Saturday.

Sponsored by the Princess Anne Jaycees, Virginia Beach's Junior Miss was selected as Miss Personality by the other contestants out of a field of 14. She had also been named Miss Personality in the local contest.

The 17-year old beauty is a senior at Princess Anne High School where she holds such titles and offices as Homecoming Queen, varsity cheerleader, captain, SCA secretary, and is a member of Coronet, Tri-Hi-Y and the Spanish National Honor Society.

She was accompanied to the State Pageant at the Hotel Roanoke by Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clement.

Top prize went to Miss Linda Farmer of Hampton.

Your Social Security

In 1964 changes in the Social Security Law again recognized those members of the clergy who are interested in social security protection for themselves and their families.

This change in the law is quite significant, because many clergymen were barred from social security protection. Under the new law a minister may elect to have his earnings count for social security beginning with the first taxable year after 1961. In most cases this would be 1962.

Clergymen have a limited time to take advantage of this change. In most cases the opportunity to elect coverage ends on April 15, 1965.

For more information about this change in the law get in touch with your District Director of Internal Revenue or Social Security office.

"FOR THE PEOPLE" TO PREMIERE SUN., JAN. 31

"For the People" take its title literally. The new drama series uses a "hard line" approach in dealing with the prosecution of evil to protect society.

William Shatner stars as an assistant district attorney in "For the People," which will premiere Sunday, Jan. 31 (9-10 p.m., EST) on the CBS Television Network. In co-starring roles are Howard Da Silva, Lonny Chapman and Jessica Walter. The series will focus on the innocent people involved in and affected by crime, and the men whose duty it is to prosecute the lawbreakers. The stories bring into sharp relief some of the thought-provoking problems affecting everyday society.

Shatner, in his role as David Koster, portrays a strong-willed young prosecutor whose dedication to his work subjects him to many varied stresses. Unlike a defense attorney, whose main concern is with his client, Koster has a responsibility not only to his community but also to the accused individual and his constitutional rights. In gaining a conviction, he must be sure that justice has been done.

Howard Da Silva plays Koster's superior, bureau chief Anthony Celeste. His inclination not to tread on anybody's toes sometimes leads to conflict with Koster's aggressiveness. Their verbal clashes also provide an insight into the different aspects of a case.

Lonny Chapman portrays an investigator assigned to the district attorney's office.

Jessica Walter is cast as Koster's wife, Phyllis, a professional viola player in a quartet. As a career girl, she has certain intellectual qualities and opinions of her own. Her freely expressed viewpoints often differ from her husband's. Despite, or perhaps because of this "war of ideas," their affection for each other is strong.

"For the People" will make use of a technical innovation—"the active camera." The technique gives the effect of the camera actually participating in the action, rather than just recording it, thus adding to the realism of this new dramatic series.

Opera Premiere's On CBS-TV Sun., Jan. 24

The American premiere of "Martin's Lie," a new opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti, will be broadcast on the CBS Television Network as a one-hour special on Sunday, Jan. 24 (9-10 p.m., EST). It was announced today by Michael H. Dann, Vice President, Programming. The work was commissioned by the Network.

"Martin's Lie" had originally been planned for broadcast in 1964, Mr. Dann said, "but we are delighted to have the opportunity to present this work by one of the musical world's most distinguished figures at this earlier date. And we are eagerly looking forward to the second work that Mr. Menotti is preparing for us."

"Martin's Lie" received its world premiere last June when it was performed in Bristol Cathedral, Bristol, England, as part of the world renowned Bath, England, Festival. Critical reviews included such laudatory comments as: "A capacity audience obviously moved. Mr. Menotti has devised a tautly dramatic work... that carries the listener forward on a wave of intense emotion." (The New York Times); "A powerful in dramatic effect..." (London Sunday Times); "...a touching beauty..." (London Daily Mail). Subsequent performances of the opera were given at a studio in Bristol, England, and also acting as producer.

The opera takes place in an ancient castle in medieval Europe. It tells the dramatic story of a young boy must marry his father's daughter and love.

Four To Broadcast Crosby Golf

A team of four announcers and commentators for NBC-TV's telecasts of the Bing Crosby 24th National Pro-Amateur Golf Championship at Pebble Beach, Calif., was announced today by Chester R. Simmons, NBC's Director of Sports.

They are Jim Simpson, Lindsey Nelson, Paul Christman and Bud Palmer.

Simpson, as previously disclosed, will serve as anchor man. Nelson and Christman will describe the action at the 16th and 17th holes. Palmer will be assigned to the tournament's host, Bing Crosby, who will be roaming the course during the two days of action before NBC Sports cameras.

The climactic rounds of "Bing's Clambake" are scheduled on the NBC-TV Network Saturday, Jan. 23 (5-6 p.m. EST), and Sunday, Jan. 24 (4:30-6 p.m. EST).

Elena Verdugo of "Many Happy Returns" once was singer with Xavier Cugat and did the vocal on the band's hit record of "Tico Tico."

James E. Moser, creator, writer and executive producer of "Slattery's People," was once a copy boy on the San Francisco Examiner.

Two Auto Accidents Injures Ten People

VIRGINIA BEACH — Ten persons were injured in two traffic accidents over the weekend, police said Monday.

A 2-car collision on Shore Drive near the Little Creek Amphibious Base Saturday about 7 p.m. sent six people in for medical care at the Little Creek Dispensary and DePaul Hospital.

Injured were Mrs. Mary Louise Estes, 44, neck injuries; Raleigh O. Estes, 45, lacerations over the left eye; Mrs. Angela Yezzer, 74, broken ribs and chest injuries; Fred T. Myers, 19, back and head injuries; and Ronald Ferenzo, 23, head injuries; all of Fort Story.

Police said that Mrs. Estes was driving east on Shore Drive but decided to return to Norfolk and entered the west bound lane.

Her car was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by Baker.

Police have charged Baker with reckless driving. Ferenzo and Myers were passengers in Baker's car. Mrs. Estes, her husband and Mrs. Yezzer were in the second car.

The second accident occurred at the intersection of Virginia Beach Boulevard and Bonney Road Sunday about 6 p.m.

Police said that a car driven by Arthur Peregoff, 45, of Old Drive, Virginia Beach was struck broadside by a car driven by Samuel J. Brachens, 40, of Chesapeake.

Brachens was making a left hand turn off the boulevard onto Bonney Road and pulled in front of the Peregoff car, police said. Brachens has been charged with failure to yield right-of-way.

Brachens suffered back and head injuries; Peregoff received head and knee injuries; Mrs. Rosemary Brachens, 37, received back injuries; and William Brachens, 2, received a lacerated hand.

They were taken to Norfolk General and DePaul Hospitals. The extent and seriousness of the injuries of all 10 persons are not known at this time.

The purchaser is Richard L. Strohkorh who will become actively engaged in the operation of the hotel. Strohkorh previously has managed two other Virginia Beach hotels—the Waverly and the Tradewinds.

Atlantic Hotel is a 3-story building with 31 rooms, on a 50 foot by 150 foot site at the southeast corner of Atlantic Avenue and 22nd Street. The building has three stories on the ground floor fronting on Atlantic and two furnished apartments on the second floor. The commercial space is occupied by Merle Norman Beauty Shop and Norfolk-Portsmouth Newspapers.

The other parcel involved in the transaction is located at 206 22nd Street. Margolius advised that his firm has built up a long list of offerings in the area and would be coming increasingly active in the Virginia Beach market. Both Margolius and Captain William E. ### City Seeks U.S. Court For Suit

VIRGINIA BEACH — The city has asked that the pending reapportionment suit, the second filed by four Virginia Beach residents, be heard by the U.S. District Court Judge rather than a special 3-judge federal court as requested by the plaintiffs.

The request was filed in U.S. District Court Monday by City Attorney George Vukos in the city's answer to charges outlined in the suit filed by J. E. Clayton Davis, Roland D. Winter, Cornelius D. Scully and Howard W. Martin.

The second suit asks that defendants be restrained from assessing and collecting taxes, selling bonds or appropriating funds and that an injunction be stayed for three months to enable the council and electoral board to reapportion and hold elections.

Defendants in the suit are the city's 11 councilmen, members of the electoral board, the city treasurer and the commissioner of revenue.

The city's answer states that in no event should such an injunction be granted because such things as assessing and collecting taxes, selling bonds and appropriating funds are imperative to the "orderly administration of the affairs of the city."

It also asks that the court "determine that the present apportionment of the City of Virginia Beach does not deny the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th amendment of the U.S. Constitution," as claimed in the suit.

It asks that all of the requests of the plaintiffs be denied and "that the complaint be dismissed."

Council Trims Bond Issue To Schools Only

VIRGINIA BEACH — In view of the urgency of funds needed for the school construction program, City Council Monday approved an ordinance that trimmed the proposed $8-million bond referendum down to only the $5-million school issue.

The trimming has postponed, for the time being, such projects as municipal buildings, sewage and water lines, drainage canals, and improvements to Lynnhaven and Rudee Inlets.

"We are going ahead and getting this into effect because of our urgent need for schools," Mayor Frank A. Dusch explained. "The other matters will come up at a later date."

Now that the ordinance has been signed by Mayor Dusch, it will be forwarded on to Circuit Court so that a date can be set for an election on the bonds.

The bonds will not be issued until approved by a majority of the voters and a lively speaking schedule can be expected in the coming months. School officials launch an all-out program to inform the public.

The ordinance states that the $5-million will be used for construction and acquisition of school improvements, including acquiring sites, improvements to new and existing sites, construction of new buildings and additions and alterations to existing buildings, and furnishing and equipping the new buildings and additions.

Council has already appropriated $250,000 for the purchase of about seven school sites to be refunded from the bond money, a move that school officials say has saved the city a great deal of money.

Council also gave its stamp of approval on a contract between the Hampton Roads Sanitation Authority and the Little Creek Naval Base wherein the Navy will provide sewage treatment facilities for the Base area until a permanent plant is in operation.

Persons receiving the service will be charged 23 cents per 1,000 gallons, based on a metered water system, and the maximum flow will be limited to 400,000 gallons per day.

The terms of the contract will not exceed two years. Officials of the Hampton Roads Sanitation District have said that the large permanent treatment plant should be completed by February of 1967.

Also in connection with the sewage problem, council passed an ordinance authorizing City Manager W. Russell Hatcher to ask HRSD to install sewer trunk lines at various locations throughout the city.

The ordinance specifies installation of sewer trunk lines from Millie on Virginia Beach Boulevard to Great Neck Road at London Bridge and from Hilltop to Birdneck Road on Route 13 from the intersection of Diamond Springs Road and North Hampton Boulevard to Shore Drive and from Shore Drive to Shelton Road.

Other lines will be installed and paid for by the city with the understanding that once HRSD is prepared to take over the lines the city will be reimbursed.

These lines include a main on Great Neck Road where it now stops at Point O'Wash to a lagoon area planned on the C. L. Whitehurst property and a sewer trunk line from Shelton Road along Shore Drive to the tunnel approach road.

In other action, council: Approved an ordinance stating that service stations must have a use permit even in areas already zoned commercial.

Appropriated on first reading $80,000 for property in the Euclid area for industrial development.

Agreed to ask Norfolk to provide water in Cape Henry Shores.

Passed on second, and final, reading the following appropriations: $5,718.71 for legal fees on the reapportionment suit; $43,333 for a new finance department building; $55,000 from the bond issue for the utilities department; $21,105, expenses to budgets of treasury, commissioner of revenue, nonwealth's attorney and city sergeant; and $3,000 on loan from the Bayside Improvement Fund for equipment for the Chesapeake Beach Fire Dept.

YOUTHS SCARE AWAY PROWLER

PEMBROKE — Two teenage boys have been credited with scaring away a prowler who broke into a Pembroke home early Saturday morning.

Police said that young Larry Sifer, 14, and his overnight guest, Ray Frank, 15, were asleep in Larry's bedroom when they heard strange noises.

They got up to investigate and found a window open. They closed it and went back to bed. A short time later they heard more noises, this time closer. The sounds seemed to be coming from an adjoining bathroom in the tri-level Sifer home.

Larry and Ray again investigated. This time they found the glass and screen of the bathroom window removed and the front door standing ajar.

The boys alerted their parents who called police. The call was answered by Officer Joe Perez.

Ft. Story Wives Hat Show Held

FORT STORY — The Fort Story Officer's Wife's Club, in cooperation with the local Sears-Robuck store, recently held a fashion-hat show at the post Officer's Club.

The program, which was arranged by Mrs. Jackie Koneval, was conducted by Mrs. Eleanor Flowers and Mrs. June Black. Mrs. Flowers is a representative of the Sears Hat Department, while Mrs. Black, a well-known fashion model and authority, works independently.

The secondary purpose of the meeting was to aid the State Mental Hospital at Williamsburg.

On several occasions in the past, the Fort Story club has aided the Hospital in various ways, and this time its members were called upon to relieve the shortage of coffee mugs at the hospital. Each lady, in addition to bringing a small gift, brought a coffee mug to the meeting, and those collected were turned over to the hospital.

This past Christmas, the club donated over $200 in cash and gifts to the same hospital.

Garden Club Hears Expert

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Cavalier Garden Club met last Wednesday, at the Princess Anne Country Club, with Mrs. Lonnie O. Clark, Jr., president, presiding.

"How to Groom Plant Material for Exhibition" was the subject of the guest speaker, Mr. Ocie Barnes, Superintendent of Parks for the city of Norfolk.

Mr. Barnes recommended the "Handbook for Flower Shows," published by the Federation of Garden Clubs, as a valuable and educational book on this subject.

In order to get the specimen plant material to the stage necessary for exhibiting in a flower show requires careful planning from the very beginning.

First in the program is the soil. Have the soil tested so that it can be properly prepared for each plant. After the soil has been conditioned, proper planning is of utmost importance.

The grower should have a proper watering program and a weekly inspection of the plant for insects, disease, etc. Should it be necessary to spray the plant, before doing so cover any blooms you wish to exhibit with a polyethylene bag to protect them from the spray.

Always try to cut the material in the evening when the sugar content is at its highest and soak overnight in a bucket of water.

When fertilizing your plants, use the fertilizer that is indicated by your soil test.

Mrs. Harold Kellam was awarded a blue ribbon for her arrangement and Mrs. Rutherford H. Spessard, Jr. a red.

Atlantic Loan Joins A.I.B.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Atlantic Industrial Loan Association of which Langley P. Land is vice-president, is a member of the new American Industrial Bankers Association, it was announced recently by Max A. Denney, Executive Vice President.

The new association was formed by a merger of the American Finance Conference, which was the national association of independent sales finance companies, and the American Industrial Bankers Association, the national association of industrial banks, Morris Plan banks, and small loan companies.

The merger will bring together members of the finance industry responsible for transacting about 25 per cent of the installment financing and consumer credit in the U.S. today.

Denney stated the merger of the two organizations will eliminate overlapping programs, consolidate administrative functions and improve services to the member companies who provide financing and funds for nearly every consumer credit demand.

The American Finance Conference and American Industrial Bankers Association began their operations in 1933 and 1934 respectively. The new association has a membership of more than 500 companies with approximately 4,500 offices in the U.S. and Canada.

Stock Car Hall Nears Completion

DARLINGTON, S.C. — The long-awaited stock car racing Hall of Fame will be located in the Joe Weatherly museum now nearing completion at Darlington Raceway.

The announcement was made by Jim Foster, sports editor of the Spartanburg Herald and president of the Southern Motorsports Press Association. Foster said the Association had chosen Darlington at their recent convention in Bristol, Tenn., and that another meeting in Daytona next month would probably see the mechanics of operation finalized.

Voting will take place during the summer and the results announced prior to the Southern 500 at Darlington in September.

The Joe Weatherly museum, a $100,000 project at Darlington, will house many historic racing stock cars, motors, trophies and pictures. The free museum was named in honor of the two-time national champion who was killed in a California race a year ago.

Bob Colvin, Darlington president, said he and Darlington was honored to have the press locate their Hall in Darlington. "We will spare no expense or effort to see that the Hall of Fame receives a prominent place in the museum," Colvin said.

The formal opening of the museum has been set for early May, prior to the annual Rebel 300 classic stock car race.

Motor Vehicle Bureau Seeks Information

RICHMOND — C. H. Lamb, Commissioner of the Division of Motor Vehicles, today issued his annual appeal to Virginia Motor Vehicle owners, who have changed their address since securing their 1964 license plates.

"The number of Virginia Motor vehicle owners has grown to more than 1,800,000," said Mr. Lamb, "and the size of this registration list makes it necessary for us to begin preparation of 1965 renewal applications shortly after January 1. If you have a 1964 license plate issued in your name and you have changed your address during the current year, please notify the Division of Motor Vehicles, P.O. Box 1298, Richmond, Virginia at once so we can mail to your correct address a license application for 1965. If you fail to notify the Division of your change of address, your new license form cannot be delivered and this is bound to work a hardship on the licensee and cause him considerable inconvenience."

Commissioner Lamb stated that the following information should be included in notifying his office of a change of address: the 1964 license plate number, title number, make and identification number, new address, old address and name as shown on current registration card. He suggested that a postal card be mailed promptly to Division of Motor Vehicles, P.O. Box 1298, Richmond, Virginia to insure receipt of new license application early in March.

W&M And ECC Play Saturday At Arena

NORFOLK — The College of William and Mary and East Carolina College will afford the basketball fans of the area a look into things to come when they meet Saturday night in the Norfolk Arena.

William and Mary having one of their leaner years on the court should profit from the Exam lay-off, the very thing that The Indians Captain Martin-Morris needed. Morris, the steady influence for the tribe, injured his ankle December 14 and until the last game against Richmond had been of little help to his team, however, the 6'6" player hobbled back to lead his teammates to a 61-59 victory in that last outing before exams.

The Indians are playing with mostly juniors and 6'6" sophomore Ben Pomeroy this year and Coach Bill Chambers can't help but look back over his shoulder to this years outstanding Freshman Squad.

The Freshman who will meet the East Carolina Frosh in a Preliminary to the main go are sporting the finest squad in years. Jimmy Rama and Billy Taylor from the Newport News Championship Team of last season have been leading the way, along with Ron Panmorton former teammate of the great Bob Lewis of the University of North Carolina, while in high school. The starting five for the Freshman average over 6'4", in fact there is only one player under six feet and that is Jack Tucker, diminutive backcourt standout of last years Virginia Beach High School team. Tucker is 5'8 1/2 and has played in seven games with the frosh.

The East Carolina varsity has a record of 8-5 and include Citadel and Richmond among their victims. The school is spending one year probationary period before becoming a full-fledged member of the Southern Conference next September. With their record in Southern Conference play this season they would be in fourth place if eligible this year.

The Norfolk game will be a re-match of an earlier game at Williamsburg in which the Indians won 86-62 after a very close first half. East Carolina has come on fast since that early season game and led by Bobby Kinnard of Great Bridge and Jerry Woodbine, are capable of making things interesting for any of the Southern Conference teams with the exception of Davidson, which seems to have things their way this year in the conference.

Tickets are on sale at Webster's on Laskin Road at Virginia Beach.

Ft. Eustis Play Marines Tonight

FORT EUSTIS, Va. — One of the key games in the 1964-65 East Coast Interservice Conference basketball race will be unraveled at Fort Eustis' Anderson Field House, Tonight at 8 p.m. when the host Wheels engage the Quantico Marines.

Both clubs have been in the thick of the fight for the E.C.I.C. lead all season as Quantico won nine of its first ten circuit contests and Fort Eustis took seven of its first nine. The pair are engaged in a triangular race with SUBLEANT of the Norfolk Naval Base.

In the first meeting of the season at Quantico, the Marines dealt the Wheels their first loss, 111-95. Last year, the two split a pair of games with the Wheels winning, 102-91, at Anderson Field House.

Quantico features a high-scoring attack built around the flashy backcourt exploits of former Georgetown (D.C.) standout Brian (Puddy) Sheehan, a 5-foot-9 guard. Former Louisville standout Dick Pelfoff is the top shooter for the Marines with 6-foot-5 Bob Birkle of Marietta (O.) and 6-foot-6 service ball veteran Jim Meyers handling the rebounding.

Coach Billy McCann's Wheels are also a hard-running, fast-shooting outfit, having cracked the century mark seven times in the first eighteen games. Former Iowa ace Ron Zagar, a 5-10 guard, and Hal Brown, a 6-3 forward from U. of Washington, are the top producers on a starting unit which features five double-figure scorers for Fort Eustis. Other starters are Ron Greene, 6-4, Don Fannerman, 6-0, and Andy Alexander, 6-4.

Imagine

Funny kind of preaching

We are optimists. Ordinarily, we preach optimism. We want you to be an optimist. BUT—

It won't hurt you to be a pessimist for a few minutes—just long enough to imagine the ruin that may come your way if your house or business burns to ashes—if you injure or kill a person, or three persons in your car—and are sued for thousands—if you are laid up for months by a personal accident—if your valuable possessions are lost or stolen.

This is intelligent pessimism. For it can lead you to take out the insurance you need to save you from all these possible tragic losses.

How Big Is $100 Billion

We've become conditioned to annual federal budgets in the $100 billion range. But it's the world's safest bet that mighty few of us can begin to visualize so vast a sum.

Columnist Sylvia Porter provides a number of down-to-earth examples of just what $100 billion amounts to. Here's one of them: "If a corporation had started in business with $100 billion in the year 1 A.D. and had managed so dreadfully that it lost $100,000 a day, it still could have enough left of the original $100 billion to continue operating and to continue losing $100,000 a day for 776 years."

Here's another: "If you had $100 billion, you could give each of our country's 60 million women a mink coat costing $1,700."

This is the kind of money the federal government has been spending year after year. Much of it, represented by the soaring federal debt, must be paid by our children and our children's children and so on if it is ever to be paid at all. Even in boom times, with record tax revenues, spending has far outrun income. The mind reels at contemplating what would happen if there was even a moderate downturn in the economy.

Church Opens New Building

PLAZA — After holding services in a bowling establishment for over a year and a half, the congregation of St. Francis Episcopal Church opened the doors of their own building for the first time last Sunday.

Dedication services for the new church, located on Rosemont Road in Princess Anne Plaza, will be held Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m.

The Rt. Rev. George Purnell

Gunn, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, will dedicate the new building.

The Rev. Clayton E. Crigger, vicar-in-charge, arrived in Virginia Beach with his family early in June of 1963 and a month later the first services were held.

The owner and manager of Rinaldi's Plaza Bowl offered their building and facilities rent-free to the newly organized mission until a church could be built.

The building fund was not only supported by contributions from individuals but also by other area churches. Galilee Episcopal Church in Virginia Beach gave $15,000 and The Church of the Good Shepherd in Norfolk gave $3,000.

St. Francis is presently classified by the Department of Missions of the Diocese of Southern Virginia as an "organized mission," but the Vicar and Vestry hope to reach the status of independent parish by next year.

About 50 families are involved in the church activities at the present time and attendance at regular services averages between 90 and 115 persons.

During its short time in existence, the church has drawn 126 communicants, 165 baptized members and 100 in Church School each Sunday.

The building was designed by Melvin Spence & Associates, Architects, and built by Kirk-Reid & Company, contractors. The entire complex, including land and furnishings, is valued at about $100,000.

He is currently chairman of the South-east Council of Judges.

He joined the advertising department of Coca-Cola Company in 1943, after association with several major agencies and advertisers in the automotive and appliance field.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be the announcing of the Silver Award Medal Winner for 1964, symbolizing the Ad. Club of Norfolk's choice of Ad. Man of the Year.

Mr. Fritschel will also present some Low Budget TV Commercials for judging by the audience, using the same blanks as those used by the TV Festival Awards Committee.

Heart Fund Drive Ready To Begin

The 1965 Heart Fund Campaign, spearheading force in the nationwide fight against heart and blood vessel diseases, which now accounts for 55 per cent of all deaths, will get underway here and in 650 other American communities (February 1) and continue through the month, reaching its high point with a residential canvass on the weekend of Heart Sunday, February 21.

General chairman of the campaign is William P. Kellam and the Heart Sunday chairman is Mrs. C. Samuel Mason. Other important posts in the appeal are being filled by Webster Brown Small Business and Industry Chairman; Claiborne Bryant, Special Gifts Chairman; Fletcher Bryant, Special Events Chairman; James R. McKenry, Corporate Gifts Chairman and Mrs. Richard Barnes, Publicity Chairman.

"The local Heart Fund goal is $18,000. A year ago the total realized was $13,081.98. These public contributions are used to support research, education and community service programs of the Tidewater Heart Association, an affiliate of the American Heart Association."

Said Mrs. Mason: "The Tri-Hi-Y of Princess Anne and Virginia Beach High Schools will have the Coin Counters."

"The first Heart Fund Campaign was conducted in 1949, and since then about 100 million Heart Fund dollars have been channeled into heart and blood vessel research, which now is saving thousands of lives."

"For the first time, we are now starting to see a reversal in the cardiovascular death rate applying to the American wage earner. Since 1950, the death rate for men aged 45-65 has declined 71 per cent. Your Heart Fund gifts helped make this possible."

Lecture On Gayce Readings Set For Sunday

VIRGINIA BEACH — A lecture on "A Concept of God as Found in the Edgar Gayce Readings" will be the feature of the Sunday Forum at the Association for Research and Enlightenment, Atlantic Avenue and 62th Street on Sunday, at 3:30 p.m. The speaker will be Robert O. Clapp, who is in charge of the Association study groups.

Mr. Clapp, a native of Massachusetts, received his Master's degree in education at Harvard and taught for several years in the public schools of Virginia Beach before joining the staff of the A.R.E.

A question period and a coffee hour will follow the lecture. This event is open to the public.

Zip Code Improved

VIRGINIA BEACH — Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr. said today he has received word from Postmaster General John A. Gronski in Washington, D.C. that a big "breakthrough" has now been made on electronic machines to "read" ZIP-coded addresses on mail.

"The Postmaster General said he expects to begin installing these sophisticated new machines in major post offices starting in about a year," the postmaster explained.

Mr. Crosswhite said each machine will be able to sort, as well as read, at the rate of 35,000 letters an hour.

The offices to get the address readers have not been announced, but the local postmaster said they will have significant effects on the mail in and out of each community regardless of whether it gets the new machines.

This is because they will speed incoming mail to smaller offices from major cities and step up the dispatch of mail deposited in smaller communities but which must be processed enroute at major mail massing points.

The postmaster emphasized, however, introduction of the "seeing eye" device next year does not mean ZIP Code isn't useful already.

"ZIP code," he explained, "is important in mail handling under the system of mail processing already in use which will continue to be in use as the basic system at most points. These machines will be just another step—in conjunction with the mechanical mail sorting machines we have developed—to help keep pace with the growing volumes of mail. Neither will the machines endanger jobs—they will only help us meet mail expansion with minimum manpower expansion."

Tax Clinic Set Feb. 9

RICHMOND — A special one-day Tax Management Clinic for owners and managers of industrial, retail, wholesale and service firms will be held on Tuesday, February 9, at the Jefferson Hotel in Richmond.

This clinic is planned to give the small businessman a working knowledge of the new tax laws and their effect on management decisions. The instruction will be handled by Internal Revenue Service experts from the Philadelphia Regional Office.

The subjects to be covered are: Travel and Entertainment Expense; Estate and Gift Tax problems of the small businessman; and finally, a Workshop covering the main tax questions that confront small business.

"Advance registration is suggested," said Clarence P. Moore, Small Business Administration Regional Director, "as a capacity crowd is anticipated."

Moore further states, "It is a known fact that the majority of small businessmen overpay their federal taxes. The Internal Revenue Service only wants what is due them and nothing more. The overpayment of taxes, in most cases, comes directly out of the profits of the business."

The organizations cooperating in bringing this important Tax Clinic to Virginia businessmen are: Internal Revenue Service; the Schools of Distribution and Business of Richmond Professional Institute; Distributive Education Service of the Richmond Public Schools; Virginia State Chamber of Commerce; Richmond Chamber of Commerce; Richmond Retail Merchants Association, and the Small Business Administration.

For further information or to register contact Conference Coordinator Cofer Loomer, School of Distribution, Richmond Professional Institute, Richmond, Virginia.

HARD AT WORK on her book "Penny's Guide to Teen-Age Charm and Popularity," actress Gloria Winters takes time out from her "Sky King" television series to research guide-books pertinent to her subject matter. The book is now completed and has been published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. Gloria has portrayed "Penny," niece and side-kick of "Sky King" star Kirby Grant, for ten years. The programs are currently seen each week on CBS-TV stations.

'PENNY' WRITES A BOOK

Gloria Winters, for ten years co-star as "Penny" with Kirby Grant on the "Sky King" television series, has written a book titled "Penny's Guide to Teen-Age Charm and Popularity." Published this month by Prentice-Hall, Inc., the book was written in response to thousands of letters she has received from teen-agers all over the country.

The 200-page hard-cover volume is available at book-stores.

"Penny stresses that a person's individuality is the most important part of her personality. Her book urges girls to protect this individuality, to gain confidence and to be a carefully-kept personal diary, and points out an attractive personality is the most important thing for a teen-ager to seek."

Only when the teen has completed this renovation, says "Penny," is she ready to begin working on her exterior appearance. Goodness, sincerity, self-confidence and the important business of how to communicate are discussed in this frank and forthright volume, as is a quick refresher course in etiquette.

A chapter is devoted to the selection of clothing, and there are other chapters devoted to hair care, how to keep a trim figure, make-up and the care of complexion are included in "Penny's Guide to Teen-Age Charm and Popularity."

Winters Color Show On NBC

Jonathan Winters, America's man of many characterizations, and Michael Bentine, Britain's inventive comedy star, will combine their talents on NBC-TV's "The Jonathan Winters Show" to be co-located Monday, Feb. 1, (9-10 p.m. EST).

Winters' third comedy special of the season will feature a tour of the hilarious New York World's Fair, in which Bentine will be a BIC-TV interviewer filming a report on the Fair for his British audience. In this segment, which will be pre-taped at the Fair, Bentine will meet several "typical" Winter Fair people, including a character portrayed by Winters.

Winters also will perform one of his "comedy classics" for the first time this season. Also, he will be challenged by another "Many Things You Can Do" category, in which he is given a prop and asked to improvise various uses of it.

Winters' sequence from Bentine's award-winning BBO-TV comedy series, "It's a Square World," will be shown.

Jonathan Winters' "comedy classic" will be produced by Perry Stone and directed by Gordon Douglas. Spots is executive producer.

Telestar Beams LBJ Event To Europe

An unusual example of international cooperation made possible the transmission by Telstar II satellite of highlights of today's Inaugural ceremonies to Europe and from certain countries only minutes after they occurred.

It involved the efforts of Communications Satellite Corp., American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and CBS News, the latter acting as network pool coordinator for January.

COMSAT has taken over the lease of the United States ground station at Andover, Me., to prepare for the operation of Earlybird, the "stationary" orbit satellite due to be launched in March. As previously announced, the Andover station had been closed down for modifications necessitated by Earlybird, and the work schedule had indicated it would be closed during the Inaugural period. Similarly, all European ground stations were also closed for modifications.

When the European Broadcasting Union, which is responsible for feeding satellite transmission to member countries, requested a Telstar II transmission of the Inaugural, it was advised that no ground stations would be in operation on Jan. 20.

EBU inquired whether it would be possible to change the modification work schedules. COMSAT and AT&T informed them that if a European station could be opened to receive the transmission they would attempt to reopen Andover (for the Inauguration). EBU then persuaded West Germany to advance the opening date of its new ground station at Raisting, and so advised COMSAT, AT&T and CBS News.

COMSAT and AT&T then agreed to alter their schedules to permit use of the Andover station on Inaugural Day. Yesterday, the first test transmission between Andover and Raisting was successfully completed. Today, AT&T was scheduled to transmit highlights of the ceremony and Inaugural address during a Telstar pass at 12:38-12:52 p.m. EST.

John Grist of the British Broadcasting Corp. acted as producer for the EBU. CBS Television Network facilities were used to tape, edit and feed the broadcast to Andover for transmission to Europe.

Detective Story Featured On CBS-TV Show Mon.

A new theory about the ancient ruins of Stonehenge, the controversy it provoked, and the filmed findings of a CBS News production unit form the basis of a modern "scientific detective story" in "The Mystery of Stonehenge," to be broadcast in color as an hour-long CBS News Special, Monday, Feb. 1 (10-11 p.m. EST) on the CBS Television Network.

CBS News Chief European Correspondent Charles Collingwood and CBS News London Correspondent Alexander Kendrick are the reporters; Collingwood also provides the narration.

The massive stone ruins of Stonehenge, standing on the Salisbury Plain 90 miles south of London and dating back to the second millennium B.C., have been the subject of scientific and popular speculation for centuries. The newest theory about their original function was pronounced last June by Dr. Gerald Hawkins, an astronomer at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Cambridge, Mass., and has been the subject of considerable controversy since.

"The Mystery of Stonehenge" takes up the theory and the controversy and goes one step further—it includes a pictorial effort, undertaken by CBS News to test the theory.

Dr. Hawkins, in an article published in the June 1964 issue of Harper's Magazine, set forth the theory that Stonehenge was, in fact, an astronomical observatory and a crude computer. Utilizing modern computer calculations based on the directions in which the sun and the moon rose and set around the year 1,500 B.C. (the probable date of the completion of Stonehenge), Dr. Hawkins concluded that the massive stone blocks which form the circular monument were erected and utilized by the prehistoric inhabitants of England for astronomical purposes.

Following the publication of his theory, CBS News assigned producer Harry Morgan to set up cameras at the Stonehenge site in an attempt to test the Hawkins concept with a filmed record. These films form the climax of the broadcast.

In addition to Dr. Hawkins, who is also a research associate at Harvard College Observatory and Chairman of the Department of Astronomy of Boston University, the broadcast includes an extensive interview with R. J. C. Atkinson, Professor of Archaeology at University College, Cardiff, South Wales, and a leading authority on Stonehenge. Professor Atkinson has strong doubts about the intellectual ability of prehistoric man to construct or create a structure for as sophisticated a purpose as Dr. Hawkins' theory would imply.

Also interviewed are Dr. Glyn Daniel, Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge University, Professor of Pre-History and an archaeologist; Dr. Frank George of the University of Bristol, head of the cybernetics unit of the university and a computer consultant to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO); Harold Richards, an astronomer at the Royal Greenwich Observatory, and Patrick Moore, Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society.

The broadcast was also filmed on location on Prescelly Mountain in Wales; at Cambridge University; in London, and at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

"The Mystery of Stonehenge" was produced by Harry Morgan. Associate producer is Lucy Geringer. Marlanna Noris is the writer.

Judy Garland On "Broadway Tonight" Show

Judy Garland will make her first American television appearance of this season when she pays a visit to "On Broadway Tonight" Friday, Feb. 5 (8:30-9:30 p.m. EST) on the CBS Television Network. Rudy Vallee is host of the variety series.

Miss Garland will chat with host Vallee and sing several numbers. Also on hand will be the customary six acts of young professional talent featured each week on the show. These turns are being selected and will be announced shortly.

Irving Mansfield is the producer of "On Broadway Tonight." Stan Harris directs; music is under the supervision of Harry Sosnik.

TB Press Project To Be Judged

Early in February entries in the National Tuberculosis Association's 28th annual School Press Project will be judged at the Virginia level.

Judges will be John E. Leard, managing editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch; Richard S. Gillis, Jr., executive director of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. William E. Apperson, assistant director, division of tuberculosis control, State Department of Health.

Deadline for entries at the Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association office is February 1, and at the NTA office in New York, March 1.

The project is cosponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and approved by the National Association of Secondary-School Principals.

The contest is open to all Junior high and high schools that have regular publications; it is also open to elementary schools, provided they have a regular publication, but in these cases the project is especially adapted for them.

Awards are made to schools' newspapers rather than to individuals. Wide latitude is allowed in showing evidence of journalistic enterprise: news stories, editorials, photographs, cartoons, puzzles, humor, verse and even comic strips come within the scope of acceptable entries.

Even subject matter is broad: entries can concern tuberculosis or other respiratory diseases (cigarette smoking and air pollution are good topics). But they can also have to do with "health careers." This last category could include almost any angle of school or community health.

"In order that we might complete the campaign and reach the goal of $70,000, I hope that everyone who received and used the seals but have over-looked sending in a contribution will do so right away," she said.

Miss Brooke pointed out that, in addition to Case-Finding, Health Education and Patient aid, one of the major uses of Christmas Seal Funds is Medical Research in Virginia.

REPORT SHOWS CRIME RATE UP

MOTOR BIKES CAUSING MANY PROBLEMS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Those motor bikes that so many Virginia Beach youngsters got for Christmas may cause parents more headaches than they had anticipated.

The increased number of motor bikes on the highways has become a safety hazard, Lt. C. R. Bailey of the Traffic Bureau said.

"We have had so many complaints about the youngsters cutting in and out of traffic and riding on the sidewalks," Lt. Bailey said.

What most parents do not realize is that according to the state code, these bikes must be properly licensed and the rider must have an operator's license. This, of course, would prohibit any youngster under 15 years of age from operating one.

There have been some misconceptions about the bikes being permissible on highways because the motors are only about four horsepower.

But this is incorrect, Lt. Bailey said. "Any motor under eight horsepower does not have to be inspected," he explained. "It does not entitle an unlicensed operator to ride them on public streets or highways."

He pointed out that, according to the Motor Vehicle Laws, a motor vehicle is described as "every vehicle which is self-propelled or designed for self-propulsion and every vehicle drawn by or designed to be drawn by a motor vehicle and including every device in, upon or by which any person or property is or can be transported or drawn upon a highway, except devices moved by human or animal power and devices used exclusively upon stationary rails or tracks, and vehicles used in this State but not required to be licensed by the State."

Motor bikes come under the same classification as go-carts, which means they can only be operated on private property without a license. They are prohibited on any public street or highway without a license tag and a licensed operator. And riding a vehicle on sidewalks is strictly illegal.

In fact, motor bikes and their riders must meet all requirements that pertain to other motor vehicles. They should have liability insurance, as required by state law, a serial number, a title and a city tag.

And when the motor is disengaged, which some youngsters have done to ward off being apprehended, the vehicle should have a regular bicycle license as required by a city ordinance.

Some youngsters and their parents have already been issued tickets and appeared in court for the illegal operation of motor bikes. And unless more parents are made aware of the laws governing these vehicles there will undoubtedly be a great many more.

5-Car Pile Up On Blvd.

ARAGONA — Three motorists were injured and three cars were declared a total loss in a 5-car pile-up on Virginia Beach Boulevard at Witch Duck Road Monday during the early morning rush hours.

Police said that the brakes on a semi-trailer truck failed to hold as the driver tried to come to a stop at a traffic light. When the truck struck the last of four cars bunched up by the light at the intersection, it caused a chain reaction of rear-end collision, police said.

The truck driver, Robert M. Heise, 45, of Marion, Ind. was treated for shock.

Others injured were David P. Parris, 30, of Norfolk, who suffered cuts and bruises of both knees and legs; and Frankie L. Kerin, Jr., 37, of Portsmouth who received a small cut on his upper lip.

The other two cars involved in the smash-up were driven by Mrs. Virginia Mann, 28, of Princess Anne Road, Virginia Beach and Albert N. Copperthite, 32, of Norfolk.

Damage to the truck was estimated at about $150 but the vehicles driven by Parrish, Kerin and Mrs. Mann were declared a "total loss" by Patrolman C. A. O'Neal. Damage to the Copperthite vehicle was estimated at about $200.

Police said no charges were placed against Heise because the accident was due to brake failure.

The collisions took place about 8:30 a.m.

$1,500 Missing From Supermart

OCEANA — Virginia Beach Police are investigating the mysterious disappearance Saturday night of $1,500 from an Oceana super market.

The money reportedly disappeared from the Food Town store sometime between 9 and 9:45 p.m., police said.

Two bundles of $20 bills, valued at $500 each, and about $500 in loose change and bills from the cash drawer were reported missing.

Officer E. G. Casey was called to the scene. Investigating officer is Detective H. S. Seager.

Gray flew 25 combat zone missions in support of counter-insurgency operations.

Police Plagued By Burglaries

VIRGINIA BEACH — Burglaries and illegal entries are still plaguing the Virginia Beach Police Department with over 17 cases reported within the past few days.

Some of the places entered were ransacked but nothing was reported missing, causing police to believe that it might be the work of juveniles.

One such place was the office of Hurst & Watson Company at 4100 Virginia Beach Boulevard. Entry was made through an east door of the building but nothing was missing and the office had not even been ransacked.

Officer R. A. Davis Jr. and Detective C. O. Lambert are investigating.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lucken of 2205 Elden Road, who are reported out of town, was ransacked but valuable pieces of jewelry were left unbothered, even though the box had obviously been gone through.

Police said that a rear lower screen was torn out and an upper bathroom window had been left open. The entry was discovered by a friend who was checking the house for the Luckens.

Officer J. A. Crunk and Detective A. R. Nobles are handling the case.

There have been quite a few instances of items being stolen from parked automobiles.

Roy C. Meekins Jr. reported the loss of about $198 worth of clothing, taken from his car while he was visiting in a home at 924 Richland Drive. Officer R. L. Taylor was called to the scene.

Officer W. B. Barton was called to the Princess Anne Country Club where George Peyton Gregory reported that two bowling balls, valued at about $50, were taken from his parked automobile.

Even parked boats are not ignored by thieves. A power winch and motor, valued at $104 was removed from a boat and trailer at Beach Bay Marina on

Youth Shot By Brother

PINEWOOD GARDENS — A 16-year-old Virginia Beach youth is reported in fair condition at Portsmouth Naval Hospital after being shot by his older brother as he showed the boy a pistol.

Alvin S. Gaine was struck in the hand and chest by shots from a .25 caliber automatic when the gun accidentally discharged while his brother, Donald R. Gaine, 18, was holding it, police said.

The accident took place at the Lynnhaven Atlantic Service Station where Donald is employed. The pistol reportedly belonged to the proprietor of the station.

Officer C. D. Hathaway and Detective A. E. Smith were called to the scene shortly after 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The boy was rushed to the offices of Dr. J. L. Nakanishi in Princess Anne Plaza for emergency treatment and later transferred to the Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

Police said the bullet passed through Alvin's hand and ricocheted off his chest. His injuries are not believed to be serious.

Alvin and Donald are the sons of Mrs. Robert Clemmons of 249 Driftwood Road in Pinewood Gardens.

$600 Taken In Laundry Appliances

VIRGINIA BEACH — Police are investigating two weekend burglaries that resulted in the loss of over $600 in laundry appliances.

A coin-operated washer, valued at $250, was taken from a building at 175 Dillon Drive sometime between 5 p.m. Sunday and 9:30 a.m. Monday.

The appliance was apparently removed through an unlocked side door, police said. A dryer was left intact. The building is owned by G. M. Contracting Corporation.

A washer and dryer were taken from a new model home at Kirkwood and King's Grant Rd. owned by Potter-Davis Corp. They were valued at $370.

Police said that the house was entered through a bedroom window after attempts to open the garage door apparently failed. The burglars also attempted to remove the refrigerator but gave it up.

Police Study Ways To Curb Upward Trend

By Ruby Jean Phillips

VIRGINIA BEACH — Should the Virginia Beach Police Department add more patrol cars at the risk of possibly realizing more traffic fatalities during 1965, or continue its accelerated Traffic Bureau program at the risk of battling more crime? This is the dilemma confronting police officials here.

An annual report released Wednesday by Police Chief J. E. Moore clearly shows an alarming increase in crime during 1964 over the previous year.

The department received 3,556 cases last year, over 1,500 more than in 1963. Investigations and arrests cleared 876 of the total.

Chief Moore firmly believes that most of this increase is due to the number of men who were assigned to the Traffic Bureau when it was formed last May.

This concentration on the city's traffic problems showed its effectiveness last year. The number of fatalities dropped from 33 in 1963 to 13 in 1964. This decline was, in large part, due to the number of patrol cars on the highways. They were able to check for motorists to keep within the speed limits.

"Quite a few men and units were put into the Traffic Bureau," he said. "This cut down on the number of patrol cars which ordinarily patrol the city at night. So what are we to do? Sacrifice lives on the highways to protect property from burglars?"

Carelessness Aids Crime

Much of the increase can be attributed to the carelessness of individuals who leave cars and homes unlocked. This is especially true during the summer months when the resort is in full swing.

The number of crimes almost doubled during June, July and August. Most of them, of course, came from the resort area where vacationers would leave items on the beach, in their cars or in unlocked cottages and motels.

"This sort of carelessness invites crime," Chief Moore said. "Homelies and terrible rapes took a plunge in 1964 but there was a drastic increase in robberies, assaults, burglaries, larcenies and auto thefts."

THIEVES DRAW BLANK AFTER BREAKIN HERE

VIRGINIA BEACH — The medical offices of Drs. James E. Charlton and Fitzhugh Mayo on Laskin Road were broken into sometime Sunday but nothing was reported missing.

Officer William Taylor discovered the break-in during a routine check of the building about 2 a.m. Monday. He found a screen pried off a window and evidence that someone had entered the building.

The entry reportedly took place sometime between 5 a.m. Sunday and 2 a.m. Monday. Dr. Mayo was called to the scene but found nothing missing at that time, police said.

Sgt. C. H. Payne was also on the scene. Investigating officer is Detective C. O. Lambert.

Auto, Dog Tags Due

VIRGINIA BEACH — Motorists and dog owners who have not yet received their city auto tags nor the city dog tags will have to hurry. Deadlines for both are Monday.

City auto tags must be displayed on vehicles after midnight January 31. They may be purchased at either City Hall in Princess Anne or at City Hall annex in Virginia Beach. The cost is $10.

Dog licenses are issued at a cost of $2 each regardless of sex.

Property Changes Hands

The Atlantic Hotel and adjacent property was purchased recently by Richard L. Strohkorb, through Goodman-Segar-Hogan, Inc., from George D. Gilbert, Grayson Harding, Virginia Forbes, and Geraldine Saunders. Strohkorb will become actively engaged in the operation of the hotel and Gilbert, who operated the hotel for a number of years, will continue to be associated with its management during the summer season of 1965. VIRGINIA BEACH — A preview of the mid-winter fashions, an exciting review of spring and summer fashions, came to the Cavalier last Wednesday.

Area Home Demonstration Clubs Confer

VIRGINIA BEACH — The first of a series of Leadership Development Conferences to be conducted by the Chesapeake and Virginia Beach Federations of Home Demonstration Clubs and the Extension Service of VPI was held at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center last Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Representatives from various women's organizations were present to learn more and better ways of having their particular club operate and how they might all work together to better the community.

Mrs. Levy Kight, president of Chesapeake Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs presided at the Conference. Mrs. C. B. Reid, president of Virginia Beach Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs welcomed the members of the clubs, after which Mrs. Willie H. Rountree, president of District I, Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, related the purpose of the meeting.

Dr. Maynard Heckel, training leader of Extension Service of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, spoke on "Communication Skills," after being introduced by Mrs. Reid.

A brief recess with a coffee break was called after which Mrs. N. L. Hedrick, Home Demonstration Club member and 4-H Leader from Chesapeake, introduced the next speaker, Dr. Fessler.

Dr. Donald R. Fessler, Extension Sociologist of Extension Service, VPI, presented the topic "Motivating Group Activity."

The Conference was well attended, and it is hoped that more organizations will send representatives to the next Conferences which are planned to help all groups better themselves.

Flower Show Judges Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Tidewater District, Virginia Council of Flower Show Judges met recently and discussed the trend in Abstract Design. Following the business meeting over which Mrs. L. M. Caputo presided, Mrs. J. G. Chamberlain moderated a program on Abstracts.

Mrs. Caputo, Mrs. F. J. Lukanich, Mrs. Merwyn Kellar, Mrs. W. B. Hall, and Mrs. E. B. Forrest made the arrangements which were judged during the discussion.

Mrs. Chamberlain noted that abstract design is not new. It has been used since the beginning of time, but in flower arranging it has come into use as arrangers have progressed in the study of design.

The simplicity and minimum of plant material required results in patterns most adaptable to modern and contemporary backgrounds.

A great emphasis should be placed on the utilization of space, voids in the abstract assume new importance. It has an appeal to the arranger because the cost of material is lessened.

As in the case of all competitive arrangements, the schedule should cover the requirements for the class. It shall clearly state what is required, be it non-objective or expressive design or an element or principle shall be abstracted.

In judging, an award should not be made on interpretation alone, and the exhibitor's intent must be understandable.

Use of a figurine intensifies the meaning. It is valuable, but not a reason for an award.

Top award should be a style that is superior—not different—just for the sake of being different.

nesday courtesy of Rose Hall. The fashionable ladies of the Cavalier Club were seated at tables strategically placed around the main ballroom, in the center of which was erected a ramp, allowing the audience to view with pleasure, and no neck-craneing, the entire collection presented by the Rose Hall models.

Commentator Suzanne Lawton, assisted by fashion coordinator Louise Pennington, delivered a lively flow of chatter for each model and fashion as it appeared.

Sensational bathing suits started the show which progressed through beach shifts to sportswear to suits for church or travel to cocktail suits to dining and dancing dresses, and the final collection was of evening and hostess gowns.

The new fashions feature bright colors offset by white, suits and dresses doing double duty with the simple addition of or removal of a coat or jacket, easy care materials, comfortable fit, and price tags designed not to strain the budget.

Slacks and shorts have come into their own and ensembles which are reversible top the list. Making a comeback are a few items lifted from the flapper days—shiny black satin for cocktail suits, and ripply fringes for hip swinging action.

Hats are a necessity to round out the fashion picture. They range from the big to the small and are flowered or smooth with veils, feathers, and rhinestones, and material varies from straw to satin to silk.

Gloves to "kiss" the edge of the sleeve are important. Scarfs to accentuate are high fashion. Coats are either not there at all or come in cowl size.

Perhaps the biggest word in fashion is "illusion." What appears to be a suit could also be a cool cocktail dress; a 3-piece outfit may consist of only 2 pieces; a chiffon overskirt is cleverly designed from one piece... but whatever the illusion, the beauty and good taste of the fashions presented was real.

The models wearing the new styles were Bert Harper, Selma Gusler, Beverly Newman, Polly Brown, Carol Cox, and Sandy Standing.

The 'Y' of It

Guest Writer
Carol Van Landingham

A Y-Teen is a "Peanut" car—long, a Jean Harlow record—a drama party, an explosion of enthusiasm, a person who cares about things and people—and a Y-Teen is a lot of fun. Being a Y-Teen Director makes me about the luckiest person I know!

"Never a dull moment" is the byword which Y-Teens seem to have postscripted to everything they do. As individual clubs they're having bake sales, car washes, dances, service projects (both for their schools and outside them), pajama parties, programs on everything you can think of, and a very good time!

Some of the money they take in with projects goes into their special Conference—Convention Fund, helping individuals to go to the State Y-Teen Conference in Richmond this March, and the Tri-State and National Conferences, both coming up in the summer. Committees are also working on the dinner which Y-Teens are giving for their advisors (who are invaluable), and on the Y-Teen Ball to be held in March, complete with a reigning queen!

I'm having a wonderful time, and I think Y-Teens are too—at any rate, we're all learning that the more we put into anything, the more special it becomes.

Imagine the worst

Funny kind of preaching

We are optimists. Ordinarily, we preach optimism. We want you to be an optimist. BUT—

It won't hurt you to be a pessimist for a few minutes—just long enough to imagine the ruin that may come your way if your house or business burns to ashes—if you injure or kill a person, or three persons in your car and are sued for thousands—if you are laid up for months by a personal accident—if your valuable possessions are lost or stolen.

This is intelligent pessimism. For it can lead you to take out the insurance you need to save you from all these possible tragic losses.

As I See It

by Betty Deal

Home Demonstration Agent

Hello, down there!

This is my first news article written at 27,000 feet and we're still climbing. We expect to level off at 29,000 feet and cruise at that height at a speed of 570 miles per hour and arrive in Chicago in 2 hours.

We left Phoenix at 8:15 A.M. and arrived in Albuquerque, New Mexico in about an hour, fueled, loaded food and passengers. The plane was partially loaded when we left Phoenix but is now filled.

The weather is beautiful but we have left the warm weather of Phoenix behind. The earth below is mountainous and is snow covered. There is snow in Chicago and a snow storm in Baltimore. Lovely, lovely.

The city of Phoenix where the National Wool Growers' Ass'n. celebrated their 100th Anniversary and the 18th Make It Yourself with Wool National Contest was held in the Salt River Valley. You come over a ring of mountains to land in the broad valley. There are palm trees, green grass and bright sunshine to greet you. At this time of year the river is dry and you can ride anywhere. When there is water in the river some of the roads are impassable and you use the bridges. The mild temperatures are due partly to the relatively low altitude as well as being in the south western part of the U.S.A.

In addition to palms, you see tamarix, pyracantha, cactus, oleander and out of town you can see tumbleweed and more varieties of cactus. The life is western in feel and casual. Traffic is not! However, the pedestrian has the right-of-way and drivers always yield. I must have seen a carload of wide hats and boots.

Phoenix, Scottsdale and Tempe all seem to be one city as they flow together like the cities in Tidewater. Over one-half of the population of the state lives here. They have housing developments but each house is noticeably different from surrounding ones.

Ruth Anne and the 40 other girls selected as winners from 11,000 contestants were busy practicing, modelling, being judged and photographed. Those of us who accompanied contestants were not allowed to be present. I attended meetings, met the city manager, and presented a Virginia Beach pin from Mr. Hatchett, our city manager, and made a tape recording at the Extension office there.

The Fashion Show in the Thunderbird Room at the Westward Ho Hotel featured all 41 contestants. They were a nice-looking group. None looked better to than Ruth Anne! Though she was not in the top two groups, she did well I thought. Rooming in the same hotel, I can also say they were a grand group of young ladies.

Happy Landing to me, Nice weekend to you.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

City Wise To Proceed With School Bond Referendum

The decision of the City Council here to seek a vote on a $3-million bond issue earmarked exclusively for the public school system is a wise step at this time.

At least for the time being the other items included in the original $8-million bond issue will be set aside and their merits and demerits can be discussed before a vote is sought.

Certainly this line of thinking by city officials meets our approval and it is absolutely necessary that school funds be made available to keep abreast of the demands on the public school system of this fast growing city.

Mayor Frank Dusch pointed out at the last meeting of city council that "we are going ahead and getting this into effect because of our urgent need for schools. The other matters will come up at a later date."

We believed in the beginning, and we still believe that all of the projects included in the original bond proposal are worthwhile and essential projects needed by the city. However, we do believe it is wise to proceed with the school issue now if inclusion of the other projects would cause a delay.

Education is a prime necessity of life and we are glad to see that the city is anxious to continue the fine progress already made in this field.

We have no doubt the voters will approve the school bond issue.

RESEARCH HAS AIDED HEART PATIENT CARE

By Dr. R. Robertson Jr. M.D. Pres., Tidewater Heart Assn.

Fifteen years have come and gone since the people of this country decided to stop merely talking about heart disease and to start doing something about it. A truly massive research assault was launched against this—the foremost health problem of our time—in 1950. In these 15 years, how far have we progressed? What has been accomplished?

Today, we have statistical evidence that we may have turned the corner in our effort to protect the hearts of American men in their prime of life—the pre-retirement years of 45 through 64. Here, since 1950, there has been a relatively sustained decline in the death rate from cardiovascular disease, which adds up to about 7 1/2 per cent.

To appreciate the significance of this decline, it must be realized that prior to 1950 the cardiovascular death rate had been spiraling up. Surprisingly, the decline was achieved despite a 4.3 per cent increase in the death rate from heart attack among men in this age bracket. But the rate of death from high blood pressure and the heart disease it causes dropped 49.9 per cent, and that from stroke 23.6 per cent. These dramatic improvements were largely responsible for a net decline of 7 1/2 per cent. Among women of the same age, the decline was even more spectacular—a drop of 56 per cent in the death rate associated with high blood pressure, and a decrease of 35 per cent in that from stroke.

Probably the largest single factor in this important achievement was our recently-discovered and newly-applied knowledge that most cases of high blood pressure can be controlled under medical supervision. Mainly, this involves drugs and diet changes. Improved treatment obviously has had a favorable effect on the stroke picture since some strokes occur as a complication of high blood pressure. Additionally, other aspects of the cardiovascular picture have improved thanks to procedures which prevent repeat attacks of rheumatic fever, the use of artery grafts and artificial heart valves, effective methods for combating such once-fatal disorders as bacterial endocarditis.

Happily, the decline in the cardiovascular death rate during this decade and a half was not confined to men and women in their prime-of-life. Over the same period the cardiovascular death rate for those aged 3-24 declined 35 per cent. For those aged 25-44, it decreased 10 per cent.

POLICE

Last year's figures show that there were eight homicides, 10 forcible rapes, 57 robberies, 309 assaults, 664 burglaries, 2,308 larcenies and 200 car thefts.

In comparison there were 24 homicides, 10 rapes, 76 robberies, 64 assaults, 486 burglaries, 1,282 larcenies and 149 auto thefts in 1963. Twenty-six per cent of these cases were cleared by arrest.

Many of the cases reported were unfounded, according to the report, but this did little to change the overall picture.

The department was obviously plagued by burglaries and larcenies, resulting in the loss of over half a million dollars in stolen property. About $251,500 was recovered.

The location of the city has also contributed greatly to this upswing in crime, Chief Moore said. The resort swells to fantastic population proportions during the summer; naturally drawing a great many criminals and other criminals who prey on resorts.

Too Much Area And the sprawling boundaries of the city cannot be ignored. With only one precinct in Virginia Beach Borough and the main headquarters at Princess Anne, patrol cars must cover hundreds of miles during each shift.

The city had proposed a long needed Bayside Borough police precinct to cut down on the traveling distance of police units. It was included with the municipal buildings planned on the $8-million bond referendum.

This week City Council postponed temporarily $3-million worth of such projects in favor of the equally necessary $5-million school construction program.

There have been no indications whether or not some of these projects will continue through anticipated revenue.

AIR WING REVIVES OLD CUSTOM HERE

OCEANA — While Washington Society adjusted to de-formalized inaugural celebration, the officers of Attack Carrier Air Wing SIX revived the traditional formal military ceremony of "Dining-in" at the Naval Air Station, Oceana, Carrier Air Wing SIX, recently returned from an around the world cruise in the nuclear powered aircraft carrier U.S.S. ENTERPRISE, turned out in their colorful navy formal dinner dress uniforms.

Commander T. L. NELSON, Commander of Attack Carrier Air Wing SIX, who makes his home at 3740 N. Nelson Street, Arlington, Virginia led "Tom's Tigers" and guests of Air Wing SIX in the ceremonies. Fellowship and re-dedication of service to country was in itself enough; however, the forthcoming Presidential Inauguration, the imminent commissioning of the newest Navy Attack Aircraft Carrier U.S.S. AMERICA, and the reunion of members of the first nuclear powered task force provided additional incentive for the occasion.

The colorful gathering was honored by the presence of a guest of honor, Vice Admiral Ray C. NEEDHAM, Deputy Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic Fleet. Rear Admiral Bernard L. STREAN, who commanded Operation Sea Orbit, Rear Admiral William M. McCormick, Commander Carrier Division FOURTEEN, Captain F. H. MICHAELIS, Commanding Officer of U.S.S. ENTERPRISE and Captain L. HEY-WORTH, Commanding Officer, USS AMERICA joined Commander NELSON at the head table.

Traditionally the sword of the Air Wing Duty Officer protected the gathering from "unfriendly" visitors. As Commander NELSON called for toasts to the Commander-in-Chief of the United States, the United States Navy and other units of the naval service. Revival of the "Dining-in" tradition was a refreshing experience for Air Wing SIX Officers and encouraged each to re-dedicate his life in the service of his country.

Mills Heads Anglers

The minimum acceptable size for largemouth bass submitted for Virginia Wildlife Trophy Fish Citations was upped from seven to eight pounds for 1965, according to Game Commission Information Officer, Harry L. Gillam, supervisor of the awards program. A 60 day maximum time period for submission of entries following the catch was also established to facilitate timely record keeping.

The larger bass size should cut down to about half the nearly 200 citations awarded for this species during 1964. Even at this rate, about three times as many awards will be made for largemouth bass catches as for any other species.

The 60 day time limit for submitting entries became necessary in order to keep published listings timely. In the past some misunderstanding and embarrassment have developed over late entries that were not received in time to be included in published listings of records.

As an added feature, this year's citation program will include a tie-in with Sports Afield Magazine's State Fishing Awards Program. Entries accepted for Virginia citations will be automatically entered in this state-by-state competition provided they meet the minimum sizes and are accompanied by a photograph. Sports Afield will award "Certificates of Merit" to all entries and will make "Best of Species" awards in each state at the end of the year. To be eligible for Sports Afield competition, entries must be received within 30 days of the date of catch. Minimum sizes of freshwater fish accepted by Sports Afield are as follows:

- Largemouth Bass 9 lbs.
- Smallmouth Bass 4 lbs.
- White Bass 2 lbs.
- White & black crappies 2 1/2 lbs.
- Chain Pickerel 4 lbs.
- Brook Trout 2 lbs.
- Brown Trout 2 lbs.
- Rainbow Trout 5 lbs.
- Walleye 8 lbs.
- Channel Cat 10 lbs.

Other members taking office include Ray Fortines, first vice-president, J. C. Myers, second vice-president, Mrs. Ernie Rice, secretary, Harry Engel, assistant secretary, and Andy Holland, treasurer. Also named to the Board of Directors were past president Kadas, Major Knight, M. L. "Jake" Sawyer and Charlie Dant. Ray Cassett was named honorary director.

The meeting was enjoyed by some 100 members and guests. ### Area-Wide Units Help

An outbreak of house fires throughout the city has kept fire units on a busy schedule and in one particular instance prompted support from a neighboring city unit. A Chesapeake Fire Department truck came to the Kempsville Volunteer Department's aid in a house fire on Queen City Road.

Kempsville Volunteers are pictured battling the blaze on the second floor. The interior of the house was severely damaged by the fire.

The smoke was so bad firemen needed breathing equipment before entering the building. Here G. R. White and Linwood Culpepper help Fireman D. Miller with his air-pack.

OF INTEREST TO VETS

Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Building, Norfolk, Virginia, at 142 West York St.

All veterans and all widows of deceased veterans who are receiving pension benefits from the Veterans Administration are reminded that they have only a few days to complete and return their annual income cards. On January 19, 1965, the Roanoke Regional Office of the VA said that 5,335 of the 33,513 cards originally sent out had not come back. This includes about 2,200 returned because they were not properly filled out. No cards were sent custodians of children of deceased veterans.

Under VA regulations requiring pensioners to report their income each year, if the information is not received by January 31, the VA is required to cut off the pension. In addition, it is possible that the entire pension received in 1964 may have to be paid back.

Those pensioners in the group who have not returned their income cards would do well to get them in the mail without further delay. Once discontinued, even though later reinstated, there is always interruption of orderly flow of checks, sometimes occasion for real hardship. For experienced help take your questionnaire to any representative of the Virginia Division of War Veterans' Claims.

Mrs. Anne Owens gave a very thought provoking talk on Garden Therapy.

Ribbons for horticulture to Mrs. Glissom, Mrs. Jonns. The judges were from the Fair Meadows Garden Club.

The club collected three bags of gifts and clothing for the mental hospital.

Taylor Lions Club Speaker

BAYSIDE — The Bayside Lions Club met January 20, at 7 p.m. at Shore Drive Inn with the president, Jack Tallent, presiding.

Guest speaker, Mr. Frank Taylor, Supervisor of Elementary School for the city of Virginia Beach, was introduced by George Lyon. Taylor talked about the upcoming Bond Issue which will be voted on in a referendum expected to be set for February or March. The amount of five million dollars is designated for the school system.

According to Taylor the city needs to build two new high schools and one new elementary school to keep pace with the increase in school enrollment. He said that about 3,400 new students were added in 1964. At this rate the city needs to add about 100 classrooms each year.

Mrs. Tharp Is Lakeview Civic League Head

BAYSIDE — The Lakeview Civic League held their annual installation of officers dinner, January 12, at Shore Drive Inn.

Earl Kingsbury, president of the Council of Civic Organizations installed the following: president, Mrs. Ammon Tharp; vice president, Kermit Wagner; treasurer, Mr. G. L. Norman; and secretary, Mrs. F. R. Keyes. Guest speakers for the meeting were V. Alfred Etheridge, treasurer of the City of Virginia Beach and Larry Marshall, councilman on the city council, representing Bayside.

Etheridge talked to the group on Princess Anne County and you might say "the old way of life." Then he cited the present city of Virginia Beach, and the tremendous growth that has taken place and the improvements which have been made.

Larry Marshall spoke on the drainage problem of Lakeview Park.

The next meeting of the Civic League will be February 9, 8 p.m. at the Church of Christ on Maharis Road.

The school budget totals over $9,000,000.00 of which 52% is contributed by the state; 17% by the Federal Government and 29% by the city. Taylor said that the 29% contributed by the city is somewhat lower than neighboring cities.

Some of the statistics which Taylor cited — transportation costs $14.00 per child annually. The city spent $177,000 for new school buses in '64, which brought the total now in operation to 183. These buses transport over 27,000 students over $77,000 miles.

In six years school enrollment has increased over 100%. The budget has grown from three and a half million to nine million dollars. The rapid growth of the system necessitates the hiring of about 300 new teachers annually—many of these come from other states. The city now employs 1,256 teachers, 32 clerks, 80 custodians, 4 nurses, 30 maintenance men and 13 garage men.

The City has 25 Elementary schools, seven high schools and all but three of these schools have over 800 students enrolled. Taylor stressed the importance of a favorable vote on the Bond Issue and asked that everyone support this very essential program in order to assure the best education possible to our children.

Howard Pauley, first vice president, presented Harold A. Parks, district projects chairman, who talked briefly about the District's Annual Broom Sale which will be held in the spring.

10 EXTRA YEARS OF LIFE
A baby born today can look forward to a life expectancy of almost 70 years. Back in 1930, the insurance people figured life expectancy at only 60 years. Chiefly responsible for those 10 extra years of life are today's wonder drugs — drugs that did not exist in 1930. That's why we say:

In the 1890's the Ghent Club, now the Hague Club, was the scene of many social gatherings.

Then H. D. Oliver had been serving Tidewater for nearly 30 years.

Debutante balls, teas, receptions and other gala functions took place in this familiar building. Norfolk was proud of this fine club. In those days H. D. Oliver had been serving Norfolk, too, by providing the most respected, dignified funeral and burial services. Today, more than 70 years later, the H. D. Oliver tradition of excellence remains true. Your needs are most ably served by the experienced staff with two modern facilities, including the distinguished home at Virginia Beach. Call on H. D. Oliver for the best.

Phone Year

More telephones were added throughout the world in 1963 than any previous year. There was an increase of 9.9 million telephones, bringing the world's total to 171,000,000. This information was made available by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in its annual publication, "The World's Telephones." The figures in the report are as of January 1, 1964, since it takes a year to obtain and compile the data necessary said L. F. Patrick, the local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia.

The United States ranked first with 84,453,000 telephones, Japan was second with 10,682,492 and the United Kingdom followed with 9,345,000 telephones. Japan had the largest percentage gain in 1963. It was reported a gain of 14.4 per cent. India's telephones increased by 13.5 per cent and those in U.S.S.R. by 12.7 per cent. Here in Virginia the C & P had a gain of 5.5 per cent in phones.

Telephones continued to increase more rapidly than total world population. At the beginning of 1964, there were 5.3 telephones for every 100 people in the world. This represented a slight rise from the 5 telephones per 100 people reported the previous year.

The United States, with 44.26 telephones per 100 people, maintained its lead in that category. C & P reports that in its operating area there are 40.59 telephones per 100 people. Sweden followed the U.S.A. with 42.25. New Zealand had 35. Canada had 34.89 and Switzerland had 33.95. All five countries have more than half-a-million telephones each. In places with less than half-a-million telephones, Monaco had a percentage of 48.18 per 100 population. Bermuda had 38.94, and Midway Island had 41.

The Canadians apparently continued to talk more than anyone else. They averaged 597.7 telephone conversations per person in 1963. Iceland displaced the United States as the second "talking" nation with 574.9 conversations per person, to the United States' 570. The only other area with more than 500 conversations per person was the Virgin Islands with 547.3. Although Virginians, provided phone service by C & P, were not among the top talkers they averaged 464 conversations per person in 1963.

Bell System telephone users can call 96.8 per cent of all telephones in the world, compared with 97.9 per cent as reported a year earlier. This drop is largely due to the inclusion of 2 1/4 million Japanese telephones not previously reported. Most of these telephones cannot be connected to Bell System facilities. These telephones are located in rural areas of Japan and belong to nearly 2,700 small municipal and cooperative systems. Such telephones have loud speakers and are used part of the time to receive broadcasts on weather, crop and fishing conditions, as well as musical programs. Between broadcast periods the instruments are used as telephones. Until January 1, 1964, none of them could be connected with the facilities of the Nippon Telegraph and Telephone Public Corporation, which operates the Japanese Telephone System.

GRATEFUL FRIENDS BID
FAREWELL TO HOUSEWIFE

By Ruby Jean Phillips

VIRGINIA BEACH—The young housewife who launched her own private campaign to upgrade living conditions in lower income communities is leaving the area but a grateful group of co-workers will remain to carry on her program.

Mrs. Carol Lawrence was presented a silver tray earlier this week from representatives of organizations she has either worked with or helped form as a show of appreciation for her efforts. Making the presentation were Ben Lewis, founder of the John F. Kennedy Democratic Club, Mrs. Lena Brown, the club's business manager, and Mrs. Lewis, social chairman.

Formal Play School
One of Mrs. Lawrence's major projects was establishing a play school for pre-school youngsters who would ordinarily be deprived of benefits derived from kindergartens by more fortunate children.

Holding bi-weekly gatherings in the donated rooms of JFK Democratic Club headquarters on 17th Street, she not only provided kindergarten facilities for the youngsters but also found a means of getting the mothers together to discuss problems and possible solutions. It was here the first birth control literature was distributed and explained.

This play school has since been enlarged to become a day care center for children of working mothers of low income families, and will be continued on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon by three mothers who were among the very first to support Mrs. Lawrence: Mrs. Virginia Wilder; Mrs. Barbara Brown and Mrs. Doris Felton.

Because of Mrs. Lawrence's efforts in the play school, the United Council of Church Women will continue their interest in seeing that day care for children of working mothers is provided.

Also to Mrs. Lawrence's credit is her invaluable support of the newly organized Civic Improvement Organization, an interracial group seeking to improve relations among the citizens of Virginia Beach.

The tireless energies of the young housewife spurred the organization on during its turbulent beginning. Much of the apathy confronted in those first few weeks has been overcome and the membership is continuing to swell.

Club Stresses Pride
The Civic Improvement Organization has one driving purpose: instill a pride and interest among lower income families that will prompt them to help themselves.

Its members have launched a clean-up campaign to encourage residents of what Mrs. Lawrence terms "culturally deprived" areas to improve the looks of their homes and surroundings. These residents have been urged to clean up their yards, plant trees and shrubs, paint their mailboxes, fences and buildings. They feel that this campaign will go a long way in creating pride and interest.

The Civic Improvement Organization has also supported drives to provide clothing, food and even textbooks for those who cannot afford them so that children in these homes might obtain an education, their greatest ally in overcoming their present living conditions.

And, of course, the most heartfelt hope of both groups is that the long-awaited Seaback Community Center will soon be completed so that it can serve as a location for self-improvement projects among its participants as well as provide recreational facilities for those now patronizing less desirable places.

All of these things cannot be directly attributed to Mrs. Lawrence but certainly her interest in the welfare of others and her efforts inspired more people to move ahead in bettering their communities.

Now that her husband has been transferred, Mrs. Lawrence will probably roll up her sleeves in another city and turn her concern for her fellowman toward another group of citizens.

But a small silver tray will always be in the Lawrence household to symbolize the gratitude she left behind her in Virginia Beach.

DAM NECK MISSILE
SCHOOL STANDS ON HISTORIC GROUND

by Jim Pugh

DAM NECK—Around the turn of the century between two ponds in an area known as Dam Neck stood several frame farm houses, a church and two windmills.

The area is still called Dam Neck, but the quiet farm homes have been replaced by a sprawling naval complex, the U. S. Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center.

The final resident to leave Dam Neck was Earnest VanNostrand, 70, now retired and living in Virginia Beach.

"My family moved to a farm at Dam Neck in 1900 when I was only five years old," recalled VanNostrand, "and I lived there until our house stood in the way of progress and several new enlisted barracks took its place. Then I stayed at Dam Neck in the Civil Service until my retirement last year."

His family's farm was one of several, along with eight Coast Guard residences, which made up the little community.

On Sunday mornings all the surrounding families gathered at Dam Neck for services in the "Chapel by the Sea." A watercolor painting by an unknown artist staying in Virginia Beach in 1890 of the chapel is the first known graphic record of the area now occupied by the training center. This church was a mission of the historic Eastern Shore Chapel at Oceana and the same rector held services for both.

Brick was used to build the Eastern Shore Chapel. The "Chapel by the Sea" was almost identical to it except that wood salvaged from the 1889 shipwreck of the three-masted barque

Agnes Barton was used for Dam Neck's church.

"On a good Sunday," VanNostrand said, "there might be 100 people in the congregation." In 1924, the chapel was no longer being used so Dr. Francis Stuenkel, rector of Christ Church, Norfolk, bought the church, renovated it and moved it a short distance away where it became a recreation camp for girls.

Probably one reason for the little community springing up at Dam Neck was the Coast Guard Station. The United States Life Saving Service was begun on the east coast in 1874 and this was one of the first to be built. VanNostrand recalled that during severe storms he and his friends would maintain their own vigil for vessels in trouble.

"During one storm back around 1914 we had been watching the coast when someone spotted a Norwegian fishing boat floundering in the heavy swells. We managed to get out to the boat and get all the crew ashore, except for the captain—he wouldn't leave. The next day after the storm had quieted down we went back out to see if he was okay. He was and as a reward, gave my friend and me a bottle of whiskey apiece. We couldn't understand a word any of them were saying and when one of them said something to us as we were leaving, we just naturally picked up another bottle. We must have guessed right because none of them stopped us."

But things weren't all hard work and no play at Dam Neck. "There was Andrew Spratt's Bar down the beach a short distance where all the men would go on Saturday nights to play poker and drink whiskey. I don't know anything about it being legal or not, but a lot of them used to do it."

Better roads, airplanes and motorboats, brought about the closing of the life saving station in 1938, one of the final remnants of the community.

The only remaining part of Dam Neck's history is a small family burial plot surrounded by a white picket fence near the south end of the center and three fruit trees at the north end of the base from a family orchard.

The oldest tombstone in the graveyard is that of Elizabeth Robinson who was born March 26, 1787 and died June 14, 1844. Old timers still call this part of Dam Neck "Robinson's Island."

A Boy's Best Friend

Gary stood at the window this morning waving and hugging the little plush dog I brought him home from my trip. How easy it is to make a small boy happy. I love to bring him things and take him places and watch the wonder and delight glow on his face, sparkle in his big blue eyes. Right now his Dad is his best friend and here.

It won't be this easy always. I know that as Gary grows so will his desires and the scope of his delights. I won't be able to supply his every wish or stand between him and the disappointments that come to every boy. But as friend and father I do hope to share with him the principles that have sustained me in discouragement, augmented my joy. These truths I learned from God and my Church and I know of no better way to insure for my son a life of peace and fulfillment than to encourage his religious development.

Go to your church and take your child with you.

Shelter Your Skin
With Cosmetics

Whenever the temperature drops, naturally, you wear warmer clothes to protect yourself from icy blasts.
This same principle might apply to your face. Even a slight, light covering of make-up can help act as a buffer between your skin and the draining effects of cold weather.

This type of make-up is, basically, moisturizing
— yet, it should not appear artificial or greasy. It calls for a cold cream base and two applications of tinted liquid make-up to lend the skin a fresh smoothness there just as pretty as it is protective.

The key to applying this make-up is a light touch rather than a heavy hand. Begin by cleansing your face thoroughly with Pond's Cold Cream. Wipe off with a tissue, leaving behind a whisper-thin film to serve as a soft cushion of moisture for your make-up. Apply a foundation of Angel Face Liquid Make-up in dime-sized dots on your nose, forehead, cheeks and chin.
Blend evenly with your fingertips over the entire face and throat.
Allow a minute for this application to set. Now apply the make-up again, using the same method as you did the first time. Wait a moment, then buff off the excess with a tissue for a radiantly natural finish.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

A special treatment center for children with birth defects—the first of its kind in Virginia—is being established this month at the University of Virginia Hospital under sponsorship of the National Foundation—March of Dimes.

The new center will provide comprehensive treatment programs for children with multiple birth defects from throughout the state. Financial support totals $60,000 for a two-year period and comes from 90 Virginia chapters of the National Foundation.

Since it entered the field of birth defects following the advent of the Salk vaccine for polio immunization, the foundation has established a number of special treatment centers, clinical study centers and evaluations clinics throughout the United States.

An open house for discussion of the new facility here was held Sunday, January 10 at 1 p.m. at the Children's Rehabilitation Center. Participants included Dr. McEnroe Birdsong of Charlottesville, president of the Medical Society of Virginia, and James Barnes and Mrs. Lucille Clark, who are leaders in the foundation's volunteer program in the state.

The rehabilitation center will be the main location for the treatment program and tours of it are planned. The new project's medical and paramedical aspects will be discussed by specialists in the fields of physical, occupational, speech and recreational therapy, social work, nursing care for handicapped children and pediatrics.

The primary goal of the new treatment center will be to provide a central medical organization for evaluation and care of children with birth defects and to coordinate handling of family problems and relationships with community health and social agencies. Admission will be by referral from physicians or qualified agencies.

In recent years, the medical and paramedical sciences have rapidly expanded their ability to help the severely handicapped child, through corrective surgery, drug therapy, rehabilitation programs, and other means. However, the child with birth defects bridging several specialized areas of medicine has needed a more comprehensive program of diagnosis and treatment.

The new center will fill these roles:

Establishment of services not now available with the goal of improved patient care and family relationships;

Development of an integrated approach by multiple university departments, medical and non-medical, to the overall problem of congenital defects;

Pursuit of research in the fields of statistics, etiology, preventive medicine and management of disorders;

Development of improved opportunities for teaching medical and nursing students, public health workers, social workers, educational affiliates, postgraduate students, and hospital house officers in the various specialties.

Programs are already well established for some types of birth defects, but have reached only embryonic stages for others. The new treatment center will supplement present programs, correlate the various specialties, and provide for future expansion in all fields. The Children's Rehabilitation Center—a 30-bed unit which is a part of the University Hospital—will be the principal site for the program.

Specific study clinics will be established in the fields of bone and muscle disorders, congenital urological defects, central nervous system defects, cleft palates, and other difficulties. Existing clinic programs for seizure control, muscular dystrophy, cerebral palsy and other disorders will continue.

A system of field clinics throughout the state will be utilized to improve relationships between patients and their families, communities, and medical and social agencies which may assist with treatment and rehabilitation. Local chapters of the National Foundation will assist with these.

Dr. William Thurman, chairman of pediatrics at the University School of Medicine, will serve as medical director of the new treatment center, and Dr. Robert F. Selden, instructor in pediatrics, as program coordinator.

Unusual "Savings Bonds scholarship," begun through gifts at birth, is helping to finance Sandra Olney's college education.

"Savings Bond Baby" Goes to College

Sandra Ruth Olney, Beloit College (Wis.) undergraduate from San Marino, Calif., was one of the most publicized babies in the nation in 1946, when she became the unofficial "Savings Bond Baby" of the U. S. Treasury Department.

Miss Olney's father, Larry, was a leader of the bond program during World War II and for many years thereafter until his retirement in 1957. When Sandra was born, publicity men at the Bond Division sent out a birth announcement to friends and bond associates throughout the country, with a picture showing a baby bursting through a Savings Bond.

From all corners of the U. S. came congratulations, good wishes, and gifts—dozens of them in the form of Dad's favorite product, a United States Savings Bond. This began the "scholarship," one which has grown through the years with the regular addition of more bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. And to day Sandra is enjoying the benefits—and enthusiastically endorsing the idea of bonds-for-education to everyone she meets.

Sandra, now 18, is an attractive, hazel-eyed blonde who reveals a maturity of outlook that belies her youth. When asked how she happens to find herself at college at Beloit, far from home in San Marino, she says, "I chose a college far enough away from home to force myself to become self-reliant. I know that what I'll have to be later, and I want to prepare for life socially as well as academically."

An international relations major, Sandra is a member of Delta Psi Delta sorority and is active in the United Church of Christ. She has delayed joining other organizations, and with good reason.

"I want to get my feet on the ground first," she says, "because I really feel that a lot of people everywhere have some kind of stake in my future."

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

VENTILATION FANS FOR FARM BUILDINGS

To get the most for your ventilation dollar, you must look beyond the fact that a fan has been tested.

An overall efficiency factor (the cubic feet of air per minute per watt of electricity used) accounts for both variations in motor efficiencies and differences in fan efficiencies.

Since farmers are interested in getting as much air as possible per unit of power and per dollar of electricity, this is an especially good performance indicator for direct driven fan units.

However, there are other factors which are also important in selecting ventilating fans. A direct driven motor fan assembly may offer some advantages in reliability over the belt driven motor fan assembly, in that there are no belts to break or tighten, no fan bearings to lubricate, and it is simply constructed. This may be the case even though the belt driven unit has a slight advantage in efficiency.

First cost of the fan unit must also be considered to arrive at a sound decision on the purchase of fans.

CONTROLLING LICE

Many Virginia Beach farmers think that flies are the worst pests on cattle, but I vote for the lowly louse!

Lice don't advertise their appearance on animals until considerable damage is done. They suck blood and generally make cattle hard to winter. They are particularly bad on young cattle, and as winter wears on they seem to get worse.

Actually, what is happening is that the lice are present in small numbers in the fall and they multiply till along the latter part of February there seems to be a multitude of them. Calves and short yearlings actually lose weight when infested with too many lice.

The best time to cope with this problem is in the fall before the winter gets too severe. There are two general methods of controlling lice. One is by spraying and the other is with back rubbers. Dipping would do the best job of all, but few folks have the facilities.

For beef cattle, most farmers are using toxaphene, DDT, or lindane. Some like the systemic materials like Co-Ral because they can get rid of cattle grubs at the same time. It is now too late in the season, however, to use Co-Ral. None of these materials should be used on cattle going to immediate slaughter. Cattlemen should follow directions carefully when using any insecticide. The first precaution is to read labels carefully.

In spraying, the most important thing is to do a thorough job. Many cattlemen have been disappointed in spraying because they have not taken the time nor the effort to do a thorough job. You might as well make up your mind to spend the day at it, and that you are going to get wet and muddy, and maybe cold. Be sure each animal is soaked to the skin on top of the back, underneath, and on all parts of the body. Use plenty of pressure and plenty of volume when spraying—a fine mist will not do.

Dr. Jack Rowell, Extension Entomologist at VPI, thinks very highly of the various types of back rubbers. A back rubber will not kill all the lice at one time, but will keep them under control as cattle get in the habit of rubbing against it.

In this way the cattle keep a constant amount of insecticide on various parts of the body where lice travel.

NEW PLASTIC MULCH

Research with plastic films used as a mulch have shown they accelerate maturity and increase yield of several vegetable crops.

In general, crops mulched with clear plastic film have given higher earlier yields than those mulched with black plastic. Weeds grow profusely under the clear film, however.

French researchers have worked for several years with polyethylene films of different colors to find the influence of film color on soil and plants.

They now report that best results have been obtained from a gray polyethylene film. They say it has the advantages of both clear and black films without their main disadvantages.

Rapid advances are taking place in the field of plastics and we must keep pace with this new technology to improve the efficiency of our vegetable producing industry.

CONCRETE FLOORS ARE RECOMMENDED

Concrete floors for both growing and breeder houses are recommended by R. H. Burner, Associate Extension Poultry Specialist at MPI.

Such floors are much easier to clean and disinfect. They also allow for better control of rodents and internal parasites infestations. Because they are so much more sanitary, they help greatly in keeping the hens in breeder houses PPLO-free.

Insulate the houses well enough to maintain the temperature at 45 degrees Fahrenheit or above, even in the coldest weather.

Growing houses should be windowless for pullets started during the months of September through March. Windowless houses are not needed, however, for pullets started in April through August. Nor do breeder houses have to be windowless.

Maintain a flock density of one bird per two square feet, even when pullets weigh five to six pounds. Have sufficient movement to keep the litter dry.

This type of environment can increase profits, because it means that—

You can put more birds on the same floor space.

Houses are cooler in summer, warmer in winter. You don't need heat tapes.

Fertility is higher. Males do not mate well during extreme temperatures.

Hatchability is higher. Eggs are exposed to more desirable temperatures in the hen house.

You need less feed per dozen eggs, especially if you're practicing controlled feeding.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

(By Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Building, Norfolk, Virginia, at 142 West York Street.)

Under the provisions of the new veterans pension act, which determining income under pension laws, there is an exclusion of 10% of the amount of payments to a person under any public or private retirement plan including annuity, endowment, or similar plans, meaning that only 90% of payments from such sources will be counted as income.

Persons under the new law on December 31, 1964, will continue to be under the recoupment rule until their contributions to their retirement plans have been recovered, thereafter 90% of the retirement payments will be counted in arriving at income for the calendar year. Pension awards made to commence on or after January 1, 1965, are subject to the 10% exclusion, with no allowance for a recoupment period.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Maurice J. Hunger, my associate, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th Street and Pacific Avenue, on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, between the hours of 12:30 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Reference works and statistics on such social problems as personal income, housing, employment, statistics, disability, and dependency are available at every social security office.

The Mixing Bowl

It's Fun To Cook

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

Nobody invented vinegar. Like fire and Mount Everest, it was just there.

Vinegar "was there" especially in the early Eastern countries where experiment at wine production often turned (quite literally) sour.

And from then on, vinegar was everywhere, doing everything.

Uses of vinegar were recorded by early historians with as much enthusiasm as modern applications are listed by writers of household hints columns.

Cleopatra dissolved a pearl in a cup of vinegar and then drank the solution, thus making good her boast that she could consume at a single meal the value of a million treasures.

Livy and Plutarch both recorded that Hannibal used vinegar to dissolve the rocks as he crossed the Alps. And Hippocrates testified to vinegar's medicinal uses.

Happily, physicians can now prescribe anti-biotics and drugs which are more effective than the remedies offered by the Ancients and in old-wives tales. Even if Hannibal did use vinegar on the Alpine rocks (most say this is more fable than fact), modern armies can rely on bulldozers with a little more assurance.

And although today, the pearl bit would be considered a little much, the modern homemaker can still take a clue from Cleo and use vinegar to spark a meal.

This holds true not only in summer when vinegar zips up dressings for fresh vegetable salads but in the winter when spicy, zesty relishes take the place of honor at the table. And it's never too late to make these relishes. For many vegetables are "in season" all year round.

And one need not be a sphinx to penetrate the "mysteries" of relish making. For some of the best relishes can be obtained with easy—does-it "quickly" refrigerated methods.

There's Onion Relish, for instance. In this, cooked onion slices are combined with a sweet-sour-spicy combination of Heinz Distilled White Vinegar, sugar and mustard seed. The finished product is a crisp, shimmering, translucent white with dabs of red provided by chopped pimiento, which adds a "holiday wrapping touch" to any winter meal.

ONION RELISH

4 cups sliced onions
Boiling water
1/2 cup Heinz Distilled White Vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
Cook onions in boiling water 4 minutes; drain. Combine vinegar and next 3 ingredients in saucepan; bring to boil. Add onions; simmer 4 minutes; pour into glass or ceramic bowl; chill thoroughly. Add pimiento just before serving. Makes 2 1/2 cups.
Another way to add color and zest to a winter meal is with Sweet Sour Beans. And they're exactly that. For these, the bright, frozen French style or cut green beans are combined with Heinz Apple Cider or Salad Vinegar and sugar.

SWEET SOUR BEANS

2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen French style or cut green beans
4 teaspoons salt
1 medium onion, sliced, separated into rings
1/2 cup Heinz Apple Cider or Salad Vinegar
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup sugar
Cook beans as package directs; drain. While hot add salt; cool. Add onion. Mix vinegar, water and sugar; pour over beans. Chill in covered jar. These beans will keep for weeks in refrigerator. Makes 3 1/2 cups.

GREEN TOMATO RELISH

2 quarts green tomatoes (chopped)
2 green peppers (chopped)
2 cups onions (chopped)
1 pint vinegar
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons pickling spices (tied in cheese cloth)
3 cups sugar
Mix sugar and vinegar and pour over other ingredients. Bring to a boil and cook slowly about 20 minutes. Stir occasionally. Remove spice bag and spoon into jars.

FOLK SINGING BECOMING MORE POPULAR DAILY

Tea room or espresso house, basement or ballroom, backyard or baseball field—it doesn't make a hoot of difference where you hold a hootenanny!

Americans of all ages from every walk of life are gathering in informal groups to sing folk songs. The songs they sing are not new, but the enthusiasm has been rekindled.

The dramatic increase in interest in folk songs and hootenannies during the last two decades is reported to be more of an effect than a cause. In the years since the end of World War II, our nation has been experiencing a dramatic rebirth of interest in American culture and heritage. And one of the more popular directions this movement has taken is the resurrection of folk-singing.

The parents of today's teenagers grew up during the 20's and 30's and probably had very little contact with folk songs. An occasional chorus of "Clementine" or "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain" was the extent of their experience.

Today folk music is back—and its bigger than ever. On radio and television, on single records and long-playing albums, in personal appearances on college campuses, in big city auditoriums and small lodge halls, groups of singers are entertaining audiences with hootenannies.

Sears, Roebuck and Co., who has been selling guitars, banjos and mandolins in its catalogs since 1894, reports that the demand for these folk singing instruments is greater than ever. And the sweeping influence of this form of entertainment eastward is illustrated by the fact that one of the best selling items in the company's newest Connecticut retail store is a folk-singing guitar!

At the present time, there are only four manufacturers in the United States producing banjos. This instrument has become so popular during the past twelve months that the banjo-makers have been unable to meet the demand. According to Sears, banjo and guitar sales increased 90 to 100 per cent in 1963.

Folk singing is, of course, not new. While it is now considered an American art, it had two main streams of origin.

The Anglo-Saxon tradition was imported from Great Britain and northern Europe, and was responsible for most of our ballads and lyric folk songs.

Later, the African tradition was added. This group is credited with the blues, the work songs and the ever-popular minstrel tunes.

To all of these songs was added the only truly American contribution to folk singing: the choral refrain.

How did the term "hootenanny" originate? Some believe it came from a boisterous female singer of many years ago who picked up the nickname "Hootin' Annie."

If Hootin' Annie were alive today, a glance at the Hit Parade, the "Top 40," the "Hot 100" or any other rating method would show her that there are now scores of popular folk songs and artists in this "modern" music field that's named after her. Thousands of professionals are now making a good income in a field that could hardly support a handful of "pros" thirty years ago.

More important than the professional aspect, there are now hundreds of thousands of non-professional banjo players, guitar players, and singers who have found these traditional songs a means of self-expression in today's world.

Even a beginner can be plunking out accompanying chords on a banjo or guitar in a matter of minutes. While it takes time to learn to play these instruments well, a few chords can be played after the first lesson. And there are more than 1,000 folk songs from which to choose your selections.

While stringed instruments go back in history almost as far as the drum, the guitar as we know it evolved in Western Europe. The three main types contain four, six and twelve strings, respectively.

The twelve string guitar is still used by some professionals, but the six string or "Classic" guitar is by far the most popular. The four string guitar is the easiest to play, and is often preferred by amateurs. It is possible to pay several hundred dollars for a guitar, but models are available in the twenty to fifty dollar range that will produce a soft, rich tone.

The banjo, on the other hand, is considered to be a development of the Negroes in this country and has been called "America's only national instrument." Banjos usually have five strings and are also sold in a wide price range. The Sears catalog of 1894 listed banjos as low as $1.75, but today prices range from $30 to $70 for a good instrument.

Is today's interest in folk singing and planned or impromptu hootenannies just a passing fad—or a rebirth of a cultural interest in pioneer music? The experts believe that since it took almost twenty years to get here, it's going to be with us for a good, long time.

It's a long, long way from "the old Chisholm trail" to today's modern expressways, and it's a longer way from "riding old Paint and leading Old Dan" to today's faster-than-sound rocket ships. But folk music, folk singing and the hootenanny seem to have bridged the gap.

February Is Designated As Health Month

VIRGINIA BEACH — February—short on time but long on coughs and colds—has been designated as Respiratory Disease Month throughout Virginia by the Southeastern Virginia Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Pamphlets on Chronic Cough and Shortness of Breath will be available in drug stores throughout the Tidewater area.

Residents are reminded that the Virginia Beach Health Department gives Free Chest x-rays the first, second, and third Wednesdays of each month from 1:30 to 3 p.m., at 19th street and Arctic Ave.

The age limit for a Free chest x-ray is 18 years or older. For those concerned about children under 18 years of age, it is suggested a call be made to the family physician or local Health Department.

TASTY WAY TO WOO A VALENTINE

On Valentine's Day, follow the sure route to a man's heart; woo him with a man-sized main-dish pie. Beef and kidney, veal and mushroom are hearty pie combinations with wide appeal. Top with flaky pastry, flavor with an irresistible accent of wine and whiskey. Gay paper hearts decorating cocktail glasses set off appetizer drinks in style; this year, for cocktails, Cupid prefers Rob Roy.

1 pint Scotch Whisky
6 ounces (3/4 cup) sweet vermouth
Generous dash bitters
Stir with cracked ice, strain and serve with red maraschino cherries for 8 Valentine toasts.

VALENTINE STEAK AND KIDNEY PIE

Filling:
1 1/2 pounds round or flank steak, cut in 1 1/2" cubes
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup drippings, shortening or oil
2 medium onions, chopped
2 tablespoons parsley
Pinch thyme, oregano
1 tablespoon flour
1 bouillon cube dissolved in one cup boiling water
1/2 cup red wine

Prepare flaky pastry in advance from your favorite recipe, or use a prepared mix. Chill until required.
Wipe and split kidney and remove core, skin and any membranes. Toss these and the cut-up meat in a paper bag with flour, salt and pepper. Brown steak in hot fat, then saute kidneys with it for a few minutes. Remove to heart-shaped baking dish that holds 1 quart. Add onions to pan with more shortening if needed, and brown lightly. Then add herbs and flour and brown well. Add bouillon and wine and cook 2-3 minutes, until thickened. Taste to correct seasoning, then pour over meat and kidneys.
Roll out the pastry 1 1/4" wider than top of pie dish. Cut a 1/2" strip around the outside of rolled out pastry, trimming ragged edge. Lay large piece of pastry over meat filling to form top crust. Roll edges under, pressing tightly to outside top edge of pan. Brush pastry edge with water. Twist the thin strip into a rope, and lay around edge of pie, pressing into other crust. Cut cupid's arrow in the center of the pie, to let steam escape.
To glaze pastry: beat one egg with 1/4 teaspoon salt and brush liberally over pastry top. Bake at 425° F. 30-40 minutes. Cover with a sheet of aluminum foil, lower oven temperature to 375° F and bake another hour. Re-glaze, if necessary, before finally removing from oven. Fill in the arrow with Creamy Horseradish Sauce. Serves 6.

What did
in school today?

Did she learn the values of thrift and responsibility? How to make dimes and quarters add up to dollars?

These are some of the valuable lessons each child can learn through the U. S. Treasury's School Savings Program.

By putting their dimes and quarters into U. S. Savings Stamps, thousands of American children are saving toward the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds—one of the best investments any of us can make.

A successful School Savings program is based on partnership—the teacher, the child, the parent, the volunteers who make it go. Our country is a partner too—because young citizens who buy Savings Stamps are helping to keep America strong.

HEALTH TIPS

When you get around to making those annual New Year's resolutions for a bigger and better and safer and wiser 1966, don't forget about your health and the health of your family.

Ask yourself a few questions at the beginning of the New Year—

How long has it been since I had a really thorough physical examination? How long since the others in my family have had a proper checkup?

How long has it been since all of us have had a visit with the dentist?

How many of us in the family are definitely too fat? Or too thin?

How long since the family has been immunized against such diseases as smallpox, polio or tetanus? Is it time for boosters?

Do all of us in the family get enough regular exercise? Exercise that is vigorous enough to stretch the muscles and set the heart to pumping a little more?

How long has it been since we had our eyes checked and the prescription changed for specs for those of us who need them?

How long has it been since we made an objective safety survey of our household? Are there piles of trash in the closet, or other fire hazards? Is there a handrail and non-slip carpet on the stairs, and are the stairs well-lighted and clear of toys and other debris? Are household cleansers, chemicals, medical supplies kept in tight containers, out of the reach of children?

Is there someone in the family with a chronic ailment such as diabetes, epilepsy, arthritis, who hasn't been back recently for a check-up?

This list of questions could go on for several pages. They are simple, basic questions, but they can be of vital importance to safe-guarding the health of your family.

Most of these questions you can answer for yourself. If you're not completely satisfied with your answers, or if you are uncertain, then it is time to see your doctor and follow his guidance. And he'll doubtless ask you even more questions, that you wouldn't think about asking yourself.

Protecting your family's health could well be your most important resolution of them all for the year 1966.

4-H Activities
and Events

C. FRANCES LAY

Amateur Agent

"I find the great thing in this world is not so much what we stand, as it is in which direction we are going."

—Oliver Wendell Holmes

Dear Folks, It again gives me great pleasure to introduce you to a 4-H Club member who will tell you what 4-H means to her. Laura McAndrew is President of the Thalia Community 4-H Club. She was given the Olin Trophy for being the Outstanding Junior 4-H Girl in 1964.

Laura is very active in both her community club and in city-wide 4-H activities. She is Secretary to the Virginia Beach 4-H Council. Here is Laura to tell you her story:

"4-H is an international organization although it is not called 4-H throughout the World. Some clubs have sister clubs in another country who share their ideas with each other. We have a Foreign Exchange known as I.F.Y.E.—International Friends Yearly Exchange, where we exchange one 4-H'er for another. We share ideas with them just as they share their ideas with us.

4-H helps a person, especially young people, to develop self-dependability, leadership, and to learn to work, share, and play together and learn to make the best better. I have learned to make the best better in the projects I have taken in the last four years which are: Sewing, Meal Preparation, Looking Your Best, Make or Remake, Outdoor Cooking, and Wildlife.

The Extension Service aids Club members and leaders in conducting City-wide 4-H contests which enables the people in 4-H to participate and take part in things that they are interested in. Such contests are: Public Speaking, Dress Review, Share-the-Fun Talent Show, and giving demonstrations on projects you are taking.

4-H is not a program for ten, eleven and twelve year olds. It is a program for people ten to nineteen years of age. There is a project for almost anything you are interested in.

I have learned a great deal through my 4-H work. It takes time and a lot of practice to do something you'll really cherish in 4-H. This is starting my fourth year in 4-H Club work, and I should know. At Achievement Night, I was awarded the Junior Girl Olin Trophy for my 4-H Achievements, and this is something I'll cherish forever. I am grateful to the leaders, junior leaders, and members of the Thalia Community 4-H Club for helping me to attain this award."

CURTIS MOVIE AT PRINCESS THEATRE

The reincarnation of a roguish male into a beautiful young woman is the subject of the new 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color comedy, "Goodbye Charlie," now showing at the Princess Theatre. Tony Curtis, Debbie Reynolds and Pat Boone are starred with Walter Matthau, Joanna Barnes and Laura Devon.

Set and filmed in Hollywood, "Goodbye Charlie" is the story of a dashing young scriptwriter who is shot by a jealous husband and reincarnated as a young woman, played by Debbie Reynolds. Tony Curtis, who plays the closest friend of the late scriptwriter, is the first to find out that Charlie has become a woman, and a ravishing one at that. The plot recounts Charlie's adventures as a woman, and the plight of Tony Curtis, who finds himself falling in love with her.

Tony Curtis, who is looking more and more like the Cary Grant type of comedy performer, comes to "Goodbye Charlie" after receiving accolades for his performance in "Captain Newman, M.D." Right now, Curtis is interested in developing his talents as a comedian, and his next five pictures are all scheduled and are all comedies. His first big comedy role was in "Some Like It Hot," which he enjoyed making and which won him considerable critical acclaim. Now the celebrated Curtis flair for comedy is offered an ideal showcase in "Goodbye Charlie."

Lovely Debbie Reynolds completely changed her "Tammy" image with her outstanding performance in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," and now follows up that tour de force with her role as a sophisticated but naughty young woman in "Goodbye Charlie." She called her assignment the toughest of her career because she had only one scene in which she must convince Tony Curtis and the audience that she is the incarnation of Charlie Sorel, one of Hollywood's most notorious woman chasers.

Pat Boone plays Bruce Minton, a wealthy young man who falls in love with the female Charlie, not knowing that she was once a man, and a devilish one at that. The famous character actor Walter Matthau plays Sir Leopold Sartori, a flamboyant film producer who shoots the first Charlie, and then unwittingly falls in love with the second.

Laura Devon, an alumna of the Richard Boone TV Repertory Theatre, has the role of Sir Leopold's wife, whose amatory adventures with the male Charlie causes him to be shot. Another of Charlie's friends is played by Joanna Barnes, former Phi Beta Kappa at Smith College who has had considerable experience in movies and TV.

"Goodbye Charlie" was directed by Vincente Minnelli, the famous director of such hit films as "An American in Paris," "Brigadoon," "Meet Me in St. Louis" and "Kismet." David Weisbart is the producer and Harry Kurnitz wrote the screenplay which is based on a play by George Axelrod.

SKI JUMPING ON CBS-TV SPECTACULAR

The Garmisch International Ski Jumping Tournament at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, and the World's Professional Indoor Diving Championships at Grossinger, N.Y., will be presented on "CBS Sports Spectacular" Sunday, Feb. 7 on the CBS Television Network (2:30-4:00 p.m., EST).

Jack Whitaker, host of the series, and former ski champion Art Devlin will be the commentators for the skiing events. Sports broadcaster Frank Glier and Richard Kimball, diving coach of the University of Michigan and of the 1964 U.S. Olympic team, will be the commentators for the aquatic segment. Kimball won this competition last year but is not defending his title.

The ski jumping competition features a field of the world's top jumpers from 14 countries, including the United States. The tournament takes place on a 90-meter hill at Garmisch. The event is scored on the basis of two jumps, total distance and style points.

American entrants are John Baltanz of Stockton, Ill., Jay Martin of Laramie, Wyo., and Dave Hicks of Duluth, Minn. Other top jumpers include Erkki Pukka of Finland, Helmut Kurz and Heini Ihle of Germany, Piotr Kowalenko and Juri Subarew of Russia, Willy Egger and Peter Muller of Austria, Nilo Zandanel of Italy and Kurt Elinaas of Sweden.

In the diving competition at Grossinger's Hotel, each contestant performs three required and three optional dives on both the three-meter and five-meter boards.

NBC Movie Stars Mitchum

Robert Mitchum stars as an American war correspondent who becomes involved in the Greek Resistance movement during World War II in "The Angry Hills" on NBC-TV's "Wednesday Night at the Movies" Feb. 3 (9-11 p.m., EST). The suspenseful adventure-drama, based on the novel by Leon Uris, co-stars Gia Scala, Stanley Baker and Elisabeth Mueller.

Correspondent Mike Morrison (Mitchum), in Athens as Greece is about to fall to the Nazis, is asked by a Greek underground leader to take on the dangerous mission of delivering a secret list of Greek Resistance leaders to British Intelligence. While trying to elude capture by Nazi agents headed by Konrad Heiser (Baker), Morrison is involved with two girls, Eleftheria (Miss Scala), a peasant girl who nurses him back to health after he has been wounded, and Lisa (Miss Mueller), an ardent Greek patriot.

Supporting roles are played by Anthony Bikel as Tassos, a Greek who sold out his country; Robert Cabot as a mysterious man who provides unexpected aid; and Billie Lee Phillips as Eleftheria's mother. The 1959 MGM film was directed by Raymond Stross and produced by Robert Aldrich. Screenplay by A. I. Bezmenov.

The six contestants are: Joe Gerlach of Jacksonville, Fla., winner of the last two world's outdoor professional diving championships; Eddie Cole of Chicago, former collegiate diving titlist who was runner-up in the 1963 outdoor professional championships; Ronnie Munn, with the U.S. Army in Augusta, Ga., former South African national diving titleholder; Al Coffey, runner-up to Gerlach in the 1964 championships; John Canner of London, member of the 1960 and 1964 British Olympic diving teams; and Jaquin Capilla of Mexico City, who won the 10-meter diving competition in the 1956 Olympics and many other amateur titles before turning professional.

During 1964 the number of AT&T share owners increased by 400,000 bringing the total number of 2,650,000. AT&T is the most widely held stock in the world.

About $32½ billion is invested in the communications facilities of the entire Bell System. This is about 2½ times the amount the Bell System had invested in 1954.

Customers of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia made some 2,063,000,000 local telephone calls in 1964. At the same time they made almost 56 million long distance calls.

Jerry Lewis NBC-TV Film On Saturday

Jerry Lewis stars as a Naval officer who "misplaces" his ship after V-J Day in the romantic comedy, "Don't Give Up the Ship," on NBC-TV's "Saturday Night at the Movies" Saturday, February 6 (9 p.m. EST to conclusion).

Admiral Bludde (Robert Middleton) appears before a Congressional committee to ask for a larger appropriation bill for the coming year. But the committee won't discuss the bill until the Navy finds the U.S.S. Kornblatt, a destroyer escort missing for 13 years. The ship's last commanding officer was Lt. John Paul Stecker VII (Lewis), who has just been married to Prudence (Diane Spencer). Before the couple can start on their honeymoon, Stecker is summoned to Washington. He is sent to Ensign Rival intelligence who, aided by ex-chief petty officer Stan Wychinski (Mickey Shaughnessy), unravels the mystery of the missing craft.

"Don't Give Up the Ship," a 1959 Paramount release, was produced by Hal Wallis and directed by Norman Taurog. Edmund Beloin, Henry Garson and Herbert Baker wrote the screenplay, from a story by Ellis Kadison.

Bay Sailors Subject For TV Program

A vanishing breed, the Chesapeake Bay skipjack sailors who dredge for oysters under sail, is depicted in "The Sailing Oystermen" on "The Twentieth Century" Sunday, Feb. 7 (6:00-6:30 p.m., EST) on the CBS Television Network. CBS News Correspondent Walter Cronkite reports.

At one time over 1,000 working skipjacks, or sloops, sailed Chesapeake Bay. Today there are only about 50. By law, the oystermen work only under sail, to conserve the dwindling oyster supply.

"The Sailing Oystermen" shows the men at their specialized work of dredging, cutting in at Annapolis, Md., a regular port of call, and selling their haul to a "buy-boat." It records their isolated, austere, centuries-old way of life on Smith Island, off the Bay's Eastern Shore, where youngsters leave their parents during the week to attend schools on the mainland. The oystermen also are seen at the general store and at a church service on Smith Island. They are heard discussing some of their problems, most important of which is the drift of their children away to the fuller life of the mainland.

Burton Benjamin is executive producer of "The Twentieth Century." Isaac Kleinerman is producer. "The Sailing Oystermen" was written by Earle Luby and directed by Nicholas Webster.

"The Twentieth Century," a presentation of CBS News, is sponsored by the Prudential Insurance Company of America.

'Glory' Returns To Matoaka

WILLIAMSBURG — The Jamestown Corporation announced Saturday that "The Common Glory" will be returned to Matoaka-Lake Amphitheater in 1965 for a ten-week season beginning June 21.

The drama will replace Paul Green's companion play, "The Sounders" which was revived in 1964 after a six year absence from Williamsburg.

The resumption of "The Common Glory" for another season has been made possible by area citizens who raised $12,500 "seed money" to meet opening expenses.
